The shocking incident government officials couldn't cover up!

An undercover UFO investigator has revealed the existence of a top-secret report describing an attack made by U.S. Air Force jets on a prowling UFO. 'The hushed-up account of the jet attack exposes their lies,' says Kathleen Sherwood, after conducting the probe.

GIGANTIC UFO BLASTED BY AIR FORCE JET

A U.S. Air Force jet fighter, armed with deadly air-to-air missiles, fired on a glowing UFO making low-level flights over top-secret military bases in England!

And despite being armed with the most sophisticated guidance system in the world, the computer-controlled, heat-seeking missile missed — or was destroyed by — its intended target.

Those are the startling facts contained in a closely guarded "eyes only" Air Force report that was accidentally shown to an undercover UFO investigator.

The area where the incredible air attack took place is so vital to the NATO defense system that it was omitted from the text of the otherwise detailed report.

And now, British and American government officials have thrown up a ...ce about the attack, refus... ...nfirm or deny that USAF ...ere scrambled to inter... ...ntruder.

... story over and ...O investigator ... The NEWS. ...rs as well ...FOs we know is a reality — UFOs do exist.

"The hushed-up account of the jet attack exposes their lies. A radar site did, in fact, pick up a massive craft flying at more than 700 m.p.h. It slowed to 100 m.p.h. and two F-86s were scrambled to intercept the craft."

The report states that one jet closed on the UFO at about 3,000 feet. But the alien craft started to pull away. The jet, however, managed to get within 500 yards of the mysterious intruder and the pilot made visual contact.

"The huge craft was definitely saucer-shaped," the unidentified pilot said in the report. "The target began to speed off and I followed in pursuit, but began to lag.

"When the target range reached 1,000 yards, I armed my (missile) system, locked in and fired in an attempt to down the target. When the missile exploded, I thought I had scored (a hit). But then I saw the craft speed off as though nothing had happened."

Although British and American officials adamantly deny the attack — or of any UFO sightings in England — hundreds of Britains did report seeing a fiery spacecraft streaking across the sky that night.

Among them were British radio commentator David Jacobs and political figure Shirley Williams. Both saw the UFO as they drove on a highway in Leicestershire.

"When I first saw the UFO I said, 'My goodness! That's impossible,'" Jacobs recalled. "It was extraordinary. I've never seen anything move at such incredible speed.

"I was looking out the car window when suddenly a brilliant, blazing light just shot across the sky about 300 feet off the ground. It had a shimmering tail, but there was no way it could have been a shooting star.

"It passed level to the ground from left to right. Then it just vanished in the distance."
