

PIXILATED

It's a fairy cop for tipsy Nicky

STAR REPORTER

ONCE upon a time two policemen were pounding the beat when they saw — a PIXIE!

They shook their heads in disbelief at the elfin figure sitting behind the wheel of a parked car waving a balloon.

But it turned into a fairy cop when they went to investigate... for they soon realised the pixie was PIXILATED. That's tiddly for short.

The intoxicated elf turned out to be disabled insurance clerk Nichola Kelly, 27, who had been to a fancy dress party.

Yesterday muscular dystrophy sufferer Nichola admitted being in charge of a car while over the limit.

Terrible

But it ended happily ever after for her when magistrates decided not to ban her because of her walking problems. She was fined £300.

John Hughes, defending, said: "Because of her illness she cannot walk for more than 250 yards.

"If she lost her licence it would be a terrible punishment.

"There is also a possibility she would lose her job."
