Hey, I'm NASA Kennedy's Nick Rivieccio and I'm taking you Inside KSC!

The last heat-resistant brick was added to the flame trench at Launch Complex 39B this week. This completes the renovation of the flame trench where about 90,000 heat-resistant bricks were recently installed to support launches of the Space Launch System rocket and Orion spacecraft on missions to deep space.

The names of six retired communication professionals were added to the "Chroniclers" wall at Kennedy's Press Site. During an unveiling ceremony, Bruce Hall, Scott Harris, Bill Johnson, Warren Leary, Bob Murray and Phil Sandlin were honored for their work covering NASA missions and events from Kennedy Space Center.

And remember, SpacePort Magazine digs deeper Inside KSC!