

Author

Subscribe to our notifications for the latest news and updates.
You can disable anytime.

Later

Subscribe

By:
Luca Ciferri

October 17, 2007 05:00 AM

TURIN, Italy – Toyota Motor Corp. says it will strengthen its efforts to get design patents for its models in worldwide markets. The decision comes after the Jonway UFO, a China-built crossover that closely resembles the second-generation RAV4, went on sale in Europe.

Already a subscriber? LoginLogin

Continue reading by subscribing to Automotive News!

Subscribe TodaySubscribe TodayGet a Corporate PlanGet a Corporate Plan

View all subscription optionsView all subscription options

Already a subscriber? LoginLogin

View all subscription optionsView all subscription options

Image

Image
Image

Image

Staying current is easy with newsletters delivered straight to your inbox.

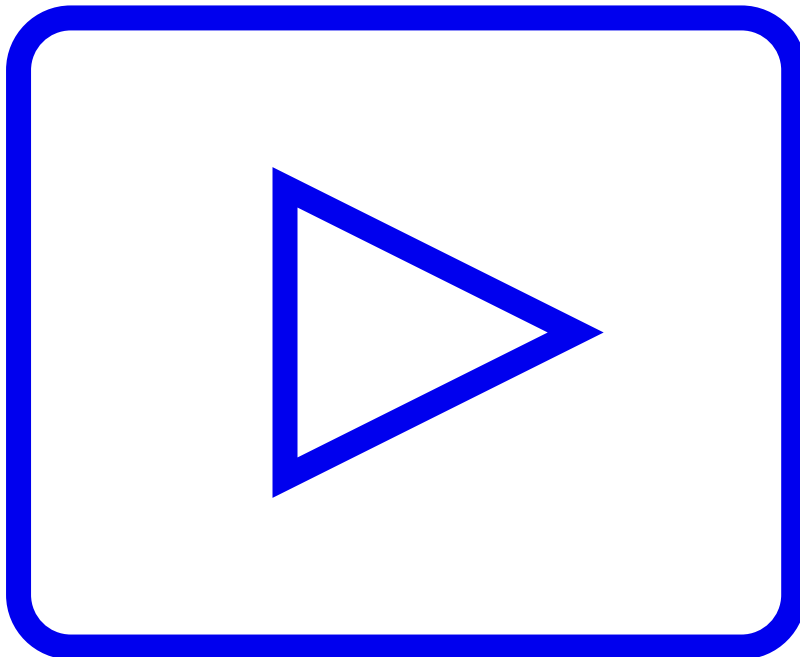

Footer

- SubscribeSubscribe
- About UsAbout Us
- AdvertiseAdvertise
- Job BoardJob Board

- Ad ChoicesAd Choices
- Privacy PolicyPrivacy Policy
- Terms and ConditionsTerms and Conditions

Follow us on:

- Facebook
- X
- LinkedIn
- Instagram

YouTube

Return to homepage

Accept All Decline All Manage Settings

Privacy Policy

Powered by: TrustArc

