

FLYING SAUCERS?

Yes

A TITLED lady living in exclusive Eaton-square, London, convinced that Flying Saucers exist, writes to the Sunday Mirror: "Please keep up the good work by turning your attention to the lies on the subject told by our own Royal Air Force and the US Air Force."

No

A READER from Eastfield, Northampton, is equally convinced that Flying Saucers are seen only by publicity-seekers and those with vivid imaginations. He suggests people who claim sightings should be given lie-detector tests—followed by a good hiding.

SIGHTINGS of Un-identified Flying Objects—UFOs—by Sunday Mirror readers all over the country are to be investigated by a research team from Cambridge University.

Since the serialisation of the story of Barney and Betty Hill, the American couple who claimed they were kidnapped by the alien crew of a craft from Outer Space, readers in their hundreds have written in.

They tell of strange lights in the sky moving at high speed, of solid saucer-shaped craft, ... some even claim to have been taken aboard un-earthly Space ships.

Now the Cambridge University Group for the Investigation of UFOs will check the precise details of readers' sightings, no matter how long ago they took place, and add the information to their ever-growing dossier.

Bizarre

Whatever the truth, however deep the mystery, many readers insist the whole astonishing subject should be brought into the open. That the fear of being ridiculed for reporting the sighting of a Flying Saucer should be removed by some sort of official encouragement.

The material contained in the letters is bizarre enough to keep a squad of science-fiction writers going for a light year.

A titled lady in Somerset says that nine months ago she was taken on a Space craft for a trip round the moon.

The captain, she recollects, was a Commander Eric Michael Moore—whose name eluded me in various aeronautical reference books.

Another reader, from Handsworth Birmingham, sends a solemn warning about vivisectionists from Outer Space. She is distressed that the Saucer crew who kidnapped Barney and Betty Hill and medically examined them put instruments in Betty's left ear and navel.

ten unidentified flying objects on different occasions, sometimes with witnesses," writes a man from Worcester Park, Surrey. "The majority of cases are not reported because so few people take the subject seriously," he suggests.

A married couple in Wood Green, London, tell with great conviction of a strange, moon-shaped object coming from the direction of the Tottenham Hotspur ground in White Hart Lane at two o'clock in the morning.

One reader entrusts to us his carefully guarded secret. We will protect his identity because he claims to be a Martian occupying the body of an ordinary human being. Naturally, he does not want this to get out.

In fact, he is not sure that he likes it here as he discloses that his Flying Saucer went round our planet three times before he finally got off.

A man in the Isle of Wight recalling a visit aboard a ship from Outer Space, writes: "... I found myself standing in one of these craft, full of all kinds of valves, clock faces and switches.

"It is probable that I am the only person on Earth who has actually been shown how a Flying Saucer works," a gentleman from Plymstock, Plymouth, writes with quiet confidence.

Shout

Only if electronic experts, who must be British, are present will he tell all. And then only if hypnosis is not used.

Rather sadly a woman in Dartington, near Totnes, reports: "When I saw the craft I shouted to my husband, but he was watching TV and didn't come out."

Some husbands are just natural escapists.
