

Guard 'held prisoner

A NIGHT security guard claims he has been twice kidnapped by tall, green, shining spacemen.

And now a court has ordered police to investigate the unearthly problem of deciding whether flying saucers exist.

If the ruling is against spacemen, then Fortunato Zanfretta, 37, is poised on the edge of an experience of the confining kind ... a jail sentence.

Claim

Fortunato—his name means lucky — was found in a field outside Genoa. He was "stunned and apparently beaten up."

Later police rushed to the lonely spot again. Fortunato was firing a gun wildly in the air.

Fortunato claims that he was twice taken into a flying saucer for three hours.

Police, who have been sent on the UFO trail by Genoa's public prosecutor Dr Rodolfo Sciacuga, said yesterday:

"If the court rules that he was snatched by creatures who arrived aboard a flying saucer we will bring a kidnapping charge against 'persons unknown.'

"But if it decides he invented the story he will be charged with faking a crime."
