CM: What's encouraging now is that there are some scientists who are using instruments that will enable other scientists to replicate their findings. They're taking a really scientific approach or trying to. So that's encouraging. There does seem to be some strange activity in the vicinity of that ranch and perhaps that'll contribute to our understanding of the larger phenomenon.

GB: Explain strange activity. What does that mean?

CM: So they are actually getting videos of objects in the sky, they are getting high electromagnetic energy readings, microwave readings, levels that are that are almost dangerous, even very strong readings on occasion. So they are able to demonstrate that there are some strange phenomenon related to unidentified aerial phenomenon. They had video of these objects in some cases, lights coming on in the middle of the night, lighting up the entire side of a mountain. Various anomalies along those lines.

GB: And it's credible?

LE: Well, the local Ute tribe…

CM: Well, what's encouraging is folks are documenting this with video and other sorts of instrumentation. So that's why it's interesting.

AAWSAP was the fully funded ($22 million) program that ran from September 2008 until December 2010.

In 2009, @SenatorReid made a request to make AAWSAP a SAP & used a nickname (AATIP) in his letter to Dep. SoD Lynn.

Lue adopted AATIP moniker for his effort at the Pentagon.

I could be wrong but at first glance, this is not what we were hoping for. UAP Language in the NDAA. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FGBqK8iVgAM4SsH.png

The provision would also require comprehensive reporting, analysis, and sharing of information on UAP incidents and consultation with other departments and agencies of the executive branch and allies and partners. The provision would require the Secretary and DNI to assign to line organizations responsibilities for: (1) Investigating and responding to UAP incidents and ensuring that these organizations are resourced appropriately; and (2) Conducting field investigations of UAP incidents. The provision would require the development of an intelligence collection and analysis plan, and a science plan to determine the origin, characteristics, capabilities and objectives of UAP. The provision would require an annual unclassified report on significant UAP activity, accompanied as appropriate by classified annexes, and bi-annual briefings.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FGBqK8iVgAM4SsH.png

Establishment of office, organizational structure, and authorities to address unidentified aerial phenomena (sec. 1683)

The House bill contained a provision (sec. 1652) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Director of National Intelligence (DNI), to establish an office within the Office of the Secretary of Defense to carry out, on a Department-wide basis, the mission currently performed by the Unidentified Aerial Phenomenon (UAP) Task Force and require an annual report.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The agreement includes the House provision with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the DNI, to establish an office within the Office of the Secretary of Defense or within a joint organization of the Department of Defense and the Office of the DNI to replace the Navy-led Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Task Force and to carry out other duties as required by the provision.

2 We can say, "Well, the phenomenon was able to make those folks see a bipedal wolf by manipulating what they perceive. It wasn't real." But then we have the tree in the back of the Axelrod's home that had scratch marks, allegedly from this wolf.

It's a good thought. It's one of many I've played over in my head in trying to think of how this works. The bipedal wolf one ("Skinwalkers") is hard to explain. If they (Axelrod's wife, his son & son's friend) all really saw that, how did it spread? It didn't seem to dilute.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FFo33PtUUAECN4G.png

Abstract

The main argument presented in this paper is that the continuing study of unidentified aerial phenomena ("UAP") may offer an existence theorem for new models of physical reality. The current SETI paradigm and its "assumption of mediocrity" place restrictions on forms of non-human intelligence that may be researched. A similar bias exists in the ufologists' often-stated hypothesis that UAP, if real, must represent space visitors. Observing that both models are biased by anthropomorphism, the authors attempt to clarify the issues surrounding "high strangeness" observations by distinguishing six layers of information that can be derived from UAP events, namely (1) physical manifestations, (2) anti-physical effects, (3) psychological factors, (4) physiological factors, (5) psychic effects and (6) cultural effects. In a further step they propose a framework for scientific analysis of unidentified aerial phenomena that takes into account the incommensurability problem.

Dear Under Secretary Moultrie,

Thank you for your ongoing attention to the presence of unidentified aerial phenomena (UAP) in our airspace. I write today requesting increased transparency into the matter.

The June 2021 preliminary assessment released by the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) provided few answers and raised more questions. The American people deserve to know whether we are alone in our galaxy, so I was disappointed that the Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Task Force (UAPTF) lacked the sufficient data for an all-encompassing analysis. It is incredibly problematic that we still do not know if these UAPs are simply airborne clutter, advanced adversarial systems, or even advanced technologies not of this world.

However, I am encouraged that the newly established Airborne Object Identification and Management Executive Council (AOIMEXEC) is transitioning the UAPTF to the Airborne Object Identification and Management Synchronization Group (AOIMSG). It is my hope that the AOIMSG will build off the preliminary assessment by collecting and analyzing all relevant data so we can get to the bottom of this phenomena.

Therefore, I am requesting that the AOIMSG or the AOIMEXEC brief Members of Congress on their findings in a classified setting followed by a public hearing before the relevant committees.

Thank you for your service to the American people and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

U stick 2 whatever makes u comfortable & others will talk about whatever they want. Deal? As I (& others) have said, if Gillibrand passes, & they do field investigations & follow the evidence, it may be AAWSAP Pt. 2. & folks will quickly realize this is about more than just UFOs. https://twitter.com/Duke87242518/status/1464463092784545795

2 Licatski, Kelleher & another briefed various folks @ DHS, & Licatski went back 4 another briefing there where he let loose w/all the data, including the hard-to-believe stuff. They listened & AAWSAP almost found a new home. Gillibrand has the potential to go in that direction.

7 Congress is going to need to make new laws and figure out a way to overcome the problem described by my source in the screen grab below. How exactly will they do that? Don't know. But where there's a will, there's a way. Or, should I say, where there's an intact craft...

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FFBawqcVIAAWC2H.png

“Various people within the United States government, in positions of oversight and who you would think had access to all UAP programs, did not find the UAP crash retrieval program when they looked because they never knew of its existence. I, and others in my circle, have discussed the topic with them of how one cannot find waived-unacknowledged SAPs that operate outside of Section 119 of Title 10. In fact, a DoD office can create a shell company and then transfer funds to it under an unremarkable commercial defense services contract. Then that shell company turns around and gives a subcontract to a third-party aerospace/defense firm that hosts a waived-unacknowledged SAP that operates outside of Sect. 119 of Title 10. This usually hides (making the audit trail terminate at the shell company) the flow of money going to the third party company that’s running a waived-unacknowledged SAP where a UAP crash retrieval program is hidden.

Watching the back and forth on who should control UAP research from within the US government is entertaining.

If you all think one side of the government will be more transparent than the other, regardless of what branch they are, you haven't been paying attention.

#ufotwitter http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FE-DFn6VQAEJW17.jpg

Important update: Before anyone gets too excited about the recent Pentagon announcement of a new UAP group, please consider the following:

A. USDI is precisely the same organization that has underplayed and tried to kill the UAP effort for years.

B. USDI is an oversight organization and non-operational.

C. Nowhere is there a requirement to provide unclassified findings to Congress, or work with our international partners.

Given that elements still exist in the Pentagon who are actively underplaying the significance of this topic, this is akin to giving an alcoholic the key and control to the liquor cabinet.

If you want to maintain UAP/UFO secrecy, this is exactly how to do it. This is a direct and blatant attempt to circumvent and undermine the Senate, @SenGillibrand, @SenRubioPress, @RepRubenGallego, @MartinHeinrich, @RepTimBurchett and others.

Please, please, please contact your representatives and let them know this is unacceptable and not in the best interest of the American people. The USDI is the one single office that has continuously lied about this topic and persecuted whistleblowers.

1 Guess I need to say this again:

Most mainstream scientists have ignored or mocked the subject of #UFOs for decades. Ones who did NOT do that (Davis, Puthoff, Green, Nolan, Kelleher, etc) were the ones who got access 2 data. They didn't give a fk about stigma & were rewarded.

@IDGhostHunter BTW, I don't stand by the legitimacy of those pics but some of them are interesting. You need to look at some of the studies that were done back in the 1800s and early 1900s. Plus, Stewart Alexander now. I love reading and hearing about physical mediumship.

If one aspect of the phenomenon is represented by an intelligence that can create anything it wants, such as craft & beings, what's to say it can't create the various phenomena seen in a seance? Then again, physical mediums allegedly have ectoplasm coming out of them.

A new framework for UAP analysis

- We propose that UAPs are the product of a technology that integrates what Western culture and science regard as « physical » and « psychic » manifestations.

- UAPs impact cultural variables in human society through the manipulation of psychological and physiological parameters in the witnesses.

@MatthewSapero I'm not convinced the Sitchin scenario is reality. Maybe.

One interesting thing is Sumerian tablets have lots of numbers connected to precession. And precession & long-term time keeping may be something we need to pay attention to. Cycles. Is that the purpose of those stories?

Does God make EMP weapons? That may be one way to knock the abductors out of the sky. If they're doing something that's beneficial to the human race, they need to say so, publicly. If not, I think it's natural for us to want to stop them from doing it.

Question from Laura: I'm wondering if you have ever, or do you currently, have any contractual agreements with any aerospace industries or defense contractors such as the DOCPER?

LE: Uh, Laura. (laughs) Great, question (laughs). Yeah, I'm not prepared right now to discuss any affiliation that I might have with the U.S. government. Not because of me, it's out of respect for the government. I've often said, if you want to know if I have any affiliation with the government, ask the government. And yes, I know people have and yes, I know the government's come back and said, "There's nothing to see here, folks." So, okay, if that's their storyline, then that's their storyline. But don't be surprised if that storyline changes. I want to be very careful, I don't want to put the government and any kind of bad spot so I'll leave it at that. Great question. Obviously, you've done some homework but unfortunately, that's a question that I'm going to abstain from, at least at least for this conversation.

RD: Laura, that was a boss question, I'm just gonna say.

3 Haines is a theoretical physicist. We are focused, generally, on life on Earth but we're still exploring & trying to understand what space can be for the future. I think we're gonna see a lot of changes in the future. They're return to the 180 #UFO Report.

I'll add anything that stands out on the subject we're interested in.

Nelson: Talks about his time in space, 36 years ago. From up there, I could see how we were messing up the Earth.

Hal Puthoff: "In this room, most of the electromagnetic energy you can't see. Why? Because it is in the infrared, in the form of heat. And there's a very narrow band in the electromagnetic spectrum that you can see. And that's what we call the visible spectrum. And then there are higher frequencies into the ultra-violent and beyond that we don't see.

"Now it turns out that one of the side effects of engineering the spacetime metric, to get this kind of flight performance, is that it...we call it...blueshifts the frequencies. All the frequencies that are involved, get moved to a higher frequency. It's just built in to what the equations say, when you generate these anomalous effects. So what that means then, and it has significance for us...is the infrared, we don't ordinarily see, gets blueshifted up into the visible. So when we hear that these craft are so bright and so luminous when you see them, it's not surprise.

And then what was in the visible spectrum, gets shifted up into, let's say, the ultraviolet. And so, if you get too close to one of these things that are powered up, you'll get a sunburn, often reported by people who've claimed to have gotten close to a craft. And if you get too close, you might actually pick up some of the blueshifted radiation from the visible that's now blueshifted up into the soft x-ray region and get radiation poisoning. And there have been cases where that's been reported. So having these set of equations and seeing what they predict and then going out and matching them against real data, I mean that's really a boon."

Well, Michael Via believes we have it but doesn't think it will be used unless we have no choice. It's too destabilizing (and dangerous) on a global level.

Did you or anybody ever think we would have crash retrieval language put forth in 2021 by a senator who ran for POTUS in 2020?

I won't be moving on any time soon.

There's no such thing as likely or unlikely in these interesting times we live in right now.

It's theory what they are and where they come from. Davis has stated so when he told Greentsreet they're using other dimensions but we don't know if they're ET or from here. As far as us having craft and/or pieces? That's not theory to him & the others who believe we have that. https://t.co/h4NMRR6n3X

I didn't spent much time thinking about crash retrievals overall (and still haven't) until the notes leaked. Of course, I followed Roswell but I didn't expect any updates on that. If there's really an intact craft (or more), I'd love to know which location it was retrieved from.

Not yet but getting there. Being right is great for OUR credibility going forward but that's about it. The fact that crash retrieval language is there & Eric Davis briefed folks about retrievals from off-world vehicles not made on this earth is not a coincidence, IMO.

@red_pill_junkie @michaelmhughes @nuekerk @Weird_Dana @JohnELTenney @djp1974 @RadioMisterioso The Santa Muerte deck kickstarter included a box that was a coffin. Very expensive to get now. I think the artist (Fabiola Listrani) is kind of famous in the tarot world. Too bad you couldn't have a UFO-shaped box but I know that would be expensive.

@Thealienpickle Their director travels around on tour & is from Brighton, UK & is one of my favorite directors I've ever worked with. Very artistic and gives us positive feedback throughout the show. Never raises his voice. Rare breed. I'll miss this show. I've directed, but a long time ago.

@Thealienpickle Because the huge side screens only fit the center of your shot, left 2 right. So we have to make sure our main subject (Sting or whatever other band member) is dead center. Not so easy on robocams. Esepcially when I'm super tight on his face or bass and he moves. Even a few feet.

Here's @LueElizondo talking about how @ChrisKMellon was read into AATIP. The clowns & suckers will tell u that Lue didn't run this program/portfolio (or whatever u want to call it), & he was just looking into UFOs on his own time, unofficially.

Source: https://www.ufojoe.net/transcript-knapp-mellon-elizondo

(In a recent episode of the TTSA Talks podcast. Luis Elizondo explained how Christopher Mellon made his way into AATIP. ~Joe)

Luis Elizondo: I remember being at the Pentagon and someone saying, "Hey, a former very senior level DoD official is here to talk to you." And I remember you (Mellon) coming in and saying, "Hey listen. I would really would like to know (laughs) about this particular portfolio you guys are doing here called AATIP." And first of all, I was astonished that you even knew that we were a part of this effort. We weren't prepared to tell you anything. And, of course, I remember, very quickly, looking over my shoulder, kind of laughing at one of my guys there that's with me. And I looked at you and I said, "Okay, well if you want a briefing, that's fine, but you're gonna need these tickets." And it was long laundry list: A, B, C, D, E, F, G and so forth. And I remember you were diligently writing notes and you said, "Okay, no sweat." And I know from the inside, it takes over a year, sometimes, to even get nominated for some of these tickets. So as you left, I kind a looked back and snickered to my colleagues and said, "We'll never see him again, right? That problem is solved. We don't have to worry about that!" And I'll be damned if the very next week you came back to my office and they said, "Hey, he's out here again." And I said, "Well, what does he want? We can't let him in unless he's even got the tickets." And I remember one of my guys saying, "Mr. Elizondo, he's got the tickets." And I could not believe that within a week's time, you had somehow managed…and I verified and validated it. You did it! So, at that point, I realized, okay, this guy's for real and he's got the connections.

Four Flying Saucers Seen By Pilots Of Miami Plane Near Pope Air Force Base

MIAMI — (AP) — Capt. George A. Woodward, pilot of Miami Airlines, Inc., a charter line, reported he saw four shiny, unidentified objects while flying near Pope Air Force Base, Fort Bragg, N. C., yesterday.

"We took off in a DC-4 from Raleigh for Miami at 4 p. m. and about 20 minutes later I saw four shiny objects that looked like balloons," Woodward said.

"MY CO . PILOT, William Bardsley of Miami, looked at me and said: 'Do you see what I see?'

"I told him I did and we headed toward them. They appeared to be about 100 feet in diameter, of some shiny substance like aluminum or chrome. They were thicker in the middle and tapered off toward the edges, like two saucers fitted together.

"They were in line about 25 feet apart and about five miles away. We chased them but they backed away, descending slowly. Then they took off in a burst of speed."

Woodward said he notified the Civil Aeronautics Administration offices at Lumberton, N. C., and Florence, S. C. He said the Florence station told him it had received similar reports, the latest about three weeks ago.

Bardsley attempted to photograph the objects but before he could get his camera out they had disappeared, Woodward said.

WOODWARD, who has been flying 12 years, said he had never seen such objects before and "I never believed in flying saucers or anything like that until today."

He said he was not sure what they were, but they were not planes or balloons.

Miss Virginia Ashley, stewardess aboard the plane, did not see the objects.

"It was so sudden and such a surprise, we didn't have time to call her attention to them," Woodward said.

As you can see in my previous tweets, I don't agree with Greenewald on much. However, I still praise his FOIA work, his book is solid & his Lue interview is really good. On the other hand, if you take a look at John's view of my work, he's trashed it.

@CIA Excerpt from May's rebuttal to the CIA's misinformation.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FDSJrEeUYAM5Ljg.png

ABSTRACT: As a result of a Congressionally Directed Activity, the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) conducted an evaluation of a 24-year, government-sponsored program to investigate ESP and its potential use within the intelligence community. The American Institutes for Research (AIR) was contracted to conduct the review of both research and operations. Their September 29, 1995 final report was released to the public November 28, 1995. As a result of AIR's assessment, the CIA concluded that a statistically significant effect had been demonstrated in the laboratory but that there was no case in which ESP had provided data that had ever been used to guide intelligence operations. This paper is a critical review of AIR's methodology and conclusions. It will be shown that there is compelling evidence that the CIA set the outcome with regard to intelligence usage before the evaluation had begun. This was accomplished by limiting the research and operations data sets to exclude positive findings, by purposefully not interviewing historically significant participants, by ignoring previous extensive Department of Defense program reviews, and by using the questionable National Research Council's investigation of parapsychology as the starting point for their review. Although there may have been political and administrative justification for the CIA not to accept the government's in-house program for the operational use of anomalous cognition, these external considerations appeared to drive the outcome of the evaluation. As a result, they have come to the wrong conclusion with regard to the use of anomalous cognition in intelligence operations and have significantly underestimated the robustness of the basic phenomenon.

What the CIA doesn't say here is that most of the data was not given to the independent study group to evaluate bc it was still classified. Incomplete data isn't the way to evaluate something.

March 2001 - Eric Davis: Why all the secrecy?

Also, he's summarizing what Kit Green said about Roswell, the bodies, the crash retrieval program, briefings, & Santilli alien autopsy film.

And...alleged alien landings in 1952 (or 53), 1964 & 1984 (!?).

https://imgur.com/a/7D5xIGk http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FDIaxCqVUAE4AYs.jpg

❖ Kit stated that the justification made by the special access program group(s) (industry + government) for the 54-year secrecy surrounding the Roswell alien bodies and artifacts (and evidence from the later alien landings in 1952 or 53, 1964 and 1984) is a result of three things:

1. Bureaucratic secrecy (using judicially tested national security laws).

2. Intellectual and political arrogance among the top government officials and scientific geniuses (with clout and power) that are involved in this (because they believe what they read in Machiavelli, Plato and Thomas Paine, and do not believe what they read in Aristotle, Jefferson or Roosevelt).

3. It was the right thing to do.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FDIaDEBVQAEEQdN.jpg

Since spring 1999 me, Colm and Hal have undertaken a series of back and forth conversations with Kit Green regarding the Roswell Incident aliens, their bodies, the crash retrieval program, the Santilli alien autopsy film/video, etc. The sum of the data Kit has provided us during these conversations has now reached a critical level where we can summarize the following facts:

problem. A government visitor who heard that we were doing ESP experiments arrived wanting to "see something psychic" by way of a demonstration. Although this sounds like a reasonably simple request, one of the things we learned quickly in our new program was that no matter how miraculous the result of an ESP demonstration, an observer often tries to discount it as a lucky day, or is convinced later by a skeptical colleague that he was mistaken, or deceived, or both. Arthur Koestler considers this to be an important phenomenon in the observation of psychic functioning, and he calls it the Ink Fish (Octopus) Effect —i.e., a paranormal event clearly seen today is seen through ever darkening clouds as time moves on.

Maybe the original crash retrieval program (late 40s?) and basic facts about it fall under automatic declassification? Same with the basics of Roswell?

Yes a contractor for AAWSAP and consultant for AATIP, Who in as early as 2018 explained the funding and differences between the programs (before skinwalkers at the pentagon was even released) Which matches what the book says. Yet everyone else involved was direct quoted. But Davis wasn't because of HIS Opinion on him..

Eric Davis - "The nickname for the AAWSAP was AATIP. After repeated interference with Sen. Reid's and Lacatski's efforts to renew AAWSAP for another 5-year round of Congressional funding, Lue entered the picture via his intelligence, counterintelligence, and security portfolio at the OUSDI and adopted the AATIP name when he added the UAP problem to his portfolio."

Eric Davis 2018 coast 2 coast am
"The program continued under internal funding in Lue's office, The program is still operating on internal funding they don't need congressional appropriation for it because there's already dedicated monies for things like this"

Yes the NYT and other orgs butchered the fact that the "off world vehicles" Claim was based off material/Materials Davis and Others analyzed. Which they came to the conclusion was not made on this earth.

I don't blame John for that, But you cannot say the quotes were left out cause he was low on the totem pole. Or because in your opinion he's not trustworthy.

After adding quotes of people who in his opinion aren't trustworthy because it's the same people who show up in these groups and click together. Which is suspicious according to his statements in the showtime UFO series.

But, I don't think I'm doing anything that will bring about disclosure and I'm fine with that.

Davis is an insider & anybody who has listened to the interviews he's given (and read Greenstreet's interview) will see that.

Now, does he have access to everything & was he officially read into the various UFO-related SAPs? I don't think so but I can't say with 100% certainty.

Mr. Davis, who now works for Aerospace Corporation, a defense contractor, said he gave a classified briefing to a Defense Department agency as recently as March about retrievals from "off-world vehicles not made on this earth."

Mr. Davis said he also gave classified briefings on retrievals of unexplained objects to staff members of the Senate Armed Services Committee on Oct. 21, 2019, and to staff members of the Senate Intelligence Committee two days later.

Quotes from John Greenewald of The Black Vault:
"I'll be honest with you I do not believe the claims by Eric Davis that he briefed in a classified setting or otherwise about off-world vehicles.
He may have had a meeting ,he may have sat with a senator, congressman, house of representatives whomever, committee even.
I don't buy that it was in a classified setting and I don't buy that he was really driving the point home about "off-world vehicles"
Simply put the existence of off-world vehicles would be a highly classified piece of knowledge- we all know that, there's no getting away from it. If it wasn't, and AATIP or AAWSAP or whatever really did find it and it was unclassified in nature, you'd better bet your bottom dollar that Robert Bigelow, Luis Elizondo, James Lacatski or any one of those players would have talked about it and confirmed it by now, but they haven't.
All we get are these shrouded convoluted, cloak and dagger type, fun stories that may allude to it but we never get the confirmation.
So let's say it really does exist - the government military has off-world vehicles. Well let's face it, it would be highly classified and no, they would not be talking about it or publishing it in the New York Times and the mess that became of that article with all of the corrections, I think we can all dismiss the notion.
And no I don't believe Dr Eric Davis is as connected as some people want us to believe."

The Galileo Project Welcomes Christopher Mellon and Luis Elizondo as Research Affiliates

Renowned advocates for UAP transparency bring decades of relevant experience to the Galileo Project's scientific research efforts

CAMBRIDGE, Massachusetts — October 30, 2021 — Today the Galileo Project lead Professor Avi Loeb announced the additions of Mr. Luis Elizondo and Mr. Christopher Mellon to the project team as research affiliates. Noting their depth of experience investigating the subject of Unidentified Aerial Phenomena (UAP), and their shared interest in open and transparent study of the phenomena, Loeb welcomed them as the latest members of a diverse and growing Galileo Project team.

"The Galileo Project will greatly benefit from the broad knowledge base and wisdom of Elizondo and Mellon," said Professor Loeb. "We all share the goal of identifying the nature of UAP and of anomalous interstellar objects like `Oumuamua."

As research affiliates, Elizondo and Mellon intend to

So we had several people, and he was one, who consulted with us. And he told us about various sightings and certain aspects of government programs and so on. So, what he says is true and it would be too long to try to go into the data he provided us with. Some if it we evaluated and could verify and some of it we couldn't verify. Some of it we were pretty sure it might not exactly be the case. But he was a counter-intelligence officer, so that would be okay. because that would be his job (audience laughs). So anyway, we interacted with all levels of people, in and out of the government. So, it's not surprising that, you know, if we were doing all of this and trying to find out everything we could find out, why would we leave out of our tool kit, somebody who's making these big claims and was clearly part of a program? So yeah, we worked with him. I happen to like him as an individual, actually. He's a nice guy.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FC-OMtcVgAc1Wkm.png

Q: Richard Doty has stated publicly that he worked for you. Can you describe the kind of work he did for you?

HP: This is a question about…Richard Doty has stated on the internet – a very controversial figure as many of you would know – and he stated that he had worked for us for, I guess, over a decade or whatever. That was a period in which we were really investigating all kinds of aspects of the phenomena that I talked about today. And so we had all kinds of consultants. And Richard Doty was one of them. And so, he gathered up information that he could gather up and thought we'd be interested in. But he was like, one of many. And so, even though he's a very controversial figure out there, we're not sure if the data he provided…what was the percentage that we could really count on. But hey, we didn't want to leave any stone unturned, anything that might be hiding under a rock.

The side of the argument where folks chase their tail over & over, & every few weeks ask...What's going on? Or say...I don't know who to trust! shows folks who lack patience & are unable to think long term. What's going on now is a very good thing. But it will still take time. https://twitter.com/MindfulOfLight/status/1454482372930453513

I never once felt AAWSAP/AATIP proved the USG was investigating UFOs for decades. I listened to folks like @g_knapp, Davis, Puthoff & others to conclude that. It was limited, but those programs (AAWSAP) tried to get access to the decades of (SAP) UFO data we all want to see. https://twitter.com/Lovepole4/status/1454482423002107905

My credo used to be: Don't reject something just bc it's sounds crazy or ridiculous. So...100%, Ellie. Look at how continental drift was rejected when it was first put forth as a theory. @UFOHermes_17_17 I could be wrong about that. I j just know there was a connection.. And for those who don't know about the Wilson/Davis, Oke Shannon/Eric Davis connection, this is for you. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FC7PyZeVQAAS8Vz.png (Background on the Oke Shannon/Dr. Davis connection as researcher Grant Cameron describes the moment he first looked at the documents – "And I'm looking at this document and I see Oke Shannon on the front cover of this document. And I go, "Oh my God." Because I know who Oke Shannon is. Nobody else knows who Oke Shannon is. Twenty years ago, Eric Davis gave me a set of notes from the UFO working group. Twenty-six, twenty-seven pages. So, he gives me these documents and he says, 'They're Oke Shannon's notes and you can't release them until Oke passes away." So I said, "Okay, fine." So I've held these documents for like twenty years and they're hand-written documents and they're inside the UFO working group that John Alexander put out. And Kit Green was [at] the first meeting, Hal Puthoff was there, Ron Blackburn. All these guys with Top Secret SCI clearances, there's about twenty of them.

And remember when I had it, the rumor got around that I had them. I had shown them at a conference. I just showed the first page that showed it was Top Secret Restricted, which is the same classification as the Majestic 12 document: Top Secret Restricted. So I put it on the screen, just for half a second, without Oke Shannon's name on there. And then I get home and then Hal Puthoff contacts me and Hal says, "I understand you've got a list of names of a group that I was supposedly a part of." And I go, "Yeah, I do!" He said, "Could I get them, please?" So I don't put Oke Shannon's name and I leave one other name out and I sent it to Hal. I never heard from him again, so he basically confirmed that these were real. So Eric Davis gives me these notes that are originally from Oke Shannon. So when I'm sitting in the Aquarius hotel, in the front lobby and I look at this document on this little iPad, I see Oke Shannon's name and I go, "Oke Shannon." And then I see Eric Davis, his notes and I go, "Oh! Those two guys! This is the whole deal. He had give me the notes before." And I go, "What the heck is going on here?" ~Joe)

3 in Vegas (See Below) @ @SSE_Tweets & @IRVAtweets conference: If u see a landed UFO, stay away. U might get injured by blue-shifted radiation.

There may be UFOs or Orbs that are safe 2B around but why risk it? As I've said, they may not care that their tech injures or kills u. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FC5GC94VQAICzxd.png

That helped us understand some of the aspects, I mean you may have heard the phrase, “dense stars you get red-shift.” It turns out in this engineered technology you get so called “blue shift.” That is, frequencies are up-shifted to higher frequencies. So, for example in this room most of the radiation coming off our bodies, off the walls and so on is in fact in the infrared. But we see things in the visible range. What happens when you get into a volume of space where the vacuum has been engineered in the way I’ve been discussing? It turns out you get a blue shift. So, in fact the infrared that you don’t ordinarily see can get blue shifted up into the visible so it’s not surprising that all these craft should be so luminous. Now the downside from all of this is the fact that visible light, which doesn’t have any particularly harmful effects, gets blue shifted up into the ultraviolet, so if you get too close to a landed craft, you might get a sunburn, or off into the soft X-ray regions so there’s a chance of radiation poisoning. If you run across one of these sitting on the ground and it’s powered up, I recommend you don’t rush up.

2 My recommendation to rabbits would be this: If you see a human, run! You may find humans who like & feed you & care about your well being, but it's not worth the risk bc many humans just don't care either way.

I'd give the same advice to humans that Hal Puthoff gave in 2018

1 If some humans cut down a tree & it falls on 2 rabbits & kills them, are the humans evil? Are they a threat or hostile 2 rabbits?

I'd say they're not evil as their intent wasn't to hurt or kill the rabbits. But they ARE a threat (w/o hostile intent).

One theory. We really don't know why they're showing up around missiles and CSGs. https://twitter.com/cobaltmylar/status/1453751003472347140

@JeremyCorbell What animal/creature does the intelligence behind the phenomenon compare humans to?

Are humans to them like dogs are to us? Cats? Mice? Ants? Dolphins? Whales? Cockroaches?

On Earth, many times, we treat animals we see as more intelligent, better than the "dumb" ones.

8 I should add: IMO. if a highly advanced, more intelligent species needs to do something to save/help themselves and/or this planet (assuming they live here), & it hurts, kills or...just scares the shit out of us (abductions) or causes PTSD, they're gonna do it & not think twice

7 This is how I feel today. That may change in the near future if evidence is presented to show me that there's something else going on. If what I laid out here and in my pinned tweet is what's going on, that would be enough to make most humans "somber," as Lue said. Tough pill.

6 It also doesn't mean that sometimes, this other intelligence won't try 2 help/nudge us a bit in order 2 show us reality is a lot different than what we've been taught. Also doesn't rule out multiple intelligences w/multiple agendas. But IMO, our survival isn't their #1 priority @WitnessCitizen And if they ARE precognitive dreams, the question: How does it work and why? Is it coming from the person who just died or is it some ability within us? Both? Then we have "Phantasms of the Living" research/book that looked at "ghost" sightings of people who were still alive.

Nurse: "I need to talk to you."

Seems precognitive bc of the timing.

@WitnessCitizen Twice it related to someone dying. In one of those cases, I figured it out b4 I was told.

Frank was in palliative care (6 months or less to live) but I had spent many months w/him in the VA hospital & there were no signs he was close to dying. One night, I had a dream he died.

“Various people within the United States government, in positions of oversight and who you would think had access to all UAP programs, did not find the UAP crash retrieval program when they looked because they never knew of its existence. I, and others in my circle, have discussed the topic with them of how one cannot find waived-unacknowledged SAPs that operate outside of Section 119 of Title 10. In fact, a DoD office can create a shell company and then transfer funds to it under an unremarkable commercial defense services contract. Then that shell company turns around and gives a subcontract to a third-party aerospace/defense firm that hosts a waived-unacknowledged SAP that operates outside of Sect. 119 of Title 10. This usually hides (making the audit trail terminate at the shell company) the flow of money going to the third party company that’s running a waived-unacknowledged SAP where a UAP crash retrieval program is hidden.

@MarinaJFleming7 TY, Marina. And ur welcome. When I spend hours & hours on something, it's nice to know the effort is being seen/read by a lot of people. I also know when I go after other folks, people don't like it. But I still do it on occasion bc I think past is important in judging future.

@saucerlit I'm guessing, bc I don't know the CR data Davis has collected in the past 19 years since the meeting/interview. That may trump anything he could say about W/D. Maybe it was brought up as part of his presentation? "And in closing, THIS guy was denied access! Thank u 4 your time." http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FCPQF3fVUAsvH2j.jpg

I'm not worried about people thinking that. Most folks who follow me quickly realize I don't tweet or say things to get followers. If anything, my big mouth loses me followers on some stuff. I tweet about W/D bc I think it's important and new folks probably don't know about it.

2 to intel he (Wilson) felt he should've had access to might have spurred one of them 2 say, "Let's bring in Wilson." Did it happen? Don't know but if they cared about finding the truth, it would. But even Wilson's testimony isn't enough. They need field trips 2 go see the stuff!

1 I don't know details of what was briefed. But, according to Mellon (and my own source), enough info. was given that if any of those folks wanted 2 verify (or debunk) what Davis told them, they could. Now that the documents were spreading quickly, I asked Dr. Davis for his thoughts. “No comment” was the reply. That was the first time he failed to answer one of my question. “No comment” was an answer but he usually writes long, educational and thoughtful replies. The next day, researcher James Iandoli also received a “no comment” from Davis, as did a few other researchers. To me, that really drove home the fact that this was a sensitive issue and made me feel confident we did the right thing in waiting. For others, his refusal to comment meant nothing and some felt he was just playing games with the UFO community. That thought never crossed my mind. But what did cross my mind and the minds of others: If these were fake documents, why didn’t he just say so? No comment? Why let us twist in the wind? But I believe there was a method to his madness. I’ll address that later.

2 If you/we want an all-encompassing program to study all aspects of the phenomenon (like we all want), start a Go Fund Me so we can raise money, hire the proper experts and go from there. We still don't know if the negative cases/injuries/illnesses were bc of hostile intent.

19 I'll believe Lue 100% when he says AATIP had funding (as always, I'm curious to know where $$$ originated) & I think JL is wrong when he says AAWSAP was the only game in town from 2008-20012. As others have reported, AATIP was around during those years, even if unofficially.

Everything works as if UAPs were the producst of a technology that integrates physical and psychic phenomena and primarily affects cultural variables in our society through manipulation of physiological and psychological parameters in the witnesses.

This single statement can be developed as follows:

a) The phenomenon is the product of a technology. During the observation, the UAP is a real, physical, material object. However, it appears to use either very clever deception or very advanced physical principles, resulting in the effects we have called "anti--physical", which must eventually be reconciled with the laws of physics.

b) The technology triggers psychic effects either purposely or as a side effect of its manifestations. These consciousness phenomena are now too common to be ignored or relegated to the category of exaggerated or ill-observed facts. All of us who have investigated close-range sightings have become familiar with these effects.

c) The purpose of the technology may be cultural manipulation – possibly but not necessarily under control of a form of non-human intelligence – in which case the physiological and psychological effects are a means to that end. But the parapsychologist with a Jungian framework may argue that the human collective unconscious is also a potential source of such effects – without the need to invoke alien intervention.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FCADKzqUUAI2P5a.png

The framework we present here is based on such an apparent contradiction, because we will argue that UAP can be thought of both as physical and as "psychic". We hope that it will prove stimulating as a unified approach to a puzzling phenomenon that presents both undeniable physical effects suggesting a technological device or craft and psychic effects reminiscent of the literature on poltergeists and psychokinetic phenomena. Here we use the word "psychic" in the sense of an interaction between physical reality and human consciousness. As one example among many, It will be recalled that the events at Fatima involved luminous phenomena, atmospheric and thermal effects, and descriptions of an apparently metallic disk in the sky, while many of the 70,000 witnesses also experienced spiritual and psychological effects. The main percipients reported psychic states conducive to a form of extrasensory communication with a non-human entity assumed to be the Virgin Mary.

@WitnessCitizen @g_knapp The only way we're gonna have a chance at seeing all the data, including what is in that mysterious warehouse Corbell and Davis speak about, is become a voting force in elections. It's gonna be a while. Or, a few brave souls in Congress see it like we do and force the issue.

This may seem like it contradicts what I posted earlier tonight but it really doesnâ□□t. The Lue-lead AATIP effort happened after AAWSAP, which was the funded program.

Itâ□□s a tiny bit complicated and hopefully Lue clears it up one day. Iâ□□m thinking it will be in his book. https://twitter.com/JeremyCorbell/status/1096481085863514112

It wasn't at the Pentagon, it was at a laboratory adjacent to Laurence Livermore NL. It's a great story and told in "Phenomena" by Annie Jacobsen. You wanna talk woo?

the second day of tests, AEC security officer Ron Robertson called Kit Green at CIA headquarters. "He told me there was a serious problem," recalls Green. Several of the nuclear weapons engineers had reported seeing things they could not rationally explain. These included "items flying across the room. Lights flashing. A six-inch ball of light, rolling down the hallway. One scientist reported seeing a flying orb," remembers Green. "One of the scientists claimed to have seen a large raven, perched on a piece of furniture inside [his] home." Privately, Green thought these sounded "like poltergeist events" from folklore. The AEC was concerned, and so was the CIA. "I traveled to San Francisco," Green says, "to determine what could be causing these hallucinations. I was instructed to perform pathology tests on the Livermore scientists. Were these people going mad?"

Green flew to San Francisco and met with the scientists individually. "I examined them," he says. "Conducted extensive interviews and tests. My conclusion? There was no pathology here. These people were straight up. These were people who had more polygraph exams each year than I had. They were not psychologically impaired." So what was going on? One of the scientists confided in Green about a particular incident he could not get out of his mind. It happened in his bedroom, in the middle of the night. It made no rational sense, except he woke up his wife and she saw it too, Green recalls. “He told me that he saw a disincarnate arm, rotating like a hologram,” meaning an arm that was free-floating, not attached to a body. “An arm wrapped in some kind of gray cloth . . . instead of a hand the arm had a hook. He talked about the [horror] of seeing this hook floating over the foot of his bed. How it rotated like it was on a spit.”

Green was bedeviled. Perhaps what was going on was some kind of psychological operation, he thought, either by an enemy intelligence service or perhaps even the CIA. “Holograms were just coming on line,” says Green, “although the technology was mostly classified at the time.” He also knew there existed a longstanding rivalry between scientists at SRI and at Livermore and remembers wondering, “Was this some kind of confidence trick?”

He confronted Hal Puthoff and Russell Targ. “I asked Hal and Russ to meet me in [my] motel room,” Green recalls. “I was furious.” The scientists at Livermore were terribly upset, Green said. “The entire program was in jeopardy. I asked what in hell was going on. They swore to me they had nothing to do with any of it. My yelling was interrupted by a loud banging on the door.” Green answered the knock. “Standing in front of me in the doorway of the motel was a man in a gray suit. He asked me something. I said, ‘Wrong laboratory adjacent to Lawrence Livermore, in an old wooden World War II barracks on University of California property.

Two sets of experiments were to take place. In the first, high-quality lasers were fired at a target. Could Geller interfere with the beam? For the second test, the scientists placed magnetic computer program cards in a lead container and sealed it. Could Geller affect what was inside? He did a series of these psychokinesis tests over several days, and the results of one of these tests was declassified. "The magnetic pattern stored in the iron oxide layer of a magnetic program card was erased," wrote Ron S. Hawke, one of the Livermore scientists. "Further experiments are warranted." In an interview in 2015, Kit Green summarized the Livermore group's conclusion: "The determination was that from a close distance, Geller could affect matter and materials. But he could not do it from far away." Yet it was not the results of the tests that were most troublesome, says Green, it was the strange effect Geller seemed to have on several of the nuclear physicists.

Each night, after finishing up their work with Geller, the Livermore scientists went home. Each morning, in keeping with nuclear clearance security protocols, the scientists were required to report anything unusual that had happened overnight. After

room,' and started to close the door. The man turned and as he left I watched him go. I noticed there was something unusual about him." One of the arms of his suit jacket was pinned up. "The man had one arm," says Green. Hal Puthoff confirms that he saw it too.

Green concluded that what was going on had to have been "some kind of high-technology psychological operation," one that involved holograms, lasers, and small unmanned aerial vehicles, all advanced technologies that were just coming online as black programs at CIA in the mid-1970s. As an intelligence officer and a neurophysiologist (not an advanced technology weapons expert), Green remembers thinking that whatever classified technology was involved, it was above his level of security clearance. But as a medical professional, he was concerned about the real-world results that transpired.

"Rational or irrational," says Green, "two nuclear scientists who worked on U.S. nuclear weapons programs" at Livermore drew their own conclusion. "As far as I know, two of the Livermore scientists quit," he says. It was the Thomas theorem in action: if men define situations as real, they are real in their consequences. The scientists had apparently perceived the incidents to be some kind of omen or message "that they were not supposed to work on nuclear weapons development anymore," says Green.

In the end, JL & CK lead AAWSAP, it studied military & civilian UFO cases & related phenomena.

Lue lead unfunded AATIP effort that focused on military encounters. Lue & Mellon r a big reason we may have a permanent UFO office.

It's possible Lue was involved in something else UFO-related before Lacatski interviewed him (in 2008?) to join AAWSAP. But Lue has said that when JL asked him what he thought of UFOs, he said, "I don't" bc he didn't have the time. Something's gotta give!

If @LueElizondo was involved w/UAP in 2008, that means he was w/AAWSAP very early. But the other night, Lacatski said AAWSAP was the only UFO game from 2008-2012. So what program/portfolio did Lue lead in 2009? Was there something else we haven't learned about yet? Was JL wrong? https://twitter.com/AWaifSoul/status/1449733220585574405

2 Then again, Lue may have information that shows us Lacatski is wrong and he doesn't want to make JL look bad? Or not. I don't know. But let's hear it, please. If JL is wrong and doesn't know everything that Lue was involved with, Lue can say that respectfully.

book came out & Lacatski did his interview on C2C. IMO, Lue saying that if u want to know about things written in the book, u need to ask Lacatski, doesn't cut it.

AATIP was used in place of AAWSAP in Reid 2 Lynn letter 2 protect the name. When Lue headed up effort that moved to OUSDI, he used AATIP moniker. Was he the official director? It doesn't appear so since it wasn't a funded program. I'd love for Lue to clear this & other things up.

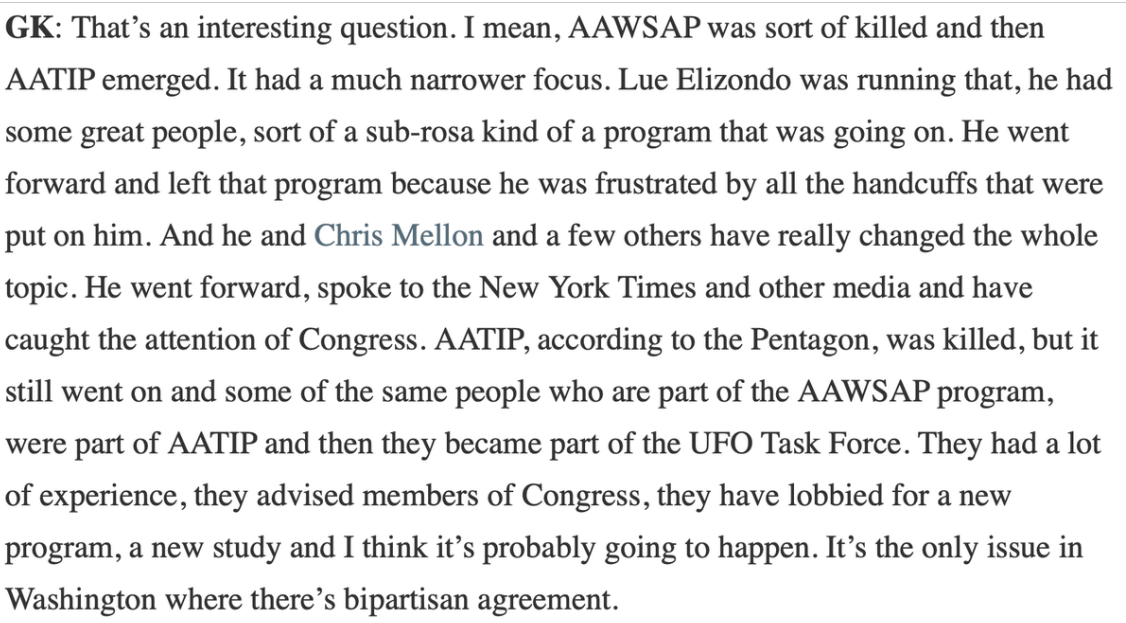
@MiddleOfMayhem http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FB6PGMCVcAISEPg.png



GK: That's an interesting question. I mean, AAWSAP was sort of killed and then AATIP emerged. It had a much narrower focus. Lue Elizondo was running that, he had some great people, sort of a sub-rosa kind of a program that was going on. He went forward and left that program because he was frustrated by all the handcuffs that were put on him. And he and Chris Mellon and a few others have really changed the whole topic. He went forward, spoke to the New York Times and other media and have caught the attention of Congress. AATIP, according to the Pentagon, was killed, but it still went on and some of the same people who are part of the AAWSAP program, were part of AATIP and then they became part of the UFO Task Force. They had a lot of experience, they advised members of Congress, they have lobbied for a new program, a new study and I think it's probably going to happen. It's the only issue in Washington where there's bipartisan agreement.

The part Knapp was saying NYT got wrong is that $22 million didn't go to AATIP, it went to AAWSAP, which was the main program. But Lue WAS involved with, & lead, AATIP.
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FB6OQLXVEAMlLSd.jpg

GK: Well, it's it's an amazing story. You know, over the last four years, we've seen so much change for the UFO topic, The New York Times, in December of 2017, puts out this story about a program called AATIP. Harry Reid used his influence to secure $22 million for a secret study of UFOs. It all came spilling out in that month and year. Lue Elizondo came forward and said he'd been involved with AATIP, and, you know, that is what everyone else reported for a couple of years. But the fact is, it was wrong. I mean, there was an AATIP, but the primary program was called AAWSAP: The Advanced Aerospace Weapon System Applications Program. That's where the money went. It was a bigger program. The folks at Bigelow Aerospace, a subsidiary, managed it, they got the contract, they hired dozens of people, more than 50 at one point. Investigators, scientists, computer experts, and they launched what amounted to the biggest and most ambitious UFO study ever. They created the world's largest UFO database. But it wasn't just UFOs. They had to sort of follow the evidence where it led Occasionally, we would experience, back in our own homes, different sort of...my family would report seeing sort of dark shadows in the house. It was all very mild until the onset of the AAWSAP program when we had five separate, military intelligence people with deep backgrounds, some of them had combat backgrounds - and they're described in this book - set foot on the property and they all lived on the East Coast. And 100% of these people, all five of these people, at different times, brought these phenomena back to their homes on the East Coast. And it was mostly their families that started seeing and experiencing a lot of these quote unquote "paranormal effects" in their homes. Poltergeist activity, dark shadows, these small, brightly-colored, what are called orbs, in their home. It was 100% of the military people who were part of the investigative AAWSAP team, experienced all of that. Occasionally, the effects meandered out of their homes and into the neighborhoods, and in some cases, neighbors would start seeing strange effects in their homes and being completely unaware of what was happening in the original home. So, it's almost like this effect was spreading from, originally Skinwalker Ranch, moving out to a particular home on the East Coast and then spreading further into the neighborhood. So in the book, we began to postulate that it was behaving almost like an infectious organism.

Not an epidemic but there are aspects that make me wonder how smart it is to go to a place where we know it can "attach" itself (whatever "it" is) and then spread. Then again, it doesn't just happen at the ranch. The Bend, Oregon case is a perfect exmaple.

It wants to influence the thinking of many of us, but it wants no formal contacts nor tangible proof that would convince the skeptics. Does BAASS need permission to release this raw data, pictures, recordings? Is it classified? If not, release it now. Screw it being proprietary. We need this data to have any chance of making sense of the various phenomena. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FB1vr2AVIAAnoth.jpg

GN: Why did you decide, Jim, to go public with this?

JL: Well, we were taking a lay of the land...now it seems like...this took a 14-month review by the government, so I'd say it was about two and a half years ago. Bob (Bigelow), Senator Reid, Colm, George, we had a meeting at Bob's business headquarters and it was: What are we going to do?! And I made the declaration, right at the time, "I think I want to write a book. You know, I'm going to need help but I think I want to write...I want to summarize what we've done." And more than this book, I would like all the...because people are forgetting the 100 plus documents that were delivered to the DIA, hundreds of pages, some of them. But there's an entire room maintained by the contractor, BAASS, Bigelow Aerospace now, of the analyst, raw data. Pictures, recordings, it's all there. And I ultimately, at some point in the future, would like to have this put into the National Archives, because this program was complete. What particularly bothered me in a closed program like that was when all these news articles and magazine articles were saying things like, "We vetted this with so and so." They never give their names. They never at all give it. It was a closed program! Those people didn't know what in the world were going on and here they are talking to the press for whatever their personal reasons are. But the program was a complete success from DIA's point of view and we wrote that up officially.

GN: And how many different programs were going on at the time? I mean, we had yours, the Advanced Aerospace Weapon Systems Application, and then the AATIP was going on with Luis Elizondo.

JL: Well, that's not...AATIP followed...the AATIP name was created for a letter that Senator Reid sent in, trying to establish a DoD SAP for our program, for various reasons. And Lue used that name when he...and I guess it had to be in the timeframe of 2012, perhaps, that he started looking exclusively at military investigations and he used the name AATIP. Nothing wrong with that. I mean, that's fine. But there was a difference between the two programs. Ours had $22 million dollars in funding, his had zero. Ours looked at military and civilian investigations, his looked at military exclusively. And we had, of course, contractor and subcontractor support. He had no contractor support. But he did his thing, we did ours. But I can say that in direct answer to your question, we were the only game in town, I would say from 2008 through 2012.

BTW, @zcichy. A few days ago, you had a tweet about the cover/title being wrong with the apostrophe on Insiders'. Couldn't find your tweet (deleted?) but here's the rule.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FB1Q9v6VIAQIYGT.jpg

Rule 2a. Regular nouns are nouns that form their plurals by adding either the letter s or es (guy, guys; letter, letters; actress, actresses; etc.). To show plural possession, simply put an apostrophe after the s.

> Correct: guys' night out (guy + s + apostrophe)
> Incorrect: guy's night out (implies only one guy)
> Correct: two actresses' roles (actress + es + apostrophe)
> Incorrect: two actress's roles

GN: And how many different programs were going on at the time? I mean, we had yours, the Advanced Aerospace Weapon Systems Application, and then the AATIP was going on with Luis Elizondo.

JL: Well, that's not...AATIP followed...the AATIP name was created for a letter that Senator Reid sent in, trying to establish a DoD SAP for our program, for various reasons. And Lue used that name when he...and I guess it had to be in the timeframe of 2012, perhaps, that he started looking exclusively at military investigations and he used the name AATIP. Nothing wrong with that. I mean, that's fine. But there was a difference between the two programs. Ours had $22 million dollars in funding, his had zero. Ours looked at military and civilian investigations, his looked at military exclusively. And we had, of course, contractor and subcontractor support. He had no contractor support. But he did his thing, we did ours. But I can say that in direct answer to your question, we were the only game in town, I would say from 2008 through 2012.

Exhibits 1 through 4 list some of the major scientific laboratories that are involved in carrying on the research in the United States,, in other free-world countries, in the Warsaw Pact countries, and in China. These representative lists are included to emphasize the fact that we are not dealing with a phenomenon that the researchers at SRI have invented. It is a phenomenon that is being investigated on a large scale--both in this country and throughout the world. The SRI effort, which seeks to apply psychoenergetic processes to meet DoD requirements, is thus seen to be only a miniscule part of a worldwide effort.

involved in this phenomenon. Basic research is primarily oriented toward understanding the physical, physiological , and psychological mechanisms of anomalous mental phenomena (AMP).

(S/NF) Applied research refers to any investigation directed toward developing particular applications or for improving data quality and reliability. For anomalous cognition (AC) phenomenon, research is primarily directed toward improving the output quality of AC data. This would include ways to develop/improve utility of AC data for variety of potential application. For example, examination of spatial and temporal relationships of AC data could assist in developing a reliable search capability useful for locating missing people or equipment.

TERMINOLOGY AND DEFINITIONS (U)

(U) PHENOMENA TERMINOLOGY

(U) This phenomenological area has had a variety of descriptive terms over the years, such as paranormal, parapsychological, or as psychical research. Foreign researchers use other terms: "psychoenergetics" in Russia and the Former Soviet Union (FSU); "extraordinary human function" in the People's Republic of China (PRC). In general, this field is concerned with a largely unexplored area of human consciousness/subconsciousness interactions associated with unusual or underdeveloped human capabilities.

(U) Recently, researchers have shown a preference for terms that are neutral and that emphasizes the anomalous or enigmatic nature of this phenomena. The term anomalous mental phenomena (AMP), is generally preferred.

(U) This area has two aspects; information access and energetics influence. Information access refers to a mental ability to describe remote areas or to access concealed data that are otherwise shielded from all known sensory channels. A recent term for this ability is anomalous cognition (AC). This term places emphasis on potential understanding that might be available from advances in sensory/brain functioning research or other related research. Older terms for this aspect have included extra-sensory perception (ESP), remote viewing (RV), and in some cases, precognition.

(U) The energetics aspect refers to the ability to influence, via mental volition, physical or biological systems by an as yet unknown physical mechanism. An example of physical system influence would include affecting the output of sensors or electronic devices; biological systems influence would include affecting physiological parameters of an individual. A recent descriptive term for this ability is anomalous perturbation (AP). Older terms for this phenomenon included psychokinesis (PK) or telekinesis.

(U) GENERAL DEFINITIONS

(S/NF) For this program, basic research is defined to mean any investigation or experiment for determining fundamental processes or for uncovering underlying parameters that are Given all that is known about this news inside the UFO community is it astonishing that no reporter thought to ask a few questions that would have put this latest information into its proper perspective… interesting but nothing newsworthy.

1995 Carter article on CNN

http://www.cnn.com/US/Newsbriefs/9509/9-21/am/index.html

Smith is the RVer Eric Davis spoke about w/Admiral Wilson, former J2 at the Joints Chiefs & former DIA Director, in 2002. She worked under Dale Graff at Wright Patterson AFB.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1448830421966356481
2 The time former POTUS Jimmy Carter kind of outed the remote viewing program. The remote viewer/psychic he was referring to is Rosemary Smith, who helped find a downed aircraft in Zaire in 1979, using her 6th sense. Carter told the story in 1995 & Hal Puthoff covered it in 2020. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FBtGUm7VIAIjJzX.png

It has worked, in fact Jimmy Carter revealed a result that we thought…we were told, would never be revealed. And that is…a Soviet plane was being flown out of Libya to be turned over to us, and apparently, the pilot got cold feet, he said, "The KGB's gonna hunt me down the rest of my life." So he just bailed out. He just decided to change his mind and let it crash somewhere in Africa, when it ran out of fuel. And nobody could find it with the satellites because it crashed into jungle canopy, likely. And so the satellites couldn't find it. So when things get really tough, Stan Turner, who was Carter's head of CIA, came to us and said, "Can your "remote viewers" find this plane? We want to find it before the Russians do." And so we put two of our best remote viewers on it. One from the Air Force, one from our own: SRI. And they described where it was and put an X on a map, which was within two miles. And this was over hundreds of thousands of square miles, on a map, within two miles of where the plane was in the jungle.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FBtGPw8UcAEcXuG.png

So the CIA folks run in and get the plane, which we got. And so that was a case of a successful finding something, that was hidden. We were told that that would never be revealed. But then after Carter was out of office, he was talking to a group at a university in Georgia, and somebody said, "What do you think was kind of weird and strange happened while you were president?" And he said, "Yeah! You know, a Soviet bomber went down in Africa and we had to turn to psychics to find it (audience laugs). There's actually a videotaped interview of him actually describing that event. But any way, finding stuff, especially you wanna use your resource to find something that just comes out of a conspiracy theory that may not even be true, we just don't go there.

@JayCKing78 I bet. I try to tell people that it's one guy's opinion and it's not even a direct quote. But then you have Davis (who was there when Wilson shared that piece of info.) saying, in this interview, yeah, some may be covert human but we KNOW some of it is carried out by non-humans.

Plausible deniability. Once Lue managed AAATIP & then Mattis was @SecDef, the folks right below Mattis wouldn't allow Lue access to Mattis to officially brief him on it. This way, if Mattis was ever asked about UFOs, he could honestly say, "I have no idea what ur talking about." https://twitter.com/JrockUAP/status/1448702141900673026

@BarlowTerry Well, I think the $22 million issue needs to be addressed by Lue and corrected by a TON of media outlets who got it wrong. In the big picture of what the phenomenon represents, it's meaningless. But facts & accuracy are important.

Here's another thing on my mind!!! :beaming_face_with_smiling_eyes:

As I tweeted the other day, 99% of the media outlets got it wrong when it came to AAWSAP. They never mentioned it. Only a few (like @g_knapp) were accurate. How does the media, including NYT, WaPo and Politico, get those details so wrong?

I have no doubt Lue managed an unofficial & unfunded (didn't receive one dime of AAWSAP $) UFO program (known by Lue & others involved, as AATIP) AATIP was a nickname for AAWSAP, used in Reid letter 2 Lynn but later adopted by the effort (lead by Lue) 2 study JUST military cases. https://twitter.com/Earth_Mysteries/status/1448683656575217673

@MetaStudioLogic @TOEwithCurt He said, "You'll have you ask Mr. Lacatski about that." Or something along those lines. Okay, fine. Then someone can ask him about comments he (Lue) has made on the subject and wind up with this: Did the AATIP portfolio ever receive one dime of the AAWSAP money?

You know, Mr. Bigelow has had some experiences that stem from Skinwalker Ranch, as have many people who have visited. It was an intelligence person assigned to a military outfit that was on the property, I think in 2010, who had an experience along with two other intelligence folks, and it followed them home. It followed all three of them home. It followed multiple people home. And it basically was an explosion of poltergeist trickster-type activity at their homes, thousands of miles away from the ranch. That phenomena was was dubbed hitchhikers. It sort of attaches itself to people who visit the property. Not everyone, but if you go there enough, it happens. It has happened to me. Now, I haven't seen anything of the ranch. I haven't seen anything at my house. But it spreads to loved ones. So my wife has experienced it. Bob Bigelow's wife, who just passed away a couple months ago, experienced it multiple times. Colm Kelleher's wife experienced it in the early days of NIDS. And these other people who were there during the BAASS era, same thing. It's scary. And it messes with you. And so I think Bob wanted it off his plate both for business reasons and to protect his family. He just didn't want to go there. Colm Kelleher probably won't go there again. I'm not sure I want to go there again. Because it's like you're rolling dice.

@ddeanjohnson @disario @dave_beaty I agree with this. Hypnosis has its place in some cases (experiencers using it to recover certain details) but there was no need for Stevenson to go there when he had solid data without it. And his data was controversial enough without introducing hypnosis.

If Mitchell hadn't passed away, & W/D didn't get put online, would we still be this far along on crash retrievals. IMO, yes.

Is there some sort of plan as far as timing? If that's what u mean by scripted, I'd say it's very possible. Just like DeLonge said there was a 7-year plan

Predictions revisitedâ□¦

From the June 25th episode of @SpacedOutRadio, the day the ODNI 180 Day UFO/UAP Report (Assessment) came out.

The question was: When will @MarkWarner or @marcorubio call for hearings before the SSCI, on the UAP issue?

officials developed the following theories about the skimming objects:

1. They may be a mirage induced by mass self-hypnosis, similar to the sea serpents often reported spotted from seacoast towns. A Navy guided missiles expert recalled a sky phenomenon reported during the air war in Europe.

American pilots said they saw "floating balls of fire" which disintegrated planes in a flash or puff of smoke. A thorough investigation uncovered no basis for the reports.

2. The flying saucers are optical illusions, the result of tricks the eyes play upon the brain. Some authorities said the discs might be reflections from near-by airplanes or the sun mirrored by clouds.

Doubt Alien Missile

So far as is known, no guided missile has been developed which can travel more than 300 miles under its own power. For this reason, Army and Navy officers doubted the objects, if they do exist, were launched from any foreign country.

Dr. F. Zwicky, astrophysics professor at California Institute of Technology, writing in the current issue of Ordnance, a publication of the Army Ordnance association, a semi-official group of industrial[illegible] interested in mili[illegible]ns, said scientists we[illegible] to shoot "artificial m[illegible] explore the secrets of the skies.

These mock meteors, however, would be launched from rockets to escape the gravity of the earth, and never return. Scientists explained they could never be mistaken for "flying saucers."

'Saucer' Seen by Rocket Expert; Flight Over Desert Described

D. C. Navy Research Worker Says Flying Disc Was Unlike Any Guided Missile He Has Seen

An eye-witness account of a flight of a "flying saucer" came today from a Naval Research Laboratory rockets expert here as aircraft were alerted along the West Coast in the hope of locating one of the discs and solving the mystery.

The rockets expert, Dr. C. J. Zohn, who disclosed today that he had spotted one of the speeding discs on a recent Navy mission to New Mexico, said it looked like no guided missile he had ever studied.

On the other hand, Lester Barlow, internationally known explosives inventor, advanced the theory at Stamford, Conn., that the "flying saucers" were probably radio-controlled flying missiles being tested in the west by military authorities.

The inventor said he felt certain that "quite a number" of such flying missiles had been produced and "were in early stages of perfection." He said they were capable of flying in squadrons and being controlled "from remote points."

Government sources have denied any tests are being conducted that might be the answer to the mystery that has baffled the Nation since June 25. An Army Air Forces spokesman said the AAF believes "there's something to this" but is completely mystified as to just what.

Dr. Zohn said he had gone to New Mexico for a V-2 test, but he emphasized that he saw the "flying saucer" four days before the test and that it had nothing to do with any Navy experiments.

He said he was crossing the desert with three other men, two of them scientists, on June 29 when he spotted the object traveling north at an altitude of about 10,000 feet.

Dr. Zohn described it as very bright and silvery with no projections. Since he was not sure it was revolving and his view of it was two dimensional, Dr. Zohn said as far as he could tell it was elliptical in shape and flat.

"It was traveling away from us at a uniform rate of speed," he reported. "It was clearly visible and then suddenly, it wasn't there. It didn't go behind a mountain range. It simply disappeared."

Dr. Zohn said the sun was behind him when he saw the object about 1:30 p.m. and he had a clear view of it.

He was sure at the time he said [illegible]

Flying Saucers

did not discount completely the possibility of a guided missile, he pointed out that he had worked on the V-2 rockets and that the disc was unlike any guided missile he had ever seen.

Dr. Zohn is stationed at the Naval Research Laboratory here and lives at 440 Mellon street S.E.

Mr. Davis, who now works for Aerospace Corporation, a defense contractor, said he gave a classified briefing to a Defense Department agency as recently as March about retrievals from “off-world vehicles not made on this earth.”

Mr. Davis said he also gave classified briefings on retrievals of unexplained objects to staff members of the Senate Armed Services Committee on Oct. 21, 2019, and to staff members of the Senate Intelligence Committee two days later.

ATM-09/DE-08: Advocating for Scientific Study of Unidentified Aerial Phenomenon – Technical Perspective with focus on Aviation Safety

11:15am - 3:15pm
Fri, Aug 06 (Eastern) 0000000

Location: DE

A series of technical presentations and panel discussion to inform the aerospace community, and to advocate for conducting technically professional studies that predict the objects identified as Unidentified Aerial Phenomenon (UAP). The discussion will focus on the technical characteristics of UAP, and its implications on flight safety, based on unclassified videos, radar observations, experiments, and firsthand pilot encounters.

In this session, no speculations on the actors or fringe theories behind this phenomenon will be planned/permitted.

PANELISTS
Ravi Kopparapu, Ph.D., Planetary Scientist, NASA Goddard Space Flight Center:
Science of UAP – Past and Present

Kevin Knuth, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Physics, University at Albany (SUNY) NY Editor-in-Chief, Entropy Journal:
The Flight Characteristics and Physics of UAP

Peter Reali, Board Director, Scientific Coalition of UAP Studies:
Anomalous Aerodynamic Physics demonstrated by the 2004 USS Nimitz UAP Encounter

Ryan Graves, U.S. Navy F/A-18F Pilot (Former), Principal Investigator within R&D in defense industry (Current):
Eye Witness Account: Persistent Detection of Non-Participating Aircraft by USN Tactical Aircraft (2014 - present)

Ted Roe, Director of Research, National Aviation Reporting Center on Anomalous Phenomena (NARCAP):
UAP and Civil Aviation: 20 Years of Research and Advocacy

Philippe Ailleris, Project Controller, European Space Agency*, Board Member, UFODATA: Mitigating Flight Safety Hazards:
Towards Better Detection and Characterization of UAP (* The presentation is undertaken as personal work; not endorsed as research activity by ESA)

Organizer: Nijo Abraham (Georgetown University)
Organizer: Vincent Schultz (NASA Langley Research Center)
Moderator: Edward Stanton

I don't think she's acting, for the most part (it's a reality show so always SOME acting) but the way LM leads her was troubling. It's just not a good look for the subject matter, IMO.

This type of thing should NOT be part of a reality show. I'm okay with a professionally done documentary but not this format.

10 Once again, we need trained professionals to work w/experiencers. Funding might help with that but stigma is still a huge problem. Seeing DL and friends use the Betty & Barney hypnosis tape (where they sound terrified) as entertainment is SMH-worthy. And they make jokes. WTF?

6 DL also feels a previous experience she labelled as an OBE may have been something physical, like an abduction. I think someone who has such a huge fanbase as DL should look into her own case more before offering up speculation on what she may have experienced. Just my opinion.

5 When I asked Miler if Greer was telling the truth, my focus was on Greer saying an Admiral was told he didn't have a need to know about the SAP. If Miller would have said, "Yes, Wilson told us that," it would have been huge. But instead, Will told me, "I have no idea about SG."

4 As I've said before, the information I received in the past two weeks was that the NRO doc played zero role in Wilson's 45 day (successful) search to find the UFO crash retrieval program. But since I can't tell u who told me that, you have to trust my judgment on that point.

3 So, was Miller saying the NRO doc was fake because if it was referencing deeply buried programs, it would have used code numbers and not code words? Maybe.

Fake or not, people can look at my MegaBlog & judge for themselves how much weight I gave the NRO doc.

3 and he might be right. What I had forgotten about (& @OmniTalkRadio reminded me) is when I interviewed Will, the man who started this whole thing with his letter to Wilson in 1995, offering a briefing from Greer, I asked Will about the NRO doc that Greer says shows codenames. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FAoPCA8UYAEsMYu.jpg

JM: 2013, you and Dr. Greer had a conversation on YouTube. He talked about an Admiral who had found one of those USAPs through code names. And basically, Dr. Greer said the Admiral was told by these USAP folks...well, we know who you are, but you don't have a need to know and we're not going to tell you anything.

WM: The deepest-black programs have numbers, not names. "Program 4327" vs. Program "Dark Skies".

JM: You didn't say anything. Was Greer telling the truth?

WM: I have no idea about SG.

@WitnessCitizen Nah. It doesn't matter. What matters is if my source is someone to trust or someone who would know the info. is accurate. And since I can't share who it is, people can't really judge veracity of it & I have nothing else to show u! Unlike w/W/D where we have other pieces of data.

@gentlemenslwyr @makoteko1 Most likely. Almost 90+ years (if the Mussolini Italy crash retrieval is legit) of data means they must know who's driving some of these craft.

Cool. As I said, I wouldn't have shared it if my source didn't (unexpectedly) tell me that info. was accurate. I trust my source but can't prove any of this. But again, if you think crash retrievals have occurred, do you think we have no idea who was inside?

Joe: Do we have any idea who's inside some of these craft?

Lue: Uhhh you know, I prefer not to answer that question simply because I dont have a good response for that.

@buffcommacu Yep. And as I just tweeted, I was told the 1st part of the statement (we know who's in the saucers & triangles but not Tic Tacs) is accurate. So, in this case, I think Sean is wrong but no way 2 prove. But if u think CRs happen, it would make sense we know who's inside some UFOs.

David Marler is asking for donations.
August 4 at 8:20 PM ·

I was recently offered a rare Board Member position with Dr. J. Allen Hynek's Center for UFO Studies (CUFOS), which I readily accepted. I was honored and humbled to be afforded this opportunity. I now sit on the Board with some very august UFO researchers who are both friends and colleagues.

Now I serve as the official CUFOS Archivist charged with the task of managing and making available the CUFOS case file collection that includes the NICAP, CSI-NY, and Project Blue Book files of Dr. Hynek. All of these date back to the late 40s. The files, in conjunction with the historic NICAP audio recordings recently donated, makes for a renowned collection of UFO history.

Digitization efforts are underway to preserve and make widely available these files and recordings for the worldwide UFO community. Contributors to this effort along with myself include Jan Aldrich and Barry Greenwood.

Many have asked me how they can help in this effort. Now that I am a Board Member of CUFOS, this collective work falls under their non-profit status. Financial contributions can be made via CUFOS and may be tax deductible. More information on this may be found at their website: http://www.cufos.org/donations.html

If you wish to make a donation specific to this effort, please be sure to note with any donation "For digitization project". General donations are welcomed as well by CUFOS.

We hope this will facilitate support towards our exhaustive efforts to catalogue, preserve, and share this important historical UFO material. Negotiations are currently underway to secure one or two additional large UFO collections. The work grows as additional materials are acquired. But I feel the work is vitally important to this field.

My thanks to Dr. Mark Rodeghier and the rest of the Board at CUFOS. Collaboratively, we will work towards preserving UFO history and making it accessible.

So, one year ago, I made this trip to Washington, D.C. at the invitation of Senator Harry Reid. It was St. Patrick's Day, 2018 and I already knew a little bit about AATIP and AAWSAP and what they've been studying and where the money came from and how the program was created. I did this sort of spy thing where I changed hotel rooms and I changed taxis. I was making sure I wasn't followed. And if there was ever actually, anybody following me, they must have thought I looked ridiculous because it was way over the top.

But I ended up having to meet with Senator Reid and some other people who were directly involved in these programs and they gave me a download. And I thought I knew a lot about these programs when I went there and realized that I only knew a little tiny bit. The purpose of this was to learn about these programs. We all know about AATIP, but in reality, there was something before that.

1 Gonna tweet this so it doesn't get buried in a reply. @jeff5647a, this is why I'm hesitant when it comes to things Kevin Randle says. This specific Randle blog was about the NYT article from last year, Eric Davis' off-world vehicles quote, and Wilson/Davis.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FAVVD5fVQAAY-bR.png

When this latest “Breaking News” is digested, it turns out to be little more than rumor based on the tales Eric Davis, whose inside information is no better than that of a ten-year-old kid with Internet access. Given all that is known about this news inside the UFO community is it astonishing that no reporter thought to ask a few questions that would have put this latest information into its proper perspective… interesting but nothing newsworthy.

@WitnessCitizen @AZColt @UFOBreddit In the notes, Davis promised he'd be quiet.

Also, Davis doesn't want (or need) 2 issue a false denial like Wilson. Wilson was told about classified info. by someone who was part of the program. Davis was not. Not sure of all the legal angles here & this is all just my opinion.

In August of 2020, Mellon was the guest on CNN's "Smerconish."

Michael Smerconish (MC): "One astrophysicist, who has worked for the Pentagon's UFO program since 2007, told the NYT that he gave a classified briefing to a Defense Department agency about retrievals of 'off-world vehicles, not made on this Earth.' I was quoting Eric Davis – I know you're familiar with his work – when I read that New York Times paragraph a moment ago. Do you believe that there are objects in our possession – broadly defined, our possession – that are from, something other than this Earth?"

Christopher Mellon: "What I'll say about that is that I think that assertion should be taken seriously. I'm aware of…I know Eric very well. I understand his arguments. I was present in his briefings on the Hill and he tried to provide some leads for them to follow to enable them to potentially confirm this. It is an issue that should be taken seriously. In fact, curiously, President Trump himself, on Father's Day, indicated, on air, while being filmed, that he did have classified information about Roswell, New Mexico. Which, as most people know, is the legendary site of an alleged crash of a UFO. And when asked by his son about that, about declassifying it, he said, 'I'll have to think about it.' I don't know what there is about Roswell that could be classified or interesting other than that one particular issue. So, there is a lot of new press and new information coming forward and again, as I said, I think this is a topic that the oversight committees should take seriously and investigate."

Wilson/Davis, craft/bodies, the House proposed language on crash retrievals & human biological effects, will one day lead inquiring minds to focus on experiencers. I don't usually bring it up w/folks new to the subject but any lengthy discussion leads to...why are they here?

Yes, they should be able to get that information, in theory, and deserve it and are entitled to it. But in reality, some of these programs are buried so deep, you'll never know about them unless someone in the know informs you and tells you where to look. I reached out to a government insider to see if they could shed some light on the issue.

> "Various people within the United States government, in positions of oversight and who you would think had access to all UAP programs, did not find the UAP crash retrieval program when they looked because they never knew of its existence. I, and others in my circle, have discussed the topic with them of how one cannot find waived-unacknowledged SAPs that operate outside of Section 119 of Title 10. In fact, a DoD office can create a shell company and then transfer funds to it under an unremarkable commercial defense services contract. Then that shell company turns around and gives a subcontract to a third-party aerospace/defense firm that hosts a waived-unacknowledged SAP that operates outside of Sect. 119 of Title 10. This usually hides (making the audit trail terminate at the shell company) the flow of money going to the third party company that's running a waived-unacknowledged SAP where a UAP crash retrieval program is hidden.

@HighStrangenes3 Maybe. My friends are happy. One says, DM plays no defense. We would have had to give up RJ, Grimes and four first rounders. Woj reported that in July, Knicks offered RJ, Robinson and Toppin, plus three unprotected first rounders. Utah should have taken that.

I'm good.

I think RVing is reliably repeatable but the accuracy isn't always the same. Sometimes good, sometimes bad. Sometimes amazing. I'm not sure that will ever change. Maybe, as u say, if we figure out the mechanism for how psi works, that will help w/consistent accuracy? Maybe not.

@ianfraserjacks1 @sxmrkm As I said in my original blog in March, lots of possibilities here and I don't feel the need to keep saying them over and over.

Putting aside this claim, have you ever read "DMT: The Spirit Molecule"?

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FACEHEpVcAADsVt.png

Here are the possibilities as I see them.

1) She's delusional. After listening to the Clubhouse talk, I don't see this as a serious option.

2) She's making up a story to sell books and tour the world. She's a writer and a damned good one. So, until we see where this goes, this option should be on the table.

3) She's sharing disinformation to confuse the field of UFOlogy and waste everyone's time. While UFOlogy has a history of having to deal with disinfo., I don't think that's the case here.

4) Everything she said happened exactly how she described. I'm hoping this is the answer because it's an amazing story. But for now, it's not something we can prove. I'd like to hear from Wayne, who you'll learn about as you read and hear Añjali's story. I'd also love to hear from her adult daughter who had the missing time with her. And if anybody in the family could share their poltergeist-like experiences, that would help a lot. She said the poltergeist activity preceded the contact with the ETs. Why is that important?

@WeDoWTK Well, if we knew where the alleged, intact craft was being held, there's no way for us to get access to it. We need the intel committees to do their job. But if they DO find it, it's no guarantee they're gonna tell us.

Here's @ChrisKMellon on the briefings conducted on Capitol Hill by Dr. Eric Davis and his thoughts on Roswell, even though Trump was speaking about Area 51 and called it Roswell. :grinning_face: http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E_7ivHHUYAIRu_y.png

Christopher Mellon: "What I'll say about that is that I think that assertion should be taken seriously. I'm aware of…I know Eric very well. I understand his arguments. I was present in his briefings on the Hill and he tried to provide some leads for them to follow to enable them to potentially confirm this. It is an issue that should be taken seriously. In fact, curiously, President Trump himself, on Father's Day, indicated, on air, while being filmed, that he did have classified information about Roswell, New Mexico. Which, as most people know, is the legendary site of an alleged crash of a UFO. And when asked by his son about that, about declassifying it, he said, 'I'll have to think about it.' I don't know what there is about Roswell that could be classified or interesting other than that one particular issue. So, there is a lot of new press and new information coming forward and again, as I said, I think this is a topic that the oversight committees should take seriously and investigate."

RB: Danny, this evidence exists in the most deeply hidden parts of, not only our government but outside our government (audio cut out)…in the private contractors. They have this information. We've heard this, we can't get at it, they're not amenable through FOIA requests. Even the government, even Lue's group – as I'm sure he might or might not even acknowledge – was unable to get their hands on it. There are secret, secret, super-secret corners of our country, our establishment, particularly the private component, private industry. Lockheed, etc. – where this stuff is held, we're convinced, but we can't get at it and that's the object. That's the place to go looking.

1/2 Fact that so many folks seem to have a spiritual breakthrough after repeated abductions doesn't necessarily mean that's the intention of the beings who do the abducting. It could be. But it could also be an unintended consequence. Not everybody has such a positive outcome.

A few of us are working behind the scenes on that. If (and that's a big if) we can prove it's a legit set of notes & do it beyond most people's reasonable doubt, I'm hoping that will spur big media to take it on. https://twitter.com/timbo_staley/status/1439953413710630913

He won't comment on the notes except to say that a J2 being unable to access a SAP bc he didn't meet the special criteria is not unheard of. Don't quote me on that bc it's been a while.

Excellent point. Davis also commented on the notes for my W/D MegaBlog, which he knew was about Wilson/Davis. @SuperVFunCat @BobMcGwier_N4HY Not the same but I understand why u think that bc both involve an alleged, classified program.

Speaking on crash retrievals, something Davis has studied since at least 2002, is one thing. Confirming anything about W/D & shoving Wilson under the bus is another thing altogether.

@Lazl0Holyfield @MiddleOfMayhem @TheProjectUnity That's not the point. The point is: Can a story be published, as is? See the excellent work of Billy Cox and Ross Coulthart. The story is far from complete but a story CAN be published.

@MiddleOfMayhem @billeecox @rosscoulthart You don't have to have someone claiming the notes are legit to write the story. As I said, see the work of veteran/seasoned journalists I mentioned. To claim the NYP now has this uber high level of standards that it can't report on this story, as is, is laughable.

I agree that showing craft & bodies blows away 99% of UFO sightings & that's why I hammer W/D & related crash retrievals. Why they crash? 2 As I've told you before, I think the SASC & SSCI (and others) have enough info. to go looking for the UFO & crash retrieval-related USAPs. Are there four like Wilson told Davis? Either way, we also need NYT & WaPo and WSJ reporters to do their jobs & investigate fully.

1 Great job by @RichDolan w/Davis/Wilson. So many others have done important work & they all deserve credit. If, as I suspect, & is detailed in the notes, we have an intact craft not made by humans & we can access it, it changes everything. It's no longer "just' a pic or video.

Leslie has known about it since she met Miller around 2000. There's a reason she called him a "true insider" and a reason why he was writing Davis and Puthoff about crash retrievals. Guy is

James Fox

This clip from behind the scenes was accidentally posted somewhere else so you all might as well hear it from me:

The guy we came to talk to has been completely off the radar for 26 years. His name is Eric Lopes and was the military officer driving the car on the night of January 20th 1996 when his passenger, Marco Cherese (also Military police) jumped out of the car and allegedly captured an alien with his bare hands. The two of them drove it to the local hospital. Less than a month later, Marco a Cherese died at 23 from a immune system failure. We interviewed the doctor who worked on him and he's never seen anything like it before or after. The family of Cherese have been trying to get a statement from Lopes to no avail. We had the blessing of the mayor who made calls on our behalf to some high level people to accompany us with whatever was needed. I wanted an escort to go and see Lopes and try and get him on camera for the 1st time. The politician who's father was a sergeant of police and has know the witness since the early 80's took us to his house which was off the beaten path to say the least. When we got there, to my astonishment Eric Lopes appeared through a window and looked down on us as we tried to get any sort of statement. As I don't speak Portuguese, I had no idea just how intense things were getting. No matter what we said, the witness responded with threats of imminent danger and then repeated that he was going to shoot all of us (even the politician) if we didn't leave immediately. The look I got from those who understood what Lopes was saying and how he was saying it will be etched in my brain for ever. There's lots more I want to share when I get back to USA.

Shannon preceded his pause with a chuckle. “Uhh. You know, you’ve heard the term ‘no comment’ many, many times in your reporting career.” True enough. But, I added, you had no reason to fabricate your statement two years ago, and I just wanted to make sure I hadn’t misquoted you. “Um, I know Admiral Wilson,” he replied. “Or I knew him.

“I’ve been out of that world for, oh my gosh, two decades plus. So that’s a past tense. I knew him. That’s all I’ll say about that.” He paused again. “I’m probably a very forgettable person.”

10 I think when Wilson found crash retrieval SAP, he called Miller & NOT Greer. Greer claims Wilson told HIM but after hearing what various folks connected 2 this told me about Greer (privately, & it's not good) & 1997 briefing, I tend to think only Miller got the call & not SG.

1 Here's @blackvaultcom's video on the Greer, NRO document. Anybody who's taken their time to read everything I've written/said on Wilson/Davis knows I haven't focused on that document. In 23,000+ words, in the original MegaBlog, it's brought up 3 times.

https://youtu.be/UHDVI203QyA http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E_QOEwsWEAAlWKp.png

Wilson said Oke Shannon (a scientist) spoke to him for two hours and tried to convince him to talk to Dr. Davis about what he (Wilson) told Will Miller on April 10th, 1997 in the Pentagon and then two months later in June. The April date was when the briefing with Miller, Dr. Mitchell, Dr. Greer, Shari Adamiak and Stephen Lovekin took place and when Wilson received the code words from the first page of the NRO documents Miller and Greer gave him so he could attempt to locate the UFO-related USAP. June appears to be the time Wilson told Miller the results of that search. Dr. Mitchell said a gentleman got back to him a few weeks after the April briefing but I think a few months (June) is more likely. And I'm not sure if that person who called Dr. Mitchell was Wilson or Miller. I'd go with Miller. Either way, I have no doubt Dr. Mitchell was informed about what Wilson found.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E_QOEwqX0Akplwp.jpg

Dr. Steven Greer: And in fact, when we have made inquiries, we have been told nothing. And in one case, when I had a document that had some of the code numbers and names for some of these Unacknowledged Special Access Project compartments from the National Reconnaissance Office, there was a certain Admiral, I remember, [who] had found one of those and basically was told, "Though, yeah, well, we know who you are but you don't have a need to know and we're not going to tell you anything."

(A simple "yes" here from Miller would have been helped make the case for the legitimacy of the Wilson/Davis documents. But he remained silent. ~Joe)

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E_QOEwqXMBEHHsq.png

JM: Admiral Wilson said he took that briefing as a courtesy to you and Edgar Mitchell. True? He was 'curious' why someone of Dr. Mitchell's stature would be pursuing this matter. Does that match with what you knew going into that brief? I thought his office requested it?

WM: Wilson did it at my request. Hughes requested it – in fact his office requested that I "expedite" getting the briefing to him.

JM: 2013, you and Dr. Greer had a conversation on YouTube. He talked about an Admiral who had found one of those USAPs through code names. And basically, Dr. Greer said the Admiral was told by these USAP folks…well, we know who you are, but you don't have a need to know and we're not going to tell you anything.

WM: The deepest-black programs have numbers, not names. "Program 4327" vs. Program "Dark Skies".

Mr. Davis said he also gave classified briefings on retrievals of unexplained objects to staff members of the Senate Armed Services Committee on Oct. 21, 2019, and to staff members of the Senate Intelligence Committee two days later.

2 And for folks who aren't aware, "senior official" was unceremoniously replaced in early January of this year as reported by @g_knapp & told to us by Robert Bigelow, via Knapp. I've had sources reference that person but never by name.

1 OK, @LtTimMcMillan or anybody else, the Q many of us have wanted to know: What's senior official's name?

"In early 2018, the responsibilities for quietly examining UAP were said to be transferred from Tipton to another senior official at [ONI]."

5 @LtTimMcMillan, you have a link to that proposed Bill's language?

For me, that's not an eyebrow-raising line, it's an exciting line that goes along with what I've been writing about since last year on crash retrievals and Wilson/Davis!

3 As far as the origin of the tech that that caused the injuries that Green studied? When we spoke in late 2019, he leaned towards it being human, black tech. He told me some of his colleagues agree and some of his colleagues disagree.

So folks know, Dr. Kit Green told me about his parent's UFO sighting in the early 1930s w/other witnesses as the craft rose out of a lake. I'm comfortable saying Green doesn't think that was human tech.
