

What a beastly sight!

ANIMALS can sense when an Unidentified Flying Object is around—even before their owners see it, according to a leading American astrophysicist.

Dr. Harold Heaton, of John Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory in Laurel, Maryland, says: "In many cases I investigated animals exhibited extreme fear and reacted violently when UFOs were about. It was uncanny."

In one case, a policeman, called to a farm after a

UFO report, could see nothing at first. Then horses became agitated, neighing and kicking.

Dogs started to howl—and it was only then that the policeman, Eugene Bertrand of Exeter, New Hampshire, saw the UFO hovering above.

On another occasion, a bull at Cherry Creek, New York, began stamping and snorting.

When the farmer went to investigate, he saw a silver disc floating in the sky nearby.
