

My flying saucer secret —air chief

Air-Marshal Sir Victor Goddard whose true-life air drama, The Night My Number Came Up, became a classic film, is to tell "some secrets" about Unidentified Flying Objects on Saturday.

After 23 years investigating flying saucers, Sir Victor has promised to uncover "certain unrevealed aspects" to a meeting of Contact, the International Society of UFO followers.

Members of the society believe Sir Victor will reveal information he learned when he was in Washington for the RAF in the mid-40s—when the U.S. Air Force first began investigating reports of flying saucers.

Sir Victor, who retired from the RAF in 1951, said at his Brasted, Kent, home: "I think people have been misled over this subject.

Did he really learn something in 1946 which has never been made public?

"There was something which did not come to light. Beyond that I am not prepared to say any more at this stage. It is for the people at the meeting to hear the story first."

The meeting is at Caxton Hall beginning at 7.30 p.m.
