NASA television is moving to a different satellite the AMC 3 satellite will become NASA TV's new home on January 16, 2010. Cable and satellite service providers can find more details at WWDC.gov/NTV under important information.