

Proof: Aliens from planet Jupiter visit woman on Earth

MYSTERIOUS aliens from beyond Jupiter have been visiting Earth on a top secret mission, says a psychic author who met with them many times.

The tall, handsome, cinnamon-colored aliens left a bizarre scroll and some eerie blue dust with Elgar Brom of McKeesport, Pa.

And when she asked them why they had come to Earth, they answered with a puzzling riddle.

"It must dawn upon you bit by bit lest it frighten you to panic," they told her.

They visited her over 40 times, and Brom says they chose her because her mind was open and she has always been psychic.

Proved

Now she's hoping to get the scroll translated by an expert, since it is written in five ancient Earth languages.

"A special test already proved it was written by one man very quickly in one sitting, which would eliminate the possibility of anyone going to the library and looking up the words in books," she explained.

And the odd blue dust, which the aliens called "sagasha," has been found to contain all the substances needed to create life in outer space, according to Brom.

"Many times I told them this was a lot of nonsense, but they just laughed. They knew I'd be back for more," she said.

And whenever Brom tried to question them, they gave her baffling replies.

"I asked them if they had a savior and they said that they were knowers, not believers," said Brom.

Their presence in Brom's kitchen threw the entire house into a commotion.

"They brought a lot of equipment with them and every one of my electrical appliances began to roar," said Brom.

The aliens wore skin-tight uniforms with wide belts and the insignias on their belt buckles apparently indicated their rank.

Although she has not had recent contact with them, she is aware of their presence.

"I haven't been left alone. They have a number of ways to check on you," said Brom.

She has never requested any encounters with them, but says the aliens visit her on their own initiative.

And although they refuse to discuss their purposes with her, Brom has her own theories about it.

"They want us to be aware of them. I think it's the Revelation being worked out, and they're trying to bring the message again. We must keep an open mind and realize there are things we know nothing about," she said.

Prophet

The aliens and their ships coincide exactly with the biblical prophet Ezekiel's mysterious vision of "four creatures sparkling like burnished bronze," who came from "wheels within wheels that had rims and spokes, and their rings were full of eyes round about."

"I think the Bible was written about their first visits here. They have such a sense of wisdom that it could have come only with great age," said Brom.

More and more Christians are seriously considering the possibility of a link between Revelation and old-age reports of alien visitors.

Rev. Robert O'Donnell of Los Angeles, agrees there may be a connection.

"When I read the Scriptures, I find more and more passages that just can't be explained in any other way except by the presence of aliens.

"It seems clear to me they're God's messengers."

Mr. O'Donnell is a minister in Venice, Calif.
