my name is Michael Agrium's i worked at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena California I am the US aster science team leader this is the LA basin area we're coming up over palos verdes peninsula will turn west to come up over the beach areas LA Airport Marina del Rey crossing the Santa Monica Mountains you can see the Sepulveda basin in the left San Fernando Valley on the rights of burbank airport now we're turning East over the La Crescenta Valley the 210 freeway is the prominent white line and there in the center of the image is the Jet Propulsion lab where I'm sitting right now we pursued east over the cities of Arcadia and Monrovia where's the San Gabriel River and the rock quarries looking south over the LA basin we're now seeing downtown and out of my favorite places in the lower part of the images Dodger Stadium
