

MANY people claim to have had contact with weird beings from outer space. Some even say they have been abducted and taken aboard "flying saucers".

These stories of close encounters of the third kind are bizarre. Even devoted ufologists — experts in the phenomenon — sometimes doubt them.

But some people stick to their stories.

Even when ridicule has been heaped on them. Even when interest in the incident has waned.

Sometimes there is a nagging feeling that what these people are saying might just be true.

In Part Three of this exciting series, REVUE looks at the strange and bizarre stories that seem to defy any real answer.

● Stephen Darblsher, 13, made this drawing of the "flying saucers" he saw. Photographs taken at the time bore an uncanny resemblance to them.

VANISHED . . .