many movies of that type have already been made. how many movies about the SAC base in Cheyenne mountain have YOU seen ?? zillions.

any movie about current bases underground would be purely fictional because the few " documented " bases that do exist , such as NUWTL at Hawthorne, Nv , the NTS near area51 , Warren AFB , area51 it's self , Northrup at Tejon ranch and the Boeing facilities are ALL totally secured by national security issues or industrial privacy issues and no CREDIBLE information about their classified activities exists in the civilian world. probably never will either. think of the 1000s upon 1000s of workers that currently do and have in the past 50 years , worked at Hawthorne, the NTS and area51 ! in ALL that time " no one " , not one single person has EVER blabbed. ( unless you believe that Bob Lazar misinformation crap ! ) other so called bases , are ( to date , anyway ) purely fictional for the most part , or mundane military infrastructure / control rabbit holes ( Dulce, Sand Hill Rd maglev labs , etc ) with NO documentable clandestine activity available to us mere mortals.

if you want to entertain your imagination about underground bases just type in " underground bases " into Google and get a whole " sh$# load " of mostly pure bunk. for a good example , type in " Tehachapi covert underground " and get the site with 1150 pages of PURE BS . I personally have documented this outrageous pile of crap about underground bases, myself, and have a CD full of debunking photos and gps evidence. frankly, most of the other " stuff " on the web is exactly the same thing. I seriously doubt that 1/2 of 1% of the crap there is realistic , and frankly " we'll " never actually know either. it's that pure and simple.

about the many underground bases and tunnels and the sort of stuff that goes down in them sort of places."

would and could ever be nothing more than fictional suppositions , 2nd guessing or pure fantasy , nothing more. the only possible controversy there would be the idiots that argue about something they " believe " ( like religious nuts ) instead of what they can " know " to be provable fact. if you really do " know " you aren't ever going to tell, period.

you might believe, wish or dream you know that there are underground bases , tunnel complexes and the like and clandestine or conspiracy activities happening in them ..... but eventually you'll have to take a trip back to reality and get a grip on your Mulder and Skully mentality and deal with the fact that it's an unknown that will remain an unknown , plain and simple. even if there is a honeycomb of tunnels beneath us , ones crawling with gray aliens and intelligent slime molds etc..... we'll , thats you and I , we'll never really know !!!!

so get over it ! get a grip !
