

REVELATIONS . . . Rev Logan

VICAR SAYS HE'S SEEN THE LIGHT

A PO-FACED priest, who previously laughed at reports of beings from outer space, claims he has seen the light since he had an amazing close encounter.

Now crackpot cleric, the Rev Jeffrey Scrivener, can't wait for the day that aliens drop in for a chat and ask: "More tea vicar?"

"I'm convinced my experience is just the start of something big," said the minister whose sighting of a UFO has left him hot under the dog collar.

"I've got this feeling that they know they can communicate with me and I'm waiting for the day they'll drop by for tea and a chat," he said.

The space-mad man of the cloth became convinced that extra-terrestrials DO exist after his sixth sighting of a UFO.

Looking out from the garden of his hilltop home in Wickhambrook, Suffolk, God's galatic envoy claims he saw a bright white light

FUN

BOMB squad men found the 'grenade' they'd removed from a Derbyshire tip was cigarette lighter.

SPOT

He said the sightings are a warning to society. Some practice what they preach, but many in the Church itself.

Rev Logan, who has performed dozens of exorcisms, claimed "Lots of our churches are already infested."

"With old-fashioned ministers and bishops, we are facing one hell of a battle against these evil forces at work, we are facing one hell of a battle."

He believes more than 1,000 of his parishioners are

John's Church, which was burned, Lancashire, has been dabbling with the occult.

And he's so obsessed with the occult that he fears that the North East of England is in the grip of a 'natural warfare' he has published the allegations in a church magazine.

Rev Logan, 45, claims that more than two dozen people who have been exorcised for him while he spent nine months investigating. "Satanism have all suffered a horrifying evil backlash."

"Two people suddenly developed cancer and another has already died from the disease," he said.

"The rest have experienced severe marital and heartbreaking relationship problems."

"I warned them about it."

Doubting reverend converted which hung above him in the sky.

"Then, without warning it shot off across the sky at such a speed. I've no idea how fast it went, but I've never seen anything that could match it."

Mr Scrivener, a well known faith healer, reported his sighting to four local air bases and two airports.

All denied they had craft in the area at the time.

His story is currently being investigated by the British UFO Research Association.

In tent

SEA Scout Martin Louns has given up the attempt to be the world's top camper . . . after spending six months under canvas.

For Martin, 13, from Derbyshire, has discovered he's SEVEN YEARS short of the title.

"I got used to the owls hooting and I could not stick it until I'm 20," he said.

Sunday Spot 20/3/88