

During strange encounter on English moor, ex-cop takes . . .

By HENRY WEBER

A former police officer took a blurred but dramatic photo of a space alien as it jogged across a British moor! The cop said the tiny creature had long arms, big ears, enormous eyes, smooth green skin and was naked, although no private parts were visible.

He also said that the extraterrestrial saw him, stopped and waved after he snapped the picture.

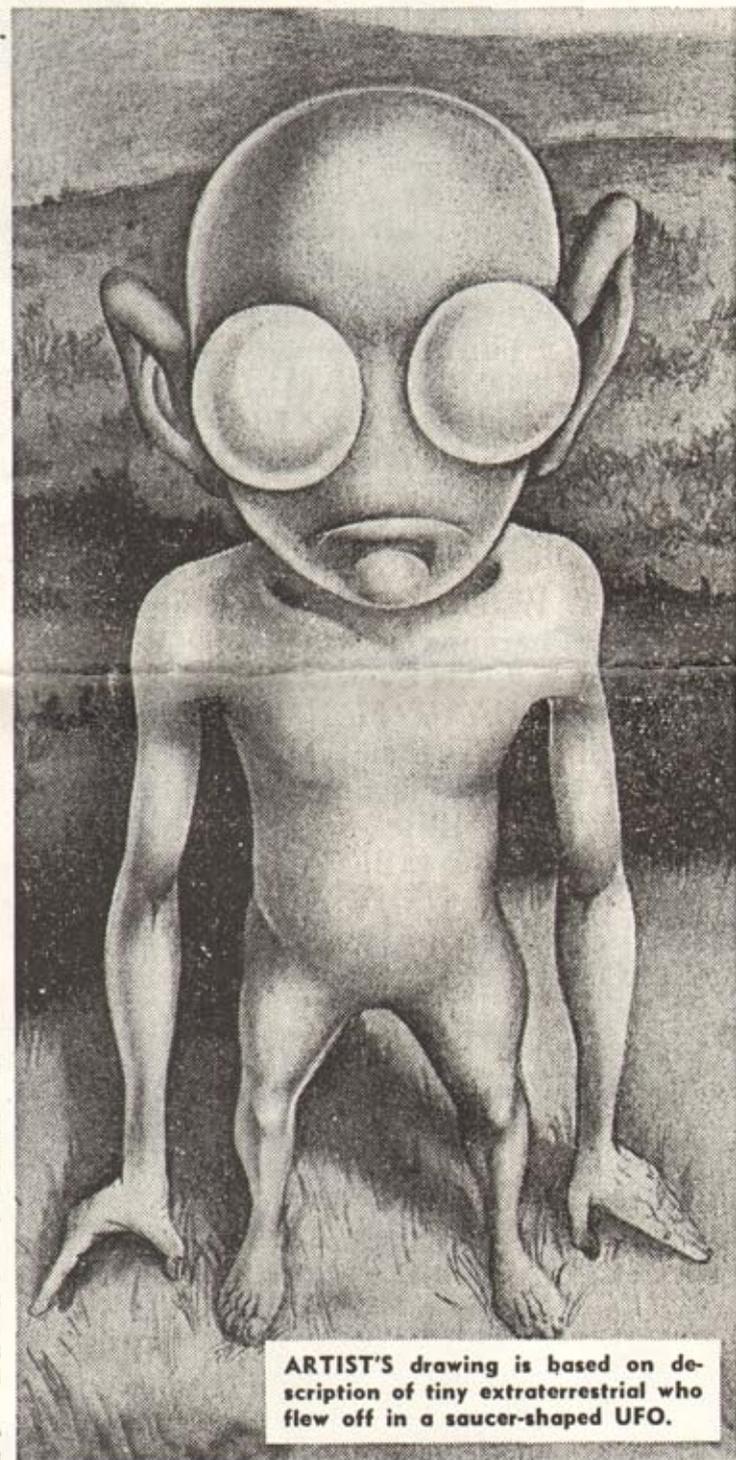

"It was as if to say, 'Go away, go away,'" the policeman, who requested anonymity, told reporters in Leigh, England.

UFO researcher Steve Balon, who has investigated UFO mysteries for years, called the photograph and the cop's testimony strong evidence that extraterrestrial visitors are exploring and studying our planet.

The man was later interviewed under hypnosis and provided even more details of his mind-boggling encounter.

According to Balon, the cop was about 75 yards away from the alien when he first noticed it.

After snapping a picture with the last frame of film in his camera, he followed the creature and watched it climb

Gal still can't figure out why 'wimpette' shot her

By RAFF KLINGER

The shapely blonde beauty who survived after being gunned down on the street in broad daylight by her berserk, pint-size ex-boss says she's still puzzled over the attack.

"I just don't know why it happened," sighed Victoria Sande of Boynton Beach, Fla. "I feel bad something in his life was so horrible that he had to kill himself."

The 36-year-old blonde described her 24-year-old boss Jack Raglund as a small man — shorter than her 5-foot-3 — who was nicknamed "the wimpette" for his lack of toughness in business dealings. She admitted he had a crush on her and that she had rejected his romantic attentions. But she denied speculation by authorities that her refusal to date him, coupled with her winning a claim against him with the state employment bureau over her firing, caused him to go bonkers and attack her.

After shooting her three times, Raglund drove to his home where he fatally shot himself.

Bug-eyed creature waved & ran away into a saucer-shaped starship about 40 feet long.

"The next thing he can recall is the craft taking off vertically, making a loud humming noise, and disappearing into the clouds," said the researcher.

The cop then walked to a nearby village in a daze. His watch had stopped at 8:30 a.m. — but it was 10:30. And his pocket compass had reversed poles.

British aviation officials refuse to say whether the alien's UFO was picked up on radar. But Balon says that highly placed sources tell him that it was.

His investigation is continuing.

Robber wears beer carton as disguise

A crook held up a convenience store after cleverly disguising himself — by wearing an empty beer carton on his head.

Along with two accomplices, the man entered a Big Ten Mart in Dubuque, Iowa, armed with a tire wrench. He was sporting the carton with holes cut in it for his eyes, while his companions wore bandannas over their faces.

Officials didn't say how much the robbers got away with in the 3:15 a.m. heist.

Grave penalty for overpricing

Four merchants who jacked-up prices were punished by a judge in Lusaka, Zambia, who ordered them to dig graves.
