

Subject: News About The Urantia Book.

From: "John Winston" <johnfw@mlode.com>

Date: 21/06/2011, 02:57

Newsgroups: alt.conspiracy.area-51

Subject: News About The Urantia Book.
June 20, 2011.

'Rest of the World' Seeding Mission commences 2012

...an open letter to all Urantia Book readers from Mark Bloomfield.

Dear all,

Most of you know me as the volunteer fieldworker who hand seeded 10,000 plus Urantia Books across fifty nations. However, the Urantia Foundation is now withholding further free copies of The Urantia Book for world dissemination despite it being in its founding Declaration of Trust to bring The Urantia Book to all the people of the world; and also despite the Foundation printing tens of thousands of copies each year. This alarming predicament, likely to continue, now forces my hand in a new direction.

Commencing sometime in 2012, I intend to begin peacefully and respectfully introducing The Urantia Book and its teachings to all those nations, races and religions that Urantia organisations are not reaching out to, despite it being their mandate to do so. I'm willing to devote the rest of my working life as an independent and untitled fieldworker to becoming the living fraternal link between all those currently ignored human groups and the Urantia organisations whose duty it is to reach out to all people.

As an alternative to physically seeding actual books however, I'll instead be corresponding with these forgotten masses by email and/or by postal service.

The current political upheavals across much of the Middle East and North Africa are becoming known as 'the Arab spring'. This phenomenon demonstrates that many in that part of the world are dissatisfied with their lot, are hungry for change, and the more moderate ones among them are generally receptive to the infusion of spirit.

Simultaneously, there presently seems to be a superabundance of self-proclaimed 'leaders', 'teachers' and 'progressives' within the Urantia community who would presumably welcome any opportunity to answer the enquiries and generally minister to the needs of such change-hungry people as and when they newly discover The Urantia Book. And if some of our presidents, executives and board members wilt at such a prospect, the answer is simple: Forsake your prestigious titles, vacate your seats of transitory power and influence, and go your way in peace.

-----oOo-----

=====

Twenty years from now, here's what we might all look forward to: 1) All nations, races and religions to be peacefully, respectfully and fraternally introduced to the teachings of The Urantia Book on an ongoing basis, and in as non-intrusive a manner as possible.

2) All titled persons within the Urantia organisations, all self-proclaimed leaders and teachers in the Urantia movement, to have learned to automatically expect to minister to any and all of their fellow human beings of all nations and races as that fair and just, right and proper moral duty of assuming leadership positions within the Urantia community.

3) The general readership to have begun adopting this same method as their own means of determining the true and genuine torchbearers among them from the more self-serving and power-hungry types, and for the next thousand years to come. By so doing, a revelation of epochal significance will have become 'vaccinated' against that which most acutely threatens its success.

-----oOo-----

It's a provable fact that the previous two epochal revelations spawned organisational movements that soon became irresistible to the power-hungry human priest caste. The inevitable result was that such humanly made organisations eventually became the greatest competitors of the revelations they grew around. This destructive process cannot be allowed to recur in this age of WMD ridden overpopulation and must be held in check for the good of all humanity.

Then, and for the first time in a million years of human history, a revelation of epochal potential might finally be judged on its own worthy merits instead of the demerits of whoever or whatever trades upon its name. And that would bring with it the promise of a safer, friendlier and happier world on which all future generations of children might rise to their fullest potential.

Our planetary destiny will suddenly look a lot, lot brighter.

In search of the Father's will,

Mark Philip Bloomfield.

For further reading, (unedited and unabridged by the Urantia 'establishment'), click on 'Irish Seeding Mission'('The Perfect Siege') on the homepage of = www.urantiacentral.org

John Winston. johnfw@mlode.com