Here he even throws in some chemtrails in the soup.

They are unthinking, unresearching psyches-for-hire with little that could be seriously identified as approaching the definition of 'mind'.

But in the shadows behind the mindless dark suits they know exactly what they are doing. As I have been saying for many years, they are constructing a sub-reality in the Earth's atmosphere between the surface of the planet and high in up in the ionosphere - especially in the lower reaches where we are.

See the video David I-ke & Stewart Swerdlow - Mind Control (Chemtrails, HAARP & EMF) after this article for more about this. The creation of this sub-reality is the prime reason, I would suggest, for the HAARP technology in Alaska and other locations - the High Frequency Active Auroral Research Program funded by the US Air Force, the US Navy, University of Alaska and the deeply sinister Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) - which is bouncing incredible powerful radio waves off the ionosphere and back to earth.

The plan is to suppress this sub-reality through electromagnetic and microwave pollution among many other things and then fill the atmosphere at our levels with radio waves and thought communications within brain frequencies to implant realities and perceptions, even memories, into the population.

Not only is it the 'plan', it is already happening.

These compulsory fluorescent lights also produce radio waves and they are part of this cocktail of sources constructing the sub-reality that also include the contents of chemtrails.

Another thing to seriously remember is that information can be passed through the electric wiring in your home and thus be transmitted in frequency pulses and radiation while you have no idea that this is happening.

Look at technologies like HomePlug in which the electrical wires in your home are used to distribute broadband Internet, HD video, digital music and other applications (information in other words).

If the ability to use household electrical circuits to transmit information exists, which it obviously does, then have no doubt that the Control System will be employing that with technology way more advanced than anything we see in the public arena.

What if these fluorescent lights are aimed at delivering that information to the human mind at frequencies necessary to connect at a subconscious, subliminal level. Far fetched? What is far-fetched any more given the world we are seeing emerging by the day? It is possible at the very, very least.

One thing is for sure - there is something big-time in this fluorescent light frenzy for the Control System. You don't ban the incandescent alternatives in the face of the blatant health and environmental consequences of fluorescent lighting unless there is something involved that is vital to your desired outcome of human control and perception manipulation.

Once again, humans overwhelmingly just sit back and take it. But then acquiescence can be transmitted, too.

(JW Now he mentions some videos that you can watch if you go directly to his web site or go to google.com and put in the words David Icke.)

At the inner core level of the Control System this is all being done systematically to undermine human health and brain activity.

The network of manipulation is terrified of a healthy and sharp-thinking population.

Note, also, that the fluoride cocktail of poi-on added to drinking water includes some of the ingredients in chemtrails and that's no coincidence.

An excellent video by Jay4louis

David has been saying in his books and talks for years that 'they' are establishing a 'sub-reality' in the Earth's atmosphere to suppress and mind-manipulate the global population.
