And the conclusion was that they were USAF tankers with other aircraft flying in formation.

Bill tells me: "A few weeks ago, I saw a large group of aircraft pass over in much the same pattern as a batch did just before Christmas.

"But this lot came over in daylight at a fair height. There was the same sound as before, but I did not see any lights this time."

Bill also enclosed a drawing showing the tanker aircraft and 15 others flying in formation.
