Here is mentioned so-called "Pat Down" done in airports.

He said in another interview on the show since the fake 's-ooting' that Bin Laden had d-ed soon after 9/11 from Marfan syndrome, an hereditary d-sease which can seriously affect the connective tissue that holds the body together and so distort the workings of many body systems, including the skeleton, eyes, heart and b-ood vessels, nervous system, skin and lungs. Bin Laden certainly showed classic traits of Marfan syndrome with his tall body, long limbs and face.

P-eczenik said he could confirm the Dubai hospital story and that Bin Laden needed constant dialysis because of Marfan syndrome. This was also why the closest person to him was a p-ysician, he said.

Pieczenik pointed out that Colonel Tommy Franks, who led the US/UK invasion of Afghanistan in 2001, stated (though he didn't mean to) that Bin Laden was de-d at that time. 'We knew that was true', said insider Pieczenik.

I'll come back to Steve Pi-czenik later when we ask the 'why now?'

question - why now do they suddenly claim to have ki-led Bin Laden? On that, I suggest, he is way out for whatever reason.

From the fact that Osama bin Laden was dea- maybe a decade ago it is easy to see why the official story of his sho-ting by 'Navy Seals' near a mi-itary establishment in Abbottabad, Pakistan, has been such a ridiculous, hilarious and constantly changing stream of l-es.

It never happened.

This is why his body was never shown to the public, but instead immediately 'buried at sea' according to a 'Muslim custom' that doesn't exist and why no photographs have been released on the 'pre-ident's orders' because they are 'too gruesome' and because 'you know, we don't trot out this stuff as trophies'.

Actually, that's exactly what 'we' do when we have the pictures or when 'we' have fake pictures we think will f-ol the people. Unfortunately for 'we', there is now a massively expanding alternative media that won't allow such fakes to go unnoticed or unchallenged any more.

The fake 'd-ad Bin Laden' picture below circulated immediately after Oba-a's announcement of the 'sho-ting' on the key Satanic ritual day of May 1st and was published by many in the mainstream media as genuine.

When it proved to be a Photoshop fake of the two pictures on the left combined to produce the one on the right, the media said that it was the work of 'cons-iracy theor-sts' when it was the 'con-piracy theorists' who had been exposing it as a fake.

We were told by the gove-nment that Bin Laden was armed and there was a sho-tout with the Navy Seals as he used his wife as a human shield. Then the same go-ernment had to admit that he wasn't armed and did not hide behind his wife or anyone else. We were told that his wife had been k-lled and then that she was still alive.

'No, no, you can't say the wife is de-d - we need her to be still alive so she can support our story. Say we made a mistake in the fog of w-r.'

But perhaps the most outrageous attempt at misleading the public perception of what happened was the now famous, it will be infamous, picture of O-ama, Hillary C-inton and others staring anxiously at apparently live images of Bin Laden being ki-led. 'We got him', the little boy in short trousers is supposed to have said.

Ah, but there is one little detail to know here. It has since been admitted that there were no live images of the 'k-lling' and so these people could not have been anxiously watching them. So what were they watching?? The wall? The lies are unbelievable and the mainstream media just goes on repeating them without question. The W-ite House comedy show also said that they had found a 'treasure trove' of information and 'home videos' at the 'Bin Laden compound'. No they didn't, because he wasn't there. What they 'found' was whatever they made up themselves a long, long way from the 'compound'. We are now in an era of computerised imagery where we can no longer claim that what we think we are seeing is actually what we are seeing. Look at the video after this article headed 'Gov-rnment released videos: You think your eyes are seeing what you think they're seeing? Think again'. The C-bal have had this technology for decades produced by the se-ret projects and 'Bin Laden' videos galore have been released since his dea-h to fuel the lie that he was still alive and active. They have been 'acquired' and released to the media through C-A/Mossad front organizations like SITE or 'Search for International T-rrorist Entities' (but never in Israel).

Katz and Venzke: Tooth Fairy Videos SITE is run by an extreme Roths-child Z-onist called Rita K-tz, the daughter of an exe-uted Israeli s-y, and is funded by the US gov-rnment to the tune of a reported $-00,000 a year. It is, in effect, an arm of the Depart-ents of 'Justice', Treasury, and Homeland Security. SITE works in harness with an orga nization called IntelCenter, another releaser of 'Bin Laden' videos, which is headed by another Ro-hschild Zio-is t, Ben Ven-ke. It was Rita Kat- and SITE who 'reported' this week that 'Al-Qaeda' had made a statement confirming Bin Laden's d-ath. Or, as the pathetic CN-put it: 'Al Qaeda released a statement on jihadist forums confirming the de-th of its leader, Osama bin Laden, according to SITE Intelligence Group, which monitors mi-itant messages.'

No - which circulates lies and fake videos under the direction of Mossad and the C-A, among others, no doubt.

'Excuse me, sir, do you want a house or a rock behind him ...?'

Even the Washington Post revealed that the CI- was making fake videos to discredit its targets. It reported that a video was made to apparently show Bin Laden and friends drinking a-cohol around a campfire and talking about their 'conquests of little boys'. But, really, you would think they could do better than the laughable 'home video' footage they released last week to 'show' Bin Laden sitting on the floor flicking through TV channels, all of which had his image on.

Have you ever flicked through a series of channels like that and never seen a number of them showing advertisements? I haven't. But, no, it's just Bin Laden everywhere. Maybe some of them were advertisements in which he starred. I mean, Bin Laden vanishing cream would sell by the truckload.

There are, to employ understatement, just a few basic errors here that the mainstream media has not allowed to take up good drinking time, but we should. Firstly, all that we see in the entire footage is a hat, the side of a beard and the tip of a nose. The real Bin Laden is left-handed and yet this guy uses his right hand to change the ch-nnels throughout. Close ups of the ears of fake and real Bin Laden show they are not the same and other footage from the 'treasure trove' is just pictures released years ago claiming to be new.

'New' footage found in the 'compound' that was circulating in 2007. They also did the same in 2007 when the footage below was released as 'new' when it was clearly the same video that had been circulating in 2002.

So to the question, why now? Why fake the death of an already dead man at this time. The reasons are many and are already becoming obvious by current actions and statements.

This is where I fundamentally depart from what insider Steve Piezenik said on the Alex Jones Show and I can't believe that someone who has worked so closely with so many major manipulators over many decades could be so naive and lacking in understanding of what is really going on with regard to the big picture.

He seemed to be saying that the Bin Laden death was faked because Barack Obama needed a serious boost to his public standing, given that he has been such a disaster, and that Secretary of State, Hillary Clinton, and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Mike Mullen, needed a 'victory' to cover up their incompetence.

Has it been used to boost Obama's standing? Absolutely it has, and it is no coincidence that days after the fake 'killing' there was a commemoration for those who died on 9/11 at the Ground Zero site in New York where Obama contemptuously exploited 9/11 families, first responders and the Bin Laden 'killing' to sell himself for another term in the White House in 2012.

This focus on Obama as some sort of 'hero' for 'getting' Bin Laden is crazy when, it turns out, he didn't make any decision to 'go in' even according to the fake narrative. Of course, he didn't. He does what he is told to do.

Piezenik claims far too much power for Obama personally and his plaudits for Father Bush, a serial pedophile and mass murderer, were just sickening to hear - the same with his praise for Robert Gates, the Defense Secretary to puppet warmongers Bush and Obama. So, yes, Obama is milking the 'killing' for his own approval rating, but is that the only, or even nearly only, reason for what has happened? You must be joking, and the more I heard of the Piezenik interview with regard to the 'why' the less credible he sounded to me.

Some of the many reasons for the Bin Laden hoax are:

1.) The excuse to say that because of the killing there are likely to be terrorist reprisals and we have to impose more surveillance and Police State controls in places like railways, shopping malls, department stores, hotels, churches and sports stadiums.

We were told immediately after the hoax that they found evidence in the 'compound' of plans to derail US trains and attack so-called 'soft targets' - for that read 'we want to expand the Police State into areas that we have not been able to justify before'.

(See also, 'box-cutters' 'found' in houses in Afghanistan after 9/11; the 'hijacker's passport' 'found' near Ground Zero after the towers collapsed; and Korans and 'flight manuals' 'found' at locations allegedly related to the '9/11 hijackers.)

David Boehm (Rohrschild Zinist), Chief Operating Officer of Security USA Inc, was straight out of the blocks telling CBS that to keep people safe after the 'compound find' the soft targets need to be protected using, in effect, airport-style security including the usual molestation known as the 'pat-down'.
