obviously discrimination is really you know denial of opportunities based on you know what I consider to be you know irrelevant

you know characteristics I think that it's okay to reference you know things that may have happened in the past but only as a reference but not stay there too long I think it's more valuable and important to talk about where we are today and what's important in terms of what we need moving forward I think the agency has changed significantly it's the product of change in society I mean societal changes that occurred over time and pretty much reflective of that it's about really capturing the diverse thinking from people with all backgrounds and all different experiences or I think are very important and that's one of the reasons that we do it and I think that makes the agency and JPL much better and more effective place that we have one earth you know we have one ocean and we have one space and so it's it's about all of us it's about you know humankind mankind and again this group that group or it's

I am NASA
