Frank Edwards reporting, stay tuned to Mutual for all the news.

11

00:00:46,000 --> 00:00:51,000

The small group of unidentified flying objects which flew over and around Washington, D.C.

12

00:00:51,000 --> 00:00:56,000 on the night of July 19th, 20th, 1952, made headlines all over the world.

00:00:56,000 --> 00:01:02,000

Here was the capital of a great nation, unable to prevent unknown aerial objects moving at will over here.

14

00:01:02,000 --> 00:01:08,000

When jets were finally able to reach the capital after being recalled from some sort of chase over Delaware,

15

00:01:08,000 --> 00:01:10,000

the jets found themselves helpless.

16

00:01:10,000 --> 00:01:16,000

The unidentified flying objects simply streaked away into the darkness and speeds no jets could match.

17

00:01:16,000 --> 00:01:20,000

A few nights later the things were back and this time no jets were set up

18

00:01:20,000 --> 00:01:25,000

because the official policy had been directed at pretending that things do not exist,

19

which was about all that could be done since they easily outflipped the jets.

20

00:01:30,000 --> 00:01:37,000

The man's flights of unidentified flying objects over Washington, D.C. in late July of 1952 made world headlines.

21

00:01:37,000 --> 00:01:43,000

They were variously explained away as temperature inversions, reflections of traffic lights on low clouds,

22

00:01:43,000 --> 00:01:48,000 and other odds and ends that failed to fit the circumstances then or since.

23

00:01:48,000 --> 00:01:53,000

But those sightings brought about a wall of censorship which remains unbroken to this day,

24

00:01:53,000 --> 00:01:56,000

a wall which senators and congressmen find impenetrable.

25

00:01:56,000 --> 00:02:01,000

How tightly that censorship was woven was clearly shown in August of 1952,

26

00:02:01,000 --> 00:02:05,000

just about two weeks after the sightings that had made the headlines.

27

00:02:05,000 --> 00:02:13,000

On the night of August 13, 1952, 68 unidentified flying objects were over the city of Washington, D.C.

28

00:02:13,000 --> 00:02:18,000

They were tracked on radar. They were photographed with some of the special cameras built for that purpose.

29

00:02:18,000 --> 00:02:22,000

They were watched by the pilots of commercial airliners using the national airport.

30

00:02:22,000 --> 00:02:28,000

But the censorship was so tight that not an inkling of the fantastic event ever got into any newspaper.

31

00:02:28,000 --> 00:02:32,000

I was in Washington at the time and I had many excellent contacts

32

00:02:32,000 --> 00:02:36,000

who had been able to provide me with such tips on previous occasions.

33

00:02:36,000 --> 00:02:42,000

But the first I heard of this historic 1952 incident was in October of 1954,

34

00:02:42,000 --> 00:02:46,000

when a high government official gave me a copy of a booklet

35

00:02:46,000 --> 00:02:49,000

compiled and printed by the Civil Aeronautics Administration

36

00:02:49,000 --> 00:02:53,000

for the guidance of radar operators and other selected government personnel, entitled A Study of Unidentified Targets Observed on Air Traffic Control Radar.

37

00:02:53,000 --> 00:02:59,000

38

00:02:59,000 --> 00:03:05,000

It tells the whole dramatic story of that night when the flying saucers swarmed over Washington.

39

00:03:06,000 --> 00:03:14,000

In April of 1958, a dozen chunks of ice came whistling to Earth

40

00:03:14,000 --> 00:03:19,000

and buried themselves in the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Koslowski in Napa, California.

41

00:03:19,000 --> 00:03:22,000

Some of the pieces were 12 inches in diameter.

42

00:03:22,000 --> 00:03:28,000

Experts agreed that it could not have been the thin rime ice that sometimes forms on planes.

43

00:03:28,000 --> 00:03:30,000

There was no explanation for it.

44

00:03:30,000 --> 00:03:36,000

On July 30th, 1957, a farmer named Edwin Groff, who lived near Redding, Pennsylvania, was working in a field near his house when he heard his strange whistling sound.

45

00:03:36,000 --> 00:03:40,000

46

00:03:40,000 --> 00:03:44,000

A moment later, a 50-pound chunk of ice about two feet in diameter

47

00:03:44,000 --> 00:03:48,000

smacked into the field only a short distance from where he stood.

48

00:03:48,000 --> 00:03:49,000

He called his wife.

49

00:03:49,000 --> 00:03:55,000

As they examined the first piece of ice, a second piece, only slightly smaller, came whistling down.

50

00:03:55,000 --> 00:04:00,000

They called the sheriff, the sheriff called the Air Force, the Air Force called a meteorologist,

51

00:04:00,000 --> 00:04:04,000 and he guessed that it might have been carried across country on the jet stream,

52

00:04:04,000 --> 00:04:09,000

that great river of air that flows from west to east around the world.

53

00:04:09,000 --> 00:04:12,000

It was an interesting theory, but it had to be abandoned,

54

00:04:12,000 --> 00:04:17,000

for even the jet stream is incapable of carrying chunks of ice suspended in mid-air.

55

00:04:17,000 --> 00:04:24,000

Not even a plane could drop two such pieces side by side in the same field and intervals of two minutes.

56

00:04:24,000 --> 00:04:29,000

Ed Groff's ice box came flooding down on July 30th, 1957.

57

00:04:29,000 --> 00:04:36,000

On August 14th, more ice came down, this time in even more formidable chunks at Gallin City, Pennsylvania.

58

00:04:36,000 --> 00:04:42,000

And on September 8th, a whopping chunk of ice rolled through the roof of a warehouse in Chester, Pennsylvania,

59

00:04:42,000 --> 00:04:45,000

like the others, defying explanation.

60

00:04:45,000 --> 00:04:48,000

This was not a localized phenomenon by any means.

61

00:04:48,000 --> 00:04:52,000

The British got a sample of it in November 1950, between Devon and Somerset, when out of a clear chilly sky came hundreds of chunks of ice, some of it razor sharp.

62

00:04:52,000 --> 00:04:58,000

63

00:04:58,000 --> 00:05:02,000

Edward Latham called authorities, for some of his sheep had been killed by the ice.

64

00:05:02,000 --> 00:05:07,000

The authorities found a couple of tons of ice scattered around, largely in one field.

65

00:05:07,000 --> 00:05:10,000

They promised to investigate and explain.

66

00:05:10,000 --> 00:05:17,000

Exactly two weeks later, another massive chunk of ice crashed through the roof of a garage in Wandsworth, near London,

67

00:05:17,000 --> 00:05:20,000

and it crashed with such violence that a bomb was reported.

68

00:05:20,000 --> 00:05:24,000

The British Air Ministry investigated and finally reported to Parliament,

69

00:05:24,000 --> 00:05:28,000

this phenomena is one of the biggest mysteries of the century.

70

00:05:33,000 --> 00:05:39,000

The bodies in space are not traveling all in the same direction, so collisions are inevitable.

71

00:05:39,000 --> 00:05:46,000

Only the vastness of the distances and the comparative minuteness of the space bodies reduces the collisions to rarities.

72

00:05:47,000 --> 00:05:55,000

Yet we know that a collision between the Earth and a celestial body much smaller than the Moon would destroy both bodies in a blinding flash,

73

00:05:55,000 --> 00:06:05,000

reducing them to the sort of rubble which now prevails a band of our own solar system, masses of jagged iron and stone tumbling around in orbit between Mars and Jupiter.

74

00:06:05,000 --> 00:06:15,000

By some scholars, it is suspected that these asteroids were once part of a sizable planet which had the misfortune to ram into another celestial body and explode.

75

00:06:15,000 --> 00:06:22,000

Still other students of such matters hold that the asteroids, about 30,000 in number, were never anything but what they are now,

76

00:06:22,000 --> 00:06:26,000

just space junk that failed to form into a unified body.

77

00:06:26,000 --> 00:06:31,000

From time to time the Earth has sustained collisions with fairly large bodies.

78

00:06:31,000 --> 00:06:40,000

The famed meteor crater near Winslow, Arizona is the result of such an accident, which gouged out a hole that's a mile across and 600 feet deep.

79

00:06:40,000 --> 00:06:48,000

Scientists say that it happened between 15 and 20,000 years ago and they estimate the weight of the meteor at 10 million tons.

80

00:06:48,000 --> 00:07:02,000

Evidently it was a cluster of chunks of iron, large and small, and it smashed almost vertically into the desert with such force that it threw blocks of stone weighing 5,000 pounds as much as a mile from the crater.

81

00:07:02,000 --> 00:07:07,000

Since no sizable mass of iron has ever been located in or under the crater itself,

82

00:07:07,000 --> 00:07:13,000

it is probable that the great heat generated by the impact vaporized most of the metal.

83

00:07:13,000 --> 00:07:26,000

Huge and awesome though the Arizona crater is by human standards, the meteor that made it is mere buckshot compared to some of the countless other dark bodies that roam the far reaches of the universe.

84

00:07:26,000 --> 00:07:37,000

We know that unknown bodies capable of destroying the Earth by accidental collision do exist in the universe and that upon occasion they sometimes cross through our own solar system.

85

00:07:37,000 --> 00:07:47,000

But we also know that our chances of being involved in such a collision are very, very small, about like our chances of getting a tax reduction.

86

00:07:47,000 --> 00:08:07,000

The Naval Observatory in Washington picked up fake radio signals from Venus in 1956, the same year that Ohio State University reported receiving signals from Venus which they said closely resembled radio telegraphy in many ways.

87

00:08:07,000 --> 00:08:13,000

Since then we have bounced radar beams off Venus and the Moon with varying degrees of success.

88

00:08:14,000 --> 00:08:28,000

At best these proceedings could afford us little real knowledge of the target itself, but they may have served another purpose, one that we never intended, that of alerting beams somewhere in space to what we are doing.

89

00:08:29,000 --> 00:08:33,000

Now television signals are relatively restricted in their coverage.

90

00:08:33,000 --> 00:08:38,000

A TV station with a coverage radius of 150 miles is a rarity indeed.

91

00:08:38,000 --> 00:08:47,000

So it is understandable that television viewers in England were quite surprised to see on their picture tubes in September 1953.

92

00:08:47,000 --> 00:08:56,000

The station identification card and call letters of television station KLEE in Houston, Texas thousands of miles away.

93

00:08:56,000 --> 00:09:03,000

For several days and short periods each day the signals came in strong. Many viewers photographed the freak reception.

94

00:09:03,000 --> 00:09:11,000

British authorities were queried but they attached little significance to the incident at first since long range television pickups can happen.

95

00:09:11,000 --> 00:09:16,000

But when the British authorities contacted KLEE on the matter they got a real surprise.

96

00:09:16,000 --> 00:09:30,000

For KLEE Houston, Texas had gone off the air in 1950 and the station which succeeded in informing the British that no KLEE identification card had been televised at any time since that date.

97

00:09:30,000 --> 00:09:38,000

The British ruled out the possibility of a hoax because of the excessive cost, the ease of detection and the heavy risk involved.

98

00:09:38,000 --> 00:09:42,000

A spokesman for the British Broadcasting Corporation told Newsman,

99

00:09:42,000 --> 00:09:48,000

the circumstances in this case are in variance with accepted knowledge of television transmission.

100

00:09:48,000 --> 00:09:55,000

It is unthinkable, he said, that these signals could have been circling the earth for the three year period since they were last broadcast.

101

00:09:55,000 --> 00:10:01,000

They could not have been reflected to us from any celestial body at such a vast distance.

102

00:10:01,000 --> 00:10:14,000

That leaves us with but one possibility. However bizarre that these signals were transmitted to us purposefully and intelligently from a source and for a purpose presently unknown.

103

00:10:15,000 --> 00:10:24,000

The day after the shooting, the Soviet observatory published a very fine monthly magazine Sky and Telescope.

104

00:10:24,000 --> 00:10:31,000

In a recent issue it carried a photograph made by an amateur astronomer, who was intrigued by a peculiar formation on the moon.

105

00:10:31,000 --> 00:10:37,000

The photograph shows quite clearly a white cross, the arms of which are of approximately equal length.

106

00:10:37,000 --> 00:10:41,000

It stood out clearly against the darker background of the moon mountains around it.

107

00:10:41,000 --> 00:10:47,000

The magazine ventured the supposition that it might be due to a couple of mountain ridges crossing each other at right angles.

108

00:10:47,000 --> 00:10:52,000

If it is, then it constitutes a geographical oddity for which there is no precedent.

109

00:10:52,000 --> 00:10:56,000

A defiance of the physical laws which govern the formation of mountains.

110

00:10:56,000 --> 00:10:59,000

And if it is not, then what is it?

111

00:10:59,000 --> 00:11:05,000

Or for that matter, what was it that famed astronomer Schroeder saw while observing the lunar alps?

112

00:11:05,000 --> 00:11:12,000

As recorded in popular science, Schroeder says that he first saw a light which he watched for several hours and carefully marked on his map.

113

00:11:12,000 --> 00:11:23,000

Later when that part of the moon was flabbered with sunlight, he found a dark spot or object where the light had been, as though the light itself had been illumination at the bottom of a pit.

114

00:11:23,000 --> 00:11:29,000

The lunar crater Gassendi under certain lighting conditions presents a battling spectacle.

115

00:11:29,000 --> 00:11:35,000

It looks, as many astronomers have noted, like a huge city with clearly defined roadways of immense size.

116

00:11:35,000 --> 00:11:44,000

Roadways running past scores of low rectangular projections that give the appearance of vast buildings neatly laid out in geometrical patterns.

117

00:11:44,000 --> 00:11:51,000

The whole thing is eerie, as though one was getting an aerial view of a city of by and for giants.

118

00:11:51,000 --> 00:12:02,000

In recent years, especially since the middle 1930s, students of the moon have been intrigued by the strange white objects known now as moon domes for what of a better name.

119

00:12:02,000 --> 00:12:09,000

At first they were called hills, but that has been dropped. Domes has replaced it, which may be very fitting.

120

00:12:09,000 --> 00:12:14,000

For a hill is a natural object, and a dome can be either natural or artificial.

121

00:12:14,000 --> 00:12:18,000

These moon domes are generally at the limit of visibility.

122

00:12:18,000 --> 00:12:26,000

Tiny white hemispheres with dark pits at the top. To be seen at all, they must be between 600 and 1000 feet in diameter.

123

00:12:26,000 --> 00:12:33,000

Sometimes they vanish from one place to pop up elsewhere, another in the long series of moon mysteries.

124

00:12:34,000 --> 00:12:40,000

Welcome Chicago to Bombay with ultrasonic speed. K.O. Mutual News reporters cover the world.

125

00:12:40,000 --> 00:12:46,000

Now, from Washington, D.C., here's Frank Edwards reporting for K.O. News Action Center.

126

00:12:46,000 --> 00:12:51,000

A destination and around the world, Mutual News is there when it happens and where it happens.

127

00:12:51,000 --> 00:13:01,000

Hi for a special space science report sponsored by American Red Ball pioneers in the moving industry, providing you with complete peace of mind moving service.

128

00:13:01,000 --> 00:13:06,000

Now the news. $25,000 reward offered for Little Rock bombers.

129

00:13:06,000 --> 00:13:10,000

Senate moves to extend Civil Rights Commission despite bitter Southern opposition.

130

00:13:10,000 --> 00:13:15,000

House passes public works measure similar to those already vetoed.

131

00:13:15,000 --> 00:13:24,000

Stock market drops $5 billion today. Jamaica hires professional rain makers to combat the worst drop in 100 years.

132

00:13:24,000 --> 00:13:26,000

Now for my special report.

133

00:13:30,000 --> 00:13:35,000

The long list of oddities that fall from the sky are so varied that they are almost unbelievable.

134

00:13:35,000 --> 00:13:38,000

Take the experience of William Shannon and George Brins made.

135

00:13:38,000 --> 00:13:44,000

Professional illustrators who were driving to work at the RCA service company in Alexandria, Virginia.

136

00:13:44,000 --> 00:13:56,000

As they spent along the smooth Mount Vernon highway near the nation's capital that morning, all of a sudden there came a crash, a hole in the windshield and a frozen fish 10 inches long on the floor of the car.

137

00:13:56,000 --> 00:14:03,000

It had come straight down like a bomb with such velocity that it had knocked a whole a foot square in the shatterproof windshield.

138

00:14:03,000 --> 00:14:07,000

There were no cars around, no airplanes and no explanations.

139

00:14:07,000 --> 00:14:14,000

Just the frozen fish, the broken windshield and two badly rattled artists who promptly drove right back home for the day.

140

00:14:14,000 --> 00:14:24,000

Having been taught that the sky does not contain fish, frozen or otherwise, we are understandably reluctant to accept such incidents at face value.

141

00:14:24,000 --> 00:14:33,000

Yet we must remember that even as late as 18005 professional astronomers refused to accept the reality of stones that fell from the sky.

142

00:14:33,000 --> 00:14:37,000

Objects now commonly known as meteorites.

143

00:14:37,000 --> 00:14:43,000

The astronomers said there were no stones in the sky, therefore no stones could fall from the sky.

144

00:14:43,000 --> 00:14:52,000

But they did fall and it remained for the famed French physicist and academician, B.O., to open the eyes of his fellow scientists.

145

00:14:52,000 --> 00:15:01,000

B.O. examined the fall of stones and confirmed that they had indeed come from the skies, just as the ignorant peasants had been reporting for centuries.

146

00:15:01,000 --> 00:15:12,000

In 1921, pieces of shiny white mud came tinkling down in Portland, Oregon, accompanied by sizeable chunks of ice, all of it falling into an area about 100 feet square.

147

00:15:12,000 --> 00:15:15,000

But where it came from, nobody knows.

148

00:15:15,000 --> 00:15:25,000

Hundreds of pounds of shredded flesh fell on the property of an amazed and annoyed rancher named Hudson, who lived in Los Nacitos Township, California, on August 9th, 1869.

149

00:15:25,000 --> 00:15:32,000

The flesh was in very thin strips and flakes, ranging from the size of a dollar to the size of a man's hand.

150

00:15:32,000 --> 00:15:40,000

Investigators noted that it had fine black bristles on one edge, but they could offer no explanation as to where it had come from.

151

00:15:40,000 --> 00:15:47,000

We have hardly scratched the surface of the astounding list of items that have fallen and continue to fall from the skies.

152

00:15:47,000 --> 00:15:52,000

Unable to explain them, science does the next best thing, it ignores them.

153

00:15:52,000 --> 00:16:18,000

All of your possessions will arrive safely when American Red Ball gets the call.

154

00:16:18,000 --> 00:16:27,000

You see, American Red Ball offers you certified performance, your guarantee in writing that every item will arrive at its new destination in perfect condition.

155

00:16:27,000 --> 00:16:32,000

Now only American Red Ball offers you this certified performance.

156

00:16:32,000 --> 00:16:37,000

So for real peace of mind on moving day, move the American Red Ball away.

157

00:16:37,000 --> 00:16:42,000

Your local American Red Ball agent is an expert capable of solving any moving problem.

158

00:16:42,000 --> 00:16:46,000

You'll find him listed in the yellow pages of your telephone book.

159

00:16:46,000 --> 00:16:52,000

For a peace of mind on moving day, make sure American Red Ball gets the call.

160

00:16:52,000 --> 00:16:56,000

On Thursday at this time I'll present another report on how their space.

161

00:16:56,000 --> 00:17:02,000

This program has been brought to you by American Red Ball and your local American Red Ball agent.

162

00:17:02,000 --> 00:17:08,000

From Chicago to Bombay with ultrasonic speed, KL Mutual News reporters cover the world.

163

00:17:08,000 --> 00:17:14,000

Now from Washington D.C. here's Frank Edwards reporting for KL News Action Center.

164

00:17:14,000 --> 00:17:19,000

A destination and around the world Mutual News is there when it happens and where it happens.

165

00:17:19,000 --> 00:17:29,000

A special space science report sponsored by American Red Ball pioneers in the moving industry, providing you with complete peace of mind moving service.

166

00:17:29,000 --> 00:17:31,000

Now the news.

167

00:17:31,000 --> 00:17:37,000

Here's Lawrence Admiral Rickover, six injured in gas blast as it rips Denver Business Building.

168

00:17:37,000 --> 00:17:41,000

House moves toward approval of higher interest rates on government savings bonds.

169

00:17:41,000 --> 00:17:45,000

Senator Morse denounces labor bill in four hours speech.

170

00:17:45,000 --> 00:17:47,000

Senate vote expected tomorrow.

171

00:17:47,000 --> 00:17:49,000

Now for a special report.

172

00:17:49,000 --> 00:17:56,000

Is there life on the moon?

173

00:17:56,000 --> 00:18:05,000

You will notice that the Russian and American moon rockets both under radio control veered off course so that they missed the moon completely.

174

00:18:05,000 --> 00:18:12,000

Since the president's own specialist advisors had urged him to see that our rockets did not strike the moon,

175

00:18:12,000 --> 00:18:19,000

it was a course of our moon rocket by radio so that the Russian rocket deliberately missed the lunar horn.

176

00:18:19,000 --> 00:18:21,000

There's sudden interest in the moon.

177

00:18:21,000 --> 00:18:25,000

What evidence do we have that there might be sentient beings there?

178

00:18:25,000 --> 00:18:27,000

Let's look at the record.

179

00:18:27,000 --> 00:18:29,000

It is a long and voluminous record.

180

00:18:29,000 --> 00:18:36,000

Among other things, the countless lights which have appeared on the moon and which are still seen there from time to time.

181

00:18:36,000 --> 00:18:38,000

In 1869 there was a right.

182

00:18:38,000 --> 00:18:46,000

Each of the lights appeared on the dark portion of the moon, all times in geometric patterns, circles, triangles, squares and straight lines,

183

00:18:46,000 --> 00:18:50,000 and with varying intensities though they were under intelligent control.

184

00:18:50,000 --> 00:18:55,000

The flood of reports resulted in action by the Royal Astronomical Society, which asked all its members to join in a three-year program charting and reporting these lights in the hope that their meeting, if they were signals, might be reduced.

185

00:18:55,000 --> 00:19:06,000

186

00:19:06,000 --> 00:19:08,000

The lights are still with us.

187

00:19:08,000 --> 00:19:16,000

In 1935 the craters Aristarchus and Copernicus were flooded with a weird glow long before sunrise on the moon.

188

00:19:16,000 --> 00:19:21,000

In 1941 there was the bright specks seen moving into the crater descending.

189

00:19:21,000 --> 00:19:27,000

In 1945 astronomers watched three very bright lights on the wall of the crater Darwin.

190

00:19:27,000 --> 00:19:33,000

In November 1958 observers reported that half the darkness in the crater Alpetraeus

191

00:19:33,000 --> 00:19:39,000

was suddenly replaced by a glow of soft light as though great floodlights had been turned on.

192

00:19:39,000 --> 00:19:45,000

Baffling, too, are the ubiquitous white domes which have been charted on the moon since 1930.

193

00:19:45,000 --> 00:19:48,000

After 1945 their numbers grew rapidly.

194

00:19:48,000 --> 00:19:54,000

They are especially numerous in the region of Aragno, the Prince Mountains and Oceanus prosolarum.

195

00:19:54,000 --> 00:20:08,000

Through telescopes the domes look like shiny white plastic bubbles, varying in size from about 600 feet in diameter up to some that from time to time clusters of them vanish only to crop up again in a new location.

196

00:20:08,000 --> 00:20:19,000

In 1959 on the top side as the research and development said, we must approach the moon with caution, for we may find intelligent opposition there.

197

00:20:19,000 --> 00:20:45,000

All of your possessions will arrive safely when American Red Ball gets the call.

198

00:20:45,000 --> 00:20:54,000

You see American Red Ball offers you certified performance, your guarantee in writing that every item will arrive at its new destination in perfect condition.

199

00:20:54,000 --> 00:20:59,000

Now only American Red Ball offers you this certified performance.

200

00:20:59,000 --> 00:21:04,000

So for real peace of mind on moving day, move the American Red Ball away.

201

00:21:04,000 --> 00:21:09,000

Your local American Red Ball agent is an expert capable of solving any moving problem.

202

00:21:09,000 --> 00:21:13,000

You'll find him listed in the yellow pages of your telephone book.

203

00:21:13,000 --> 00:21:19,000

For a peace of mind on moving day, make sure American Red Ball gets the call.

204

00:21:19,000 --> 00:21:23,000

On Thursday at this time I'll present another report on how their space.

205

00:21:23,000 --> 00:21:29,000

This program has been brought to you by American Red Ball and your local American Red Ball agent.
