Riddle of 'E.T.' in cornfield

UFO EXPERTS believe they may have found the landing pad of a giant spaceship.

Five perfectly circular patches of flattened corn appeared overnight in a field near Westbury, Wilts.

There were no tracks leading to the flattened areas and no links between them.

It is the third year running that farmers have found similar mysterious circles at this time of the year.

Farmer Stan Painter, who found the circles, said yesterday: "I don't understand it. The circles are so evenly spaced."

Mr Painter's farm is only five miles from the so-called "Warminster triangle," an area where there have been an average of two UFO sightings a week during recent years.
