Last week, we asked the question, What if some people simply don't want to go through The Shift and leave their old lifestyle behind? What if they prefer to stay immersed in them against us dramas or even me against the world dramas?

Humanity was created so that we can find our way back home to the source from which we originally came. G-d didn't just create humanity and leave us to fend for ourselves. There is a cosmic plan for the enlightenment of humanity and, true to our gift of self-determination, no one is forced to progress any faster than they choose.

The Shift isn't just about the planet Earth. Our planet, our solar system, and our section of the universe are about to make a quantum jump in frequency. There will come a mass ascension day when the Earth will rise in vibration and take with her all who are ready to function in heart-centered consciousness.

That is the requirement ready for heart-centered consciousness and, surprising to some, you don't have to be r-ligious or s-iritual to make the grade! A caring person who supports others with little thought for themselves is a heart-centered person. A person who promotes ecology out of care for the Earth is also expressing unselfish, unconditional love when they don't expect anything particular in return for their efforts and concerns.

On the scale of human consciousness, caring for others is so much bigger than working for personal gain.

There is no Judgment Day where Go- will look at you and make a decision. You make the decision and the process is automatic. If you're ready when the big day comes, you will want to go with the inspiring, uplifting energies and nothing will hold you back.

Those, on the other hand, who prefer to stay in their present level of consciousness and decide against rising to the frequency of the ascended Earth will eventually need alternative accommodation. This section of the universe will no longer be available for the r-incarnation of their frequency band of consciousness, so another world had to be found for their future use. This is not new information. In the early 1970's, I became aware of information that came from the sp-ritual hierarchy about a new planet which, for that very purpose, was being prepared for human habitation.

The upcoming Shift of the ages was foreseen thousands of years ago by Je--s when he pointed out how it will be on that mass ascension day. When the time comes, he said, it will be as if two people are side-by-side and one shall be taken and the other left behind.

He actually saw people moving up into a higher realm of existence while those not ready would stay behind in their current realm of existence. The fishermen and farmers of his time weren't ready to hear about how this would be practically achieved but, today, we are more able to wrap our heads around such concepts as parallel worlds.

You will exist in an ascended version of your physical world while those left behind will continue to exist in their version of the world. To them, their world will continue to be the same, but with a whole lot of people missing. To you, your world will be like it was, yet vibrating at a higher physical frequency; and, likewise, there'll be a whole lot of people missing.

Consider this impending ascension to a lighter form as a major step in -od's cosmic plan for the enlightenment of humanity. Think of it as a harvest of s-uls, where everything you do to help others make it through - The Shift will be forever enshrined in the records of life as golden acts of service to others.

This is the opportunity that spi-itual so-ls have waited lifetimes to experience.

It doesn't matter whether people shift into heart-centered consciousness while physically in-arnate or, should they have passed on from this life, experience its parallel version in the afterlife. The point is to be ready and to help as many others as you can to make it through to the new h-aven on earth.

Next week, we'll see some glimpses into life on the ascended earth and on the new planet, as revealed by a research project where hundreds of people viewed their own future lives!

About the author:

Owen -aters is an international spiri-ual teacher who has presented his insights into the New Reality to hundreds of thousands of seekers. In 1963, while growing up in a m-stical part of Britain, he encountered his first spiritu-l awakening. The surprise of this my-tical experience was such that his life became focused upon a continuous search for spirit-al answers.

Almost forty years of study and research followed, along with the development of his inner vision. By the year 2002, like many of the spir-tual teachers who are coming forward for The Shift, his realizations began to unfold rapidly. Today, as Editor and cofounder of Infinite Being LLC, he helps people find inspiration, love and creativity through heart-powered consciousness.
