

1

00:00:00,000 --> 00:00:12,440

One solution to the mystery of the flying saucers may have been discovered by State Police

2

00:00:12,440 --> 00:00:14,440

at Glenferney, Maryland.

3

00:00:14,440 --> 00:00:20,040

The Air Forces intend to study the design of this cheese box helicopter to see what relation

4

00:00:20,040 --> 00:00:27,120

it may have to the weird saucers which were reported in the skies a couple of years ago.

5

00:00:27,120 --> 00:00:31,920

When covered at the same time, this flying pancake bears an even closer resemblance to

6

00:00:31,920 --> 00:00:34,040

the disc which puzzles the nation.

7

00:00:34,040 --> 00:00:39,840

It was embedded by Jonathan E. Coldwell who has since disappeared.

8

00:00:39,840 --> 00:00:44,680

The test pilot, Willard Brigger, said he ran a 60-second test flight on the Coldwell helicopter

9

00:00:44,680 --> 00:00:47,080

which was damaged in the crash landing.

10

00:00:47,080 --> 00:00:51,280

The big disc was planned to act as a wing after the rotors had built up altitude.

11

00:00:51,280 --> 00:00:54,520

Well, maybe yes and maybe no, but here's evidence.

12

00:00:57,120 --> 00:01:04,120

The test pilot, Willard Brigger, said he ran a 60-second test flight on the Coldwell helicopter

13

00:01:04,120 --> 00:01:07,120

which was damaged in the crash landing.

14

00:01:07,120 --> 00:01:13,120

The test pilot, Willard Brigger, said he ran a 60-second test flight on the Coldwell helicopter

15

00:01:13,120 --> 00:01:16,120

which was damaged in the crash landing.

16

00:01:16,120 --> 00:01:22,120

The test pilot, Willard Brigger, said he ran a 60-second test flight on the Coldwell helicopter

17

00:01:22,120 --> 00:01:25,120

which was damaged in the crash landing.
