Lance Houston everything is looking fantastic therefore you are go for the deorbit burn and you can maneuver on time hey great thanks go for the deorbit burn maneuver on time the deorbit burn is underway the propulsion officer reports to good orbital maneuvering system engines Atlanta starts the beginning of the end of a journey that started with the aerodynamic testing of a craft called Enterprise in 1977 punctuated by the maiden launch of Columbia in 1981 culminating this morning with a night flight to the Kennedy Space Center