ALIENS WOMAN MISSING

A FRIGHTENED secretary has vanished a day after claiming she had an encounter with aliens.

Jackie Smith, 39, disappeared leaving her first month's wages from a new job untouched and furniture at a new house unpacked.

She was reported missing at the weekend two weeks after she vanished, by a distant aunt, her only relative.

Her boss Andy Egan has hired a UFO investigator to find her.

Jackie, of Warrington, Cheshire, had arrived at work in a panic after her alleged encounter, he said yesterday.

She said green men got into her car which was whisked into the air. The next she remembered was waking up and finding blue dots on her ankles.

Andy, 25, said: "It may sound like a joke but it most certainly isn't. She turned up at the office in a hell of a panic."

UFO expert Jenny Randles said: "People have been known to experience the same sort of encounter as Jackie.

"The blue dots are a classic sign of alien presence. Jackie may now be hiding somewhere terrified that they will come back and get her."
