Hi, I’m Josephine Pereira of the Kennedy Space Center. Let’s go Inside KSC!

Turn your phone or tablet into a virtual time portal with a new NASA app that’ll put you on the launch pad with the Space Launch System rocket looming over you!

The app, called NASA 3DV, was managed out of KSC and highlights our Ground Systems Development and Operations program.

The first, actual combined flight SLS and Orion won’t happen ‘til 2018, but why wait? See how it’ll look by downloading this app on iTunes right now!

And, Kennedy Space Center Director, Bob Cabana, is the recipient of this year’s National Space Trophy. The award is presented annually by the Rotary National Space Foundation for major contributions to our nation’s space program.

And remember, Spaceport Magazine digs deeper Inside KSC!