

MUM GIVES BIRTH TO AN 8lb TROUT!

EXCLUSIVE By RUKI SAYID

A YOUNG mum, who reckons she was bonked by a fish-faced alien, is terrified she will give birth to a healthy trout.

Doctors have already confirmed her scaly lover's child has gills behind its ears, a pouting mouth and two hearts.

Stunned medics, who were shocked by scans of the pregnant woman, revealed her outer space baby looks more like a baby trout swimming around her womb than a human foetus with arms and legs.

Now they're not sure whether it will need an aquarium or a cot when it's born in July.

"It's totally unlike anything I have ever seen," said top doctor Rolf Ahlqvist.

"The baby is half human and half extra-terrestrial. It's frightening and incredible — but true."

UFO experts believe the 32-year old woman was seduced by a slimy spaceman when randy trouts from outer space landed in Sweden in November.

Leading European researcher Jan van der Hoer revealed that ET watchers logged a sudden surge in

*It's a ...
Wacky
World*

alien activity near the unnamed mum-to-be's home around the time she conceived.

"It is possible that she was somehow rendered unconscious by the alien father and impregnated at that time," added Dr Ahlqvist.

The stunned woman, who is carrying the half-fish, half-Swede, already has two normal children and is married to a computer engineer.