Her seducer was from outer space!

by JOHN WILSON

A NEW Zealand woman claims she's pregnant to a Martian!

That's the wacky tale in the mass-circulating American paper Weekend — a publication in a stable of newspapers and magazines which prints zany stories like a World War II bomber landing on the dark side of the moon and Hitler Was A Woman.

The so-called pregnant Kiwi woman, identified only as Barbara X, told the paper the alien had sex with her after he landed in her backyard.

Barbara X says the alien told her he was from Mars.

He rendered her unconscious after tapping her on the shoulder, then had his way with her, she says.

Before she passed out Barbara noted her seducer was "a grossly misshapen identity" who "smelled strange".

Nor was there any foreplay in the lead-up to the seduction. Perhaps that was because the Martian had already come a long way.

He didn't waste any time but apparently was effective for Barbara X says she now thinks she's carrying the Martian's love child.

But as nothing is known about the gestation habits of such inter-planetary visitors, it's impossible to accurately guess when the little "creature" might arrive — if at all. Or, if it does, what it will look like.

Barbara X is identified by Weekend as the companion and research assistant of "New Zealand UFO investigator John Stewart".

But inquiries have failed to locate the couple.

(John Wilson tends to grossly exaggerate the "truth" - I wouldn't put the slightest bit of stock in this story).
