

ALIENS ON A SPREE

Americans think they're here to do their shopping

IF YOU go down to the supermarket today you COULD be in for a big surprise . . .

Some of your fellow-shoppers might turn out to be EXTRA-TERRESTRIALS!

Close Encounters of the William Low Kind are documented in an American magazine, UFO Universe.

It says aliens from a far-off planet - Lanulos by name - are walking the earth . . . IN SEARCH OF SHOPPING BARGAINS.

The magazine claims the aliens can easily be spotted as they push their trolleys by their Paul Newman eyes and lack of fingerprints.

The report comes hard on the heels of the news that aliens have landed in the Soviet Union.

The normally strait-laced Soviet news agency Tass this week announced the visit of 12-foot tall visitors from outer space with tiny heads.

The beings who invaded a park 300 miles south of Moscow had three eyes and carried zap-guns.

SECRET

The American ET-spotters say 500 aliens are already on earth. They have told how:

● A NURSE, who confronted aliens leaving a huge spacecraft, later saw them bargain-hunting in the local high street.

● A MYSTERY woman bolted out of a supermarket, leaving all her groceries at the till . . . after an investigator publicly identified her as a spacewoman.

● SCORES of highly-intelligent aliens, codenamed The Group, have set up nearly 20 secret bases on our planet . . . close to their favourite shops.

Dallas-based Bertie Catchings, a leading UFOlogist, told UFO Universe: "The aliens disguise themselves to look as normal as possible.

"The startling thing is that some of your best friends could be from another planet and you would never know it."

In Britain William Hill's have slashed their odds on a Government minister acknowledging the existence of extra-terrestrials from 500-1 to 300-1.

Scotland's most celebrated close encounter was 10 years ago.

Forestry worker Bob Taylor claimed a spacecraft landed near him at Dechmont, in West Lothian. Two figures dragged him into a 20-foot high craft, shaped like a spinning top.

Meanwhile, who's going down to the supermarket . . . for a Mars bar, a Milky Way or a Galaxy?
