

CRATER STILL A MYSTERY

THE object found in the crater at Charlton, Wiltshire, was not a meteorite. Mr. J. B. Godber, Secretary for War, told the Commons yesterday it appeared to be just a piece of local rock—and it did not cause the crater.

Then what did? The Army bomb disposal team had not found any conclusive evidence on the subject, Mr. Godber said.