THEY'RE

Steve Balon... he's probed 800 sightings

CREATURES from Outer Space are ALREADY on Earth, a top UFO investigator claims.

The aliens have spent years observing us from the skies, says Steve Balon.

Now they have become confident enough to land—and are taking their first faltering steps on our planet.

To back up his amazing claims, Steve has handed over this sketch of a space visitor to The Star—the paper that's light years ahead.

The "identikit" is based on hundreds of reported sightings nationwide which Steve has carefully logged on his computer.

It was drawn up with other experts after painstakingly assessing all characteristics mentioned.

And it fits in exactly with one sighting of an alien taking tentative steps along a footpath in Rainhill, Liverpool.

The seven-foot tall creature was clad in a brilliant, one-piece silver suit, with no visible seams or openings.

The large, dome-shaped head had no face, but the chest was awash with light from two piercingly sharp laser beams.

The feet were like oblong blocks, with each leg stretching out over 10 or 15 seconds before the other followed.

Bookies cut UFO odds

BOOKIES were besieged by UFO believers yesterday—betting that aliens will visit earth within a year. William Hill's said: "The phones haven't stopped ringing since The Star came out." Now the odds have been cut from 250-1 to 200-1. The firm will only pay out if a Government Minister announces in Parliament that UFOs exist—but Simon Carreck of London has staked £110 anyway.

with BUFORA—the British Unidentified Flying Objects Research Assn.

He talked to us following yesterday's Star report of how an Australian family were "kidnapped" in their car by an egg cup-shaped UFO.

They were later found shocked and terrified by a passing lorry driver.

Steve, 34, said: "All the sightings show that aliens are getting more and more ambitious."

Twenty years ago there were just lights in the sky—now they are making physical contact with humans.

21 THINGS YOU NEVER KNEW ABOUT

1. ALIEN visitations were first recorded in paintings by pre-historic cave-men.
2. In New York there are special therapy sessions for people who believe they have been abducted by aliens.
3. Aliens have never landed in crowded places like Trafalgar Square or Birmingham New Street—they always choose remote fields.
4. West Yorkshire policeman Alan Godfrey was taken aboard an alien ship on November 28, 1980.
5. The first words aliens speak to humans are nearly always: "Do not be afraid, Earthlings, we do not want to harm you."
6. One Earthling, Antonia Ferreira, 29, from Brazil, says he made love to a female alien aboard her spaceship in 1979.
7. When aliens come to earth, they often have small ships plus a large mother ship.
8. Aliens are among the few creatures not to have appeared on the Terry Wogan chat show.
9. Soviet astronomer Boris Fesenko declared to the world in 1979 that a bright light in the nebula NGC 6543, in the Dragon constellation—2,000 light years away from earth—was a beacon for us to see from another world. It was at least 3,000 years old.
10. According to the film Alien, they are capable of showing themselves by bursting out through a person's stomach.
11. Beings from at least one far-away planet have bug-eyes, are small, and are suspended above the ground in beams of light. That is according to Lt. Col. Charles I. Hall of the U.S. Air Force, who had one of the best-documented encounters in history, near Ipswich in 1980.
12. Aliens have very bad manners. Rosemary Osnato from New York, who was taken aboard a strange craft, said: "They strove me no respect whatsoever."
13. They usually hatch from eggs.
14. It seems impossible to film them. No-one has ever caught an alien on camera, matter which planet they are from.
15. Aliens invariably wear silver suits which look like tinfoil.
