Subject: People Who Have Contacted The Space People.

June 7,

Here are just a few of the people who have said they came in contact with the space people.

Contactees are persons who claim to have experienced contact with "Extraterrestrial life"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Extraterrestrial_life

Contactees have typically reported that they were given messages or profound wisdom by extraterrestrial beings. These claimed encounters are often described as ongoing, but some contactees claim to have had as few as a single encounter.

As a cultural phenomenon, contactees perhaps had their greatest notoriety from the late 1940s to the late 1950s, but individuals continue to make similar claims in the present. Some have shared their messages with small groups of followers, and many have issued newsletters or spoken at "UFO convention"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/UFO_convention

The contactee movement has seen serious attention from academics and mainstream scholars. Among the earliest was the classic 1956 study, "When Prophecy Fails"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/When_Prophecy_Fails

by "Leon Festinger"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Leon_Festinger

Henry Riecken, and Stanley Schachter, which analyzed the phenomenon.

There have been at least two university-level anthologies of scientific papers regarding the contactee movements (see sources below). "The contactee movement is a rich treat for Anthropology"

Contactee accounts are generally different from those who allege "Alien abduction" alien abduction, in that while contactees usually describe beneficial experiences involving human-like aliens, abductees rarely describe their experiences positively.

Overview

Astronomer "J. Allen Hynek"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/J._Allen_Hynek

J. Allen Hynek described Contactees as asserting "the visitation to the earth of generally benign beings whose ostensible purpose is to communicate (generally to a relatively few selected and favored persons messages of 'cosmic importance'.

These chosen recipients generally have repeated contact experiences, involving additional messages.."

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Contactee#cite_note-hynek-1

Contactees became a cultural phenomona in the 1940s and continued throughout the 1950s and 1960s, often giving lecture and writing books about their experience. the phenomona still exists today.

Contactees usually portrayed "Space Brothers"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Space_Brothers

as more or less identical in appearance and mannerisms to Humans

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Humans>

humans. The Brothers are also almost invariably reported as disturbed by the violence, crime and wars that infest the earth, and by the possession of various earth nations of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons.

"Curtis Peebles"

Curtis Peebles summarizes the common features of many contactee claims: reference

Certain humans have had personal and/or mental contact with friendly, completely human-appearing space aliens.

The contactees have also flown aboard flying saucers, and traveled into "Outer space" space and to other planets.

The Space Brothers want to help mankind solve its problems, to stop nuclear testing and prevent the otherwise inevitable destruction of the human race.

This will be accomplished very simply by the brotherhood spreading a message of love and brotherhood across the world.

Other sinister beings, the "Men in Black"

Early contactees

Though the word contactee was not in common use until the 1950s, the authors of the anthologies noted in "sources" below use the term to describe persons whose claims occurred centuries before the UFO era, attempting to depict them as a part of the same tradition.

Though not linked to flying saucers or odd aerial lights, it is perhaps worth noting that there is a long history of claims of contact with non-earthly intelligences. The founding revelations of many of the world's religions involve contact between the founder and a supernatural source of wisdom, such as a go-in human form or an Angel

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Angel>

angel. In this context, it might be expected that most of the 1950s contactees would form their own religions, with the contactee as sole spiritual leader, and that is just what happened, almost invariably.

As early as the 18th century, people like "Emanuel Swedenborg"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Emanuel_Swedenborg

Emanuel Swedenborg were claiming to be in psychic contact with inhabitants of other planets. 1758 saw the publication of Concerning Earths in the Solar System, in which Swedenborg detailed his alleged journeys to the inhabited planets.

Later, "Helena Blavatsky"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Helena_Blavatsky

Helena Blavatsky would make claims similar to Swedenborg's.

In 1891, Thomas Blott's book The Man From Mars was published.

The author claimed to have met a Martian in Kentucky. Unusually for an early contactee, Blott reported that the Martian communicated not via Telepathy

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Telepathy>

telepathy, but in English.

Another early contactee book, of sorts, was From India To The Planet Mars (1900) by "Theodore Flournoy"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Theodore_Flournoy

Theodore Flournoy.

Flournoy detailed the claims of Helene Smith, who, whilst in a trance, dictated information gleaned from her psychic visits to the planet Mars including a Martian Alphabet

Two of the earliest contactees in the modern sense were William Magoon and "Guy Ballard"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Guy_Ballard

Guy Ballard (the latter a follower of "Madame Blavatsky"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Madame_Blavatsky

Madame Blavatsky.

Magoon's book William Magoon: Psychic and Healer was published in 1930. He claimed that, in the early 20th century, he had been unexpectedly and instantaneously transported to Mars. The planet was essentially earth-like, with cities and wilderness. The inhabitants had radio and automobiles. Though they were Invisibility

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Invisibility>

invisible, Magoon sensed their presences.

Though Magoon was obscure, Ballard would have more impact via the

"I AM" Activity'

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/%22I_AM%22_Activity

I Am movement he established. In 1935, Ballard claimed that, several years earlier, he and over 100 others witnessed the appearance of 12 Venusians in a cavern beneath "Mount Shasta"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mount_Shasta

Mount Shasta. The Venusians played music for the audience, said Ballard, then showed the crowd a large Mirror

"<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mirror> mirror-like device that displayed images of life on Venus. The Venusians then allegedly reported that the earth would suffer through an era of tension and wa-fare, followed by worldwide peace and goodwill.

"George Adamski"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/George_Adamski

George Adamski, who later became probably the most prominent contactee of the UFO era, was one contactee with an earlier interest in the occult. Adamski founded the Royal Order of Tibet in the 1930s.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Contactee#cite_note-6

"Christopher Partridge"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Christopher_Partridge

Christopher Partridge notes, importantly, that the pre-1947 contactees

"do not involve UFOs."

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Contactee#cite_note-7

Rather, he suggests that an existing tradition of extraterrestrial contact via

Seance

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Seance>

seances and psychic means promptly incorporated the flying-saucer mythos when it arrived.

The 1947 report of "Kenneth Arnold"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kenneth_Arnold

Kenneth Arnold sparked widespread interest in flying saucers, and before long, people were claiming to have been in contact with flying saucer inhabitants.

There was a nearly-continuous series of contactees, beginning with
