

29 NOV 1989

SKY MYSTERY

2374
IT SEEMS nobody else saw the red cylindrical shape that hovered above me at Maidencombe last week. But several readers were quick to tell of seeing similar objects in South Devon skies.

Others just rang to talk about it and gratifyingly, believed me.

But not all. One woman who must have an equally low opinion of journalists and my eyesight, suggested it was her young son out with his ballon.