

Subject: The Zetas And Noah's Ark.

From: "John Winston" <johnfw@mlode.com>

Date: 13/07/2011, 22:34

Newsgroups: alt.conspiracy.area-51

Subject: The Zetas And Noah's Ark.
July 13, 2011.

Here is what the Zeta have to say about Noah's Ark. This is the Greys talking and I don't trust them very much.

.....
.....

ZetaTalk Newsletter This may be a post that's meant to be shared.
Ja-is

From: nancy@zetatalk.com [<mailto:nancy@zetatalk.com>]
Sent: Saturday, July 09, 2011

The ZetaTalk Newsletter
Issue 249, Sunday July 10, 2011
Weekly news and views from around the world and beyond.
New ZetaTalk Earth Changes Announcements Signs of the Times

Falcon Lands on Luzon

The Philippines was one of the first places on the Sunda Plate, the plate tongue holding Indonesia, to start sinking at the turn of the year, as was featured in this newsletter in Issue 220 on January 4, 2011. But despite this early start in sinking, northern Luzon island, the top part of the Philippines, has never had a flooding problem! If all the flooding were due to rain, you might ask, why is it so selective that one portion of the Philippines gets flooded from a rainstorm but another seems immune? This was brought clearly into focus with the recent passing of tropical storm Falcon. The lower part of Luzon island, affecting the city of Manila and to the center of the island, were drowning, over half a million people affected. Yet the northern part of the island was totally unaffected! Was there an invisible rain barrier?

Falcon Strike Pampanga in State of Calamity; 636 CL Villages Still Inundated
June 28, 2011

<http://www.mb.com.ph/articles/324597/pampanga-state-calamity-636-cl-villages-still-inundated>

At least 636 villages in Central Luzon are still under floodwaters as local g-vernments placed Tuesday the province of Pampanga and some parts of Bulacan under a state of calamity three days after tropical storm "Falcon" fled.

Floods Affect More than 500,000 in Central Luzon June 25, 2011

<http://www.abs-cbnnews.com/nation/regions/06/25/11/floods-affect-more-500000-central-luzon>

More than than half a million people in Central Luzon are affected by floods caused by tropical storm "Falcon." The storm has affected 112,515 families, or 550,686 people in Pampanga, Zambales, Bulacan, Nueva Ecija, Bataan, and Tarlac provinces.

Note that the island of Luzon is not entirely on the Sunda Plate!

The northern part of the island lies on the Philippine Plate. This stands as proof that the massive flooding the Philippines has been enduring during 2011 has clearly been in great part due to the sinking of the Sunda Plate! Else why has the northern half of Luzon been entirely spared!

Luzon Plates

Where the folding of the Mariana and Philippine plates started on February 20, 2011, as noted in Issue 229 of this newsletter, this folding process starts with the folding of the Mariana Trench, then the tilting of the Mariana Plate, and finally the tilting of the Philippine Plate. As the northern part of Luzon Island lies on the western edge of the Philippine Plate, eventually it too will experience sinking. But as the Falcon flew over Luzon, this time had not yet arrived.

ZetaTalk Description 11/27/2010: The folding of the Pacific plates that accompany the sinking of Indonesia during the 7 of 10 scenarios involves, as we have explained, the Mariana and Philippine plates tilting and flattening westward. The Mariana Trench is a zone where the Pacific Plate is subducting under the Mariana Plate. The Pacific Plate curves down at this point, plunging under the Mariana Islands which ride on the Mariana Plate. The trench will be suddenly closed, so that rather than a trench there will be the Pacific Plate scraping along the Mariana Plate, and giving the Mariana Islands a temporary boost up as the plate tilts during this process. The Mariana Plate, thus tilted, will slide its western edge down along the Philippine Plate, as the Mariana Plate subducts under the Philippine Plate and this process will now be accelerating. The Philippine Plate likewise tilts its eastern side up, dropping its western side down.

Cornwall Tsunami

The Zetas have described the 7 of 10 scenarios that will result from the north Atlantic Rift ripping open after the New Madrid adjustment. Termed the European tsunami, this will result in tidal waves 200 feet tall assailing the UK coastline, rising to 300 feet up the Bristol Channel due to tidal bore. This area, at Cornwall, thus takes the brunt of this tsunami, which is described by the Zetas to affect the Atlantic coastline north and south of this point to a much lesser extent.

ZetaTalk Prediction 10/16/2010: France can anticipate a tsunami of 100 feet, Spain perhaps 30-40 feet, the UK 200-300 feet, and Norway 50-75 feet.

On June 29, 2011 Cornwall had a tsunami. Though minor, there was no explanation for this, so the establishment scientists concluded a landslide must have occurred somewhere off coast. There was no evidence for such a landslide, but to refer to the ZetaTalk prediction are the spreading Atlantic is forbidden. What else is left, then, to the cover-up as an explanation?

Cornwall Tsunami

Huge Underwater Landslide Causes 'Hair-Raising' Tsunami
June 30, 2011

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/sciencetech/article-2009446/Huge-underwater-landslide>

A massive underwater landslide 200 miles off the coast of Cornwall caused a series of mini-tsunami waves and tides. Experts confirmed the extraordinary events were probably caused as a result of a landslide on the continental shelf 200 miles west of the Cornish coast. The mini-tsunami was recorded on tidal gauges from Cornwall to Hampshire which revealed the 2ft-high column of water moved from west to east. Dr Martin Davidson, of the University of Plymouth, said the wave was probably caused by a sand or mud slide at sea.

But does this not conform to what the Zetas have described for the European tsunami? Per the Zetas, this is exactly what it is - a mini version of what is to come. Cornwall takes the biggest hit.

ZetaTalk Explanation 7/2/2011: We have described the bulk of the 7 of 10 tsunami as striking the UK, where it will be an estimated 200 feet high. Cornwall of course is at that location. What occurred here is a mini European tsunami, a tiny precursor of what is to come, due to a slight tearing in the central Atlantic Rift.

Noah's Arc

A man in the Netherlands has constructed a Biblical sized arc, ala Noah's arc. Per the Zetas, the Netherlands absolutely will be flooded during the pole shift, and well before this during the 7 of 10 European tsunami. Like Noah, Johan is trying to warn people of a coming flood, doing his part and risking ridicule.

Johan's Arc

Meet the Man Who's re-Creating Noah's Ark
June 22, 2011

http://today.msnbc.msn.com/id/43492787/ns/today-today\_people/t/meet-man

Dutch builder Johan Huibers is expected to complete work on the massive vessel sometime next month in what has been a staggeringly ambitious project to bring one of the best-known stories of the Bible to life. It's taken three years of his life and $1.6 million out of his pocket, but Huibers, owner of a successful construction company in Holland, says the project is a dream come true - literally. Despite his wife's misgivings, he built an ark in 2004 that was roughly half the size of the specifications listed in the Bible. He guided the craft through the myriad canals of the Netherlands, and it proved such a hit among tourists, who were charged seven bucks apiece to climb aboard, that it financed Huibers' true dream - building an ark every bit as big as Noah's.

Per the Kolbrin, a true account kept by the ancient Egyptians, Noah was a nobleman, wealthy, and thus had the funds for his endeavor.

It has been told to me in a dream that the ship should be built against the mountains, and the sea will come up to me. The lowermost was for the beasts and cattle and their provender, and it was laid over with sand from the river. The middle one was for birds and fowls, for plants of every kind that are good for man and beast, and the uppermost one was for the people, cisterns for water and storehouses for food the ship was without mast or oars.

Per the Zetas, the story of Noah is basically true. Just as today, when many contactees are giving The Call due to their unease over the weather and seeing the Sun and Moon out of place, Noah likewise gave The Call.

ZetaTalk Explanation 8/19/1995: The Flood occurred three pole shifts back, approximately eleven millennia ago. Uneasy, and being a highly Service-to-Other man, [Noah] gave The Call and received visits from a Spirit Guide who responded. He did indeed construct a boat to save himself, his family, and household animals.

Much has been made by the Zetas about survivors working together as a Service-to-Other community where all help each other, sharing equally. Having a broad range of skills in the group is advantageous, and the Zetas stress that a skill set cannot be stolen from you. Per the Kolbrin, Noah was wise in this regard.

Part 1.

John Winston. johnfw@mlode.com