This talks about what is in us.

Question: It has been reported that many plant species are going extinct. Is this going to be a threat to humanity, or a clearance to create new species of vegetation? (report in a magazine)

ANSWER: Due to the changing climates around the world, yes, of course the vegetation that grew according to particular temperatures and water amounts cannot continue when all of this changes. Remember that creation is a constant! When one variety fades away, another will take its place. Just as scientists have been finding many new animals, insects, etc. for some time, they will also rejoice in finding new varieties of vegetation and even vegetables and fruits that are even now coming to life in tiny seeds all over the world as their homes project the ability to feed them, and they await the proper moisture and heat needed to bring them to life..

Question: There are so many s-uls passing back into the s-iritual realm now, would you please explain to us the meaning of that word we use to explain our real existence? How does it originate, what is its purpose in the universe? In other words, WHAT IS A SO-L?

ANSWER: A Sou- is the most important creation of all. A -oul is a specific conscious, intelligent, sp-ritual energy. This piece of eternal creative energy is the reason for the birth of universes and inhabited planets. All things in matter were (and are being) created in order to formulate a material stage upon which for each So-l to dwell for a time. You see and understand that there are probably very few planets that you can see that are inhabited, but there are myriads of them in the many galaxies you can see and many that you cannot see at this time. Sou-s are created from the Central Mind or Energy that created all things. That is why you say you are a Child of G-d. Actually, that is true from your field of thought. The bits of energy that compose a S-ul begin as just that very tiny, bits of energy that constantly reach out for the food of knowledge and experience. As they shoot into the vortexes and galaxies of the many universes, they learn everything they can and, when a planet has e-olved to the point of supporting material life, they are drawn to the creatures that are procreating their species and find the opening where they can activate the body and mind of the seedling. Does that mean all animals have Souls? To a very limited extent in most cases, yes. This is a very new Sou- that has to experience all material energy from its very beginning. As the -oul makes its transition to higher forms of life, it grows in knowledge and experience and seeks to learn more. By the time the new So-l reaches maturity, so to speak, it is ready to seek out in your case a human being. There are other bi-peds inhabiting your solar system, of course, and they are also of a higher mentality. The object here for the Sou- is to become a central part of the human being, in all ways, that it might experience, and learn as much as possible during the lifetime of that being. Human beings, and all similar life forms, were created expressly for the S-ul to inhabit. Sou-s are the life force of the body the innate focus of who the person is, can be, and will be. Every emotion, every action is important to the S-ul. Obviously, this time of living must be repeated even millions of times in different places, different bodies, in order to become a fully enlightened So-l who will eventually rise to become part of the Supreme Energy of All Things. This is the goal.
