

PHE

YOU EXPRESS YOUR VIEWS

The mystery circles of Westbury... man-made?

● IT'S quite easy to make holes in a corn field, like your "Westbury Holes."

For a 50ft hole, one needs a 25ft pole (aluminium for lightness and sectioned for ease of transport). Screw a spike in the ground where the centre of the circle should be, fix the pole to it at one end and walk round; the pole flattens all in its path.

The smaller circles could be done likewise with a short section of the main pole.

Could it be that someone is having a field day getting everyone going round in circles?

M. G. ALVIN,
Maldstone, Kent.

● We don't think that the mystery circles of Wiltshire were made by UFOs.

They are due to people playing tiddlywinks at night using fluorescent tiddles—hence the apparent increased sighting of UFOs.

OFFICE WORKERS,
Irchester, Northants.

● COULD It be that the mystery circles in cornfields are evidence of Stone

Getting us going in flying circles

Age camps or burial chambers?

In the recent hot spell the ground above these hypothetical artefacts could have become hotter than the surrounding area and caused small spiral rising air currents which have flattened the corn.

D. CATER,
Barton-on-Sea, Hants.

● YOUR Page One picture of "ET's landing field" in Westbury was the wrong way up. Turned the right way up it distinctly shows the Daily Express's roving reporter with a lawnmower tucked under his arm.

C. P. HAYDEN,
Goring-by-Sea, Sussex.