Marshmallow Message

Excerpt from The Parables of Kryon

"The Two Groups of Warriors"

Now it came to be that there was indeed a coordinated attack by the dark forces. Both groups of light warriors felt they were ready, and they quickly turned to their powerful gifts to ward off the enemy. As the dark forces closed in, the first group opened their packages and stared at the contents with disbelief. Everything was in parts!. There was a manual with a note that said, "SOME ASSEMBLY REQUIRED."

They couldn't begin to get ready in time to meet the enemy, and so this group of warriors was quickly overrun and was defeated at the hands of those who would control them. They became bitter and believed that G-d had tricked them into a false hope and sense of security. Oddly enough, even after defeat, they still had their packages, but they thought the tools were useless.

The other group had opened their packages long ago. They had put their tools together early, and they had practiced with them. It was a good thing they did, for they found the sword to be almost too swift to handle properly. They found the shield to have so many options that they had a difficult time knowing exactly how to hold it, and they found the body armor heavy indeed! With practice and meditation, they eventually learned how to balance everything, and they were ready.

Dear Kryon

QUESTION: "I am concerned about all this talk about New W-rld Order, Fema camps, the new rising of Antisemitism, etc. I stay in the light as much as possible, but sometimes it is difficult with so much evidence of the presence of the dark forces. I was in Love and Light, but that did not stop the current disaster in Japan. I would like to know when and if we will be getting help from the Forces of Light, and if we really will be subjected to the plans of the New Wo-ld Order."

ANSWER: Change is always fearful. There is no New Wor-d Order taking place other than a full readjustment of human consciousness from an old energy of conquering and w-r, to a new energy of going within and deciding what you really want.

Humans look at what is happening from month to month instead of decade to decade. Europe is more united, keeping it from war-ing with itself as it has for thousands of years. There are fewer dictators than ever before, and many countries are awakening to the idea of "self governing" instead of being told what to do. The change before you is world-wide and not specific to one country. GAIA is on the move. All this we told you to expect, over 20 years ago.

This is fearful since it contains the seed of all potentials. The disaster in Japan was GAIA adjusting to the water cycle. It had nothing to do with punishment of Humanity or world control. No human or human organization caused that, any more than any human has caused the ice to melt. It's on target and on schedule.

(See Kryon's Japan message for more on this topic)

The "forces of light" as you call it, are humans just like you who have changed the world profoundly in the last two generations. Look past your fear and the "current events" to a larger picture. Ask your grandparents about their world, and what was happening, then look at yours.

You are in the "seed planting" season of peace on earth. Another generation may be required before the old energy stops fighting the light, but there is a vast, vast difference between your world today and your recent ancestors.

"Look for changes in the oldest parts of earth." Humanity is awakening, and change is afoot.

Given in Love,
