

UFO other beers can't reach

THE beer that reaches the parts other beers cannot reach terrorised villagers who thought they'd seen a UFO.

The villager, in Aberbagoed, Gwent, panicked when a mysterious brightly lit object lit up the night sky above their homes.

One said: "I saw a large dome-shaped object hovering in the sky. A very bright light seemed to be flashing from the windows as it moved from side to side."

The Civil Aviation authority was alerted and the police were called in.

But the culprit turned out to be an eight-foot high Heineken lager advert picked out by computer-controlled light, trailing behind a plane. AM
