Innovation continues to be a key element in converting the Kennedy Space Center into a 21st century space launch complex.

New ideas are driving updates to the center's operations and infrastructure for more cost-effective operations, serving multiple users and preparing for the journey to Mars.

Kennedy employees are playing a crucial role in that progress with their innovative ideas.

The annual Innovation Expo gives them an opportunity to collaborate, experience what is happening throughout KSC, and find support for forward-thinking ideas.
