

Outsider unplaced

MEN from outer space having failed to land on Earth in the past year, one English punter is £1,000 out of pocket. He walked into a Ladbroke's office in London 12 months ago and bet that an 'intelligent, extra-terrestrial life force capable of communication' would land or crash on Earth alive or dead during the year. Ladbroke's say they take about £30,000 a year in 'aliens' bets.

D. MAIL

23 JUNE 1987

BH