With loving greetings from all s-uls at this station, this is Matthew. We begin by calling upon our friend and colleague Hatonn to address the most pressing concern in many thoughts: Can Japan's n-clear facility's situation be safely resolved; what long-term environmental damage will result; how dangerous to life are the radiation levels?

Hatonn here to set your minds at ease. I assure you, the situation can and will be safely resolved and there will be NO long-term damage! At the moment, however, it's a matter of containment. Our scientists are filtering into the minds of workers at the facility and off-site personnel what actions to take to prevent meltdown of the damaged reactors they would call that filtration process their ideas or inspirations. Our small crew near the facility in conjunction with off-planet crews are reducing radiation to the extent possible and the technology on the ships is helping to minimize the reactors' activity.

There is other widespread lack of knowledge about what is going on. Your scientists don't know that Earth is orbiting in frequencies where radiation is fractured and less potent than registered by your instruments. Naturally they aren't calibrated to include factors not known there. Furthermore, differences in their precision are causing a range of readings and that's creating confusion about what the radiation levels really are. The lowest readings are more reliable by our instruments, which do take into account that fracturing I mentioned. Also, most people who know we are around because our small ships often are visible do not know that when our technological gear is on the ground, we can dematerialize the reactors and nuclear waste and purify your polluted air, soil and water. Earth's own phenomenal healing powers aren't recognized either, so that isn't in your scientific projections of the possible outcomes of this nuclear situation.

This collective unawareness is causing a great deal of fear, and that fear is the only worrisome part to us about this whole matter. Like attracts like, and the negative make-up of the dark ones is attracting the negative energy attachments of your fear. They're using that to reinforce their strength and determination to keep fighting the light forces that you lightworkers are part of. Do not fall into that fear trap yourselves and dispel fear in others wherever you can!

Some of you are discouraged or disappointed because we haven't landed to clean up the nuclear facility for once and for all. Yes, we could do that if we were on the ground, and the dark ones among you know this. They also know that once we land in numbers, all dark activity will come to an abrupt end. That's why mercenaries and other troops under their control around the planet are on alert for an alien attack and ready to take heavy retaliatory measures. We can't risk your safety or our crews' by making public landings until that risk is over. We don't know when that will be because it's that fear thing again as long as fear keeps refueling the darkness, that risk will remain.

Your continued demands for safer sources of energy will end the reign of nuclear power. It always has been dangerous in lower density worlds and it isn't needed in higher densities. Safe, dependable and clean energy technology has been suppressed by the people who make fortunes from nuclear power and fossil fuels demand that those new energy sources be put to use.

The combination of your demands, our technologies and Earth's own abilities will restore her health in months rather than the centuries you calculate as 'half lives' of radioactive elements. And don't underestimate the power of your thoughts or call them p-ayers for your world to be in full radiance, free from all darkness. A great deal must be and WILL be accomplished before the end of next year. The process will be far easier and pleasanter when the power of light replaces the energy of fear.

Matthew, I'd like to take this opportunity to speak about something else that is being questioned why don't we stop manmade earthquakes by dismantling HAARP? Although HAARP does register manmade earthquake activity, it's a misconception that it is solely responsible for those quakes. HAARP has several functions in different locations around the globe, and one of the functions in combination with other technologies is used to cause quakes, volcanic eruptions, severe storms and flooding. Those other technologies are derived from Nikola Tesla's inventions and discoveries and the information given by the Little Greys. That goes back 70 years or so. All of that technology was taken over by the I-luminati and has been modified to achieve their negative purposes.

They suspected that we were interfering with their efforts to cause massive destruction and death, but weren't certain until a few months ago when we diminished a hurricane's wind force and turned the storm northward along the east coast of the U-ited States. After that their scientists and engineers integrated various systems so that your power and communication services would be interrupted globally if we tried from our ships to dismantle any of their equipment. Doing so is an intricate process and can only be done on site to avoid serious repercussions. As soon as the I-luminati meet their end, HAARP's functions and Tesla's technologies will be applied to beneficial purposes instead of destructive.

Thank you, Matthew, for letting me have this forum to clear the air about that.

Hatonn, we thank you you spared us from explaining that!

Now then, as Hatonn just stated and we often have told you, fear is powerful, and there is a great deal of fear in your world. Justifiably, the people of Japan are fearful as earthquakes there continue and they are closest to the radiation from the reactors. Many living in other quake-prone areas are fearful, and so are people in countries where war is going on, those in dire financial straits and peoples displaced from their homes. Others fear global warming, the shaky or shattered economy of their respective countries, loss of jobs, cost of gasoline, decaying infrastructures, and even a nuclear World War III.

The collective fear that is bolstering the darkness in minds and hearts also is compromising the benefits of the light even though it keeps intensifying all along Earth's ascension pathway. While the fear factor cannot slow the planet's steady pace, it is allowing the dark ones to stymie the progress of individuals such as freedom fighters in several countries, those working toward economic and governmental reforms, and many who were on the verge of seeing the light. Thus there is a lull, you could say, in personal forward movement toward Earth's Golden Age.

We hasten to add that this cannot last much longer! Earth is nearing vibratory levels where the light is so intense that all who have refused the light the ones we speak of as dark simply to indicate their lack of light will die. That may sound unduly harsh, but it is not a matter of some divine judgment or punishment it is simply the physics governing life in this universe that bodies bereft of light cannot survive in those higher vibrations. In short, all those who have been causing fearful conditions will be disappearing.

As a reminder of what we have said in previous messages, many souls also will be leaving this lifetime in accordance with their soul contracts, and you will not know whether it is by that choice or the choice to refuse the light that results in death. And once again we urge you not to judge any, but to send light to all souls in your world. Doing so reinforces the light within yourselves and emanates outward to uplift others. Earth knows where light is most needed and spreads it to those areas via a universal leveling process. As the most powerful force in the cosmos, light-love has wondrous effects wherever it is received!

There is yet another source of fear. It will not deter Earth's ascension pace, either, but it can have serious ramifications for the affected individuals. Unlike the sources mentioned above that have a basis in current circumstances, this source of fear is latent, rooted in people who believe entertainment's representation of aliens as conquest-bound and the people who believe reports that a civilization claiming to be benevolent will land and enslave Earth's population. Those people will see the arrival of strange-appearing beings as the unthinkable actually happening.

While we greatly desire that our information reach all who hold such beliefs, we may have to be ♦satisfied♦ with enlightening the people who welcome craft sightings but have no idea what their passengers and crews are like and don♦ know that for long ages Earth has been receiving their assistance. We hope as well to reach the unaware individuals Hatonn mentioned and those who feel We don♦ need any help, we can handle everything ourselves.

What we offer not only will attest to the peaceful motives and variety of assistance that has been and is being given by other civilizations, but will acquaint you with the personable representative of one. Recently my mother was requested to revise another of the books rather than order reprints, and in complying she worked with the sources who added updates to their original material. Mother, please insert the part we discussed and also include my introduction of Lazarus.
