UFO group probes into mysteries from space

UNIDENTIFIED flying objects hovered over a half-day Blackpool conference on the subject.

The event, the second to be organised by the Fylde UFO Investigation Group, brought together almost 120 people, most of them from the North-West.

The attendance pleased and encouraged group president Joseph Dormer. "I am delighted — it has fulfilled our hopes and expectations. We will certainly have one again next year," he said.

In the Strand Restaurant, opposite North Pier, they were addressed by four of the country's leading researchers on topics ranging from reported abductions by UFOs to developments in trying to pinpoint the source of sightings.

The conference is over but the UFO investigators' probe goes on — and Mr Dormer would like anyone interested or with sightings to phone on the group's hotline: Blackpool 56821.
