THE 10ft-tall aliens reported by Tass in the city of Voronezh made a boy disappear, according to a Soviet daily yesterday — but the scientist quoted earlier as confirming the appearance of the UFO has poured cold water on the story.

Yesterday Sovetskaya Kultura quoted witnesses as saying that one of the aliens pointed an 18-inch tube at a 16-year-old boy, and the boy disappeared. When the aliens' UFO took off, the boy reappeared.

The head of the Voronezh Geophysical Laboratory threw cold water on a Tass report quoting him as saying the aliens left behind two pieces of rock that cannot be found on Earth. "The rock they described as extraterrestrial is in fact a piece [of iron ore] which could easily have originated on Earth. Don't believe all you hear from Tass. We never gave them part of what they published," said Mr Genrikh Silanov.
