

LETTERS EXTRA

'Silly' group label out of tune

THE meeting, on U.F.O.'s — The Facts, by The Aetherius Society turned out to be a tremendous success. We had a capacity audience of more than 100 people.

Judging by the lively question and answer session which followed I feel I should point out to you that the attitude expressed in your headline about this meeting is not only irresponsible but it shows that Bristol Journal is grossly out of tune with its readership and out of step with the times.

No matter what you may think, we believe that Flying Saucers, U.F.O.'s, are here to stay.

They are real.

They are friendly.

They have come to help bring peace to this trouble stricken world. And, according to our opinion poll, one in seven of Bristolians have seen them!

Barmy fanatics

WELL done to the Journal for bringing to light yet another group of nut-cases. Bristol's barmy UFO fanatics The Aetherius Society are the latest.

We all know that we are the only planet in this universe that is inhabited.

Even the stars were put there as an after thought (Genesis 16 "he made the stars also").

These people must join the long list of other nut-cases such as those who thought the earth revolved around the sun.

Maybe the Aetherius Society in their quest to find their UFO will fall off the edge of the Earth!

Poor service

I WAS disgusted to see my picture, with my colleagues in the Aetherius Society in last week's edition of your paper. The caption was "The Silly Society"!

Fortunately some members of the public were unimpressed by your ridiculous article, as our meeting was crowded with people who treated the subject of flying saucers with the seriousness it deserves.

You are giving a poor service to your readers with such misleading nonsense.

Meet the silly society

BRISTOL'S barmy UFO fanatics — the Aetherius Society — claimed this week that aliens from outer space saved the world from the full effects of the Chernobyl disaster.

And they are hoping up to 100 Bristolians will turn up at a special meeting tomorrow to hear how the "cosmic intelligences" communicate with the society's leader, His Eminence "Archbishop" Sir George King.

The city's 25 Aetherius members bizarre beliefs include:

- * They can cure Aids and cancer without seeing or touching the patient.
- * Their leader receives exclusive messages from outer space in English.
