

Subject: Weather For June.

From: "John Winston" <johnfw@mlode.com>

Date: 31/05/2011, 16:58

Newsgroups: alt.conspiracy.area-51

Subject: Weather For June.
May 31, 2011.

Here is what Ruth's friends upstairs think about the weather for June, 2011.

.....
.....

Ja-is

From:
ruth_ryden_newsletter@yahooogroups.com
[mailto:ruth_ryden_newsletter@yahooogroups.com]
On Behalf Of Ruth R-den
Sent: Tuesday, May 31, 2011

NEWSLETTER #105 FROM RUTH AND THE MASTERS OF LIGHT

JUNE, 2011

The terrible tornadoes of May have left us all with feelings of great sadness for all of those who have lost family members, homes and personal possessions in a few minutes of destructive whirlwinds. Our hearts go out to them and to the many people loosing homes and possessions in the river flooding. The atmospheric anomalies we are enduring now come without warning for the most part and what will be in the coming months and years cannot be entirely predicted even by the s-iritual beings that monitor us as the earth's position and frequencies are changing hourly. It is up to us now to stay alert and be prepared for anything. Our family here are well, just some summer colds hitting here and there, along with the seasonal allergies. Gardens are doing well this year must be the higher frequencies! Wish we could send our beautiful Arizona weather to the whole country now. Hang in there everyone remember to let your inner strength and love shine through!

Masters, what do you want to tell us this month?
So much grief all over the world, and the earth undergoing more transformations.

MASTERS: Hold onto your hats June is coming! From the top of the world through to the far reaches of Antarctica, the atmospheric frequencies that are flooding the Earth will result in tremendous and traumatic changes no matter where you live. This month and the remaining months of this year will make history. No, not just terrible storms, etc., but changes that will give your planet new lands, new fields that were once dry, will now become filled with new foliage, ready to be farmed. Deserts that have filled up with sand over the centuries will shift and let underground waters again seep up into new rivers and lakes. Where the land cracks from great earthquakes, new land and rivers will appear. Flooding from the melting glaciers will bring water and silt down to lands that were overworked and infertile, which will result in good new farmland for all countries. Even the Middle Eastern lands where small tribes have had to move from place to place to find food and water will soon find new springs and fertile valleys. This is not a time of destruction, but a time of creation and renewal for the Planet Earth. As you must experience the trying days of dangerous tornadoes, earthquakes and flooding, be prepared as well as you can, use your inner strength and wisdom to take care of yourselves and your properties. Know that the future is being created, not ending.

We are sorry to say we do see more swaths of tornadoes moving across the North American Continent this month. The areas that could be hit include land further north into Canada and lands reaching down by the Gulf of Mexico. The atmosphere around the world is moving rapidly into new currents that will affect rainfall constantly and create winds and hurricanes that occur suddenly and seemingly without the natural warnings that you have always known. The ocean waters will be stirred mightily and send torrents of water propelled by the winds onto the shores of many nations. Asia will feel this onslaught as well as all continents rimming them. This forecast reaches into the next five months. Windstorms and tornadoes will be felt in places that knew them not before.

Yes, the earth is moving and re-making its contours; some land will fall a little, and some hills will start to create mountains. Mountains all over the earth will be shaking, rising, and falling as the crust moves this way and that. Mountain climbers should wait another year before making plans to climb those enticing heights. Earthquakes around the Ring of Fire will increase this month; many are predicting another huge quake in the Japanese islands and this is very probable, but we see the r-diation problems there as being much more dangerous. Strong winds blowing across the broken atomic plants will send radiation farther inland and must be taken into consideration. The Ural Islands and Alaska are in a shaky position right now; the possibility of strong quakes are eminent. Quakes along the sides of Central America and South America are certain to bring some heavy destruction this month or into July. Even the huge ice islands of the Antarctic will be seen to be cracking and displacing.

There has been increasing concern that the Madrid Fault in mid America is ripe for a huge quake. This fault is actually a seam between two continental plates that came together many ages ago. It is becoming uncomfortable now as the plates are being assaulted by the movements in the earth and also by the heavy amounts of water flowing down the Mississippi river at this time. The probability of quakes on both sides of the fault is becoming very possible, either this month or in July. After that, as the river subsides, the fault will calm down again, as least for a few years. We do see this opening up and new rivers becoming created that will flow into the Gulf in the coming years.

We see many earthquakes in the Middle East occurring this month as those underlying plates are starting to shift. The tremendous frequencies that are being created by anger and uprisings in these countries of course are contributing themselves to the earth under their feet. In some cases, the frightening circumstances will bring people together instead of tearing them apart. There are always reasons for large catastrophes that humanity will never be able to understand.

Enter into this month in a state of preparedness, both for weather anomalies and for the beautiful sunny days and breezes of the season in the northern hemisphere and for the cool winds and seasonal changes in the southern hemisphere that will be welcomed. Earth movements own under will be calming down and this will be a good June for them.

Greet each new situation with the knowledge, wisdom, and strength you all have within. Many of you are moving to new homes, new lands as you are being guided to do, and that is good. If you feel you should stay put, do so; follow your inner guidance - it will be there for you. Look forward to the changes as you see them being made, as a new world is being invented.

G-d Bless You All, you are our dearest children.

(Ruth I felt the following article to be very appropriate at this time. Please make time to read and re-read as you need to. It will make a difference in your lives.)

THP PROTECTIVE SHIELD OF LIGHT

This coming year is likely to be one of severe stress for many people - massive floods, earthquakes, tornadoes, etc. Only you, each one of you, will be able to serve your own needs by realizing there are ways to prevent utter breakdowns of personal clarity and sanity.

We will discuss several different pressures and emotions that cause people to throw up their hands and give up, together with the negative spiritual energies that have always given humanity the chance to tell right from wrong.

The Devil Made Me Do It is a popular belief when someone is too lazy or too wound up in greed or lust to abort thoughts or actions that need to be considered more carefully. Main line churches have always taught that Satan/Lucifer/De-il is a terrible energy let loose on the world to tempt and terrify humankind. Let us make it clear that the energy put into your dimension to act as a negative force was also created by God, for the very purpose of creating a positive/negative force that would give human beings the opportunity to use their inner wisdom to either accept or reject negativity. How would you ever learn anything if you did not have the opposite catalyst by which to see the varying nuances of human behavior and thought? This energy was known as Lucifer, a high Angel who volunteered his services in this manner.

The energy who represents the Fallen Angels of the universe and who commands the demons and negative beings who have tormented humanity throughout the ages, is known by the name of Satan. Satan is allowed on your planet only until the new positioning of the planet has been completed. Then, humanity will recognize the different vibrations of their lives, a new freedom from fear. This energy works with Lucifer only to the extent of bringing into being temptations to the weak, trying to find followers for its legions. If there is a will to reject such temptations, Lucifer will strengthen that will.

Now, how to protect against the Legions of Evil? In the first place, interest in negative occult practices creates an energy that draws those beings to you. Action follows thought.

Part 1.

John Winston. johnfw@mlode.com