

— One evening in July my nephew and I came across what we believed to be an unidentified flying object. It was in a remote part of the country park at Shorne.

My nephew was about to take a photograph of me and his dog, when the dog suddenly started barking at something. Thinking it to be another dog we turned around to be confronted with the object in the photo.

If you have any doubt about the photograph's credibility, perhaps you could obtain access to photographic experts to prove it is not a hoax.
