The NASA aeronautics portfolio is incredible and every day we're making breakthroughs coming up with inspirational things.

We're improving safety and reducing noise and really paying attention to the environment and environmentally friendly aircraft.

So all of this is to say that NASA is with you when you fly.

Think that's why we should all celebrate August 19th real great shout out to aviation, Aviation Day!