Subject: UFO Information From Arguntina. Part 2.
July 25, 2011.

This talks about a lady being burned by a UFO.

.....
.....

Did it create wind or something as it took off so quickly?

Not that I noticed, no. I'm telling you: it rose to a certain height, ran off, and when I saw it the horizon, it was already gone.

To what height did it rise slowly?

Up to treetop level.

What did it look like from underneath? Did it have a turbine or something to propel it?

I couldn't feel anything. Felt no noise and there was nothing to be seen underneath. I didn't see anything out of the ordinary. That's why you've got to be careful when making a report. That's why the make you take tests.

Was there any mark left on the ground?

No.

You were very close. Could you hear any noise or sound?

No.

And the cabin with the dashboard, did it feel very modern to you?

And I thought it was going to start talking to me.

The man walked normally?

Yes.

What was his hair color?

Very blond.

Were both blond?

No, I didn't see the other. You couldn't see the one inside. You could tell there was a guy inside; you know he's there because I saw him.

But you couldn't see his head?

No, no. But I saw this one because he walked with the hood pulled back. He had a m-litary field pouch on his legs and those thingies...the binoculars.

And regarding the dashboard...

I'm telling you, I owned an estanciera (rural vehicle similar to a Willys Jeep) and the dashboard wasn't very technified.

What was it like?

It was a dashboard with yellow, green and red buttons inside. No steering wheel was visible.

P-reyra is a native of Elordi (a town in the province of Buenos Aires which, according to him, no longer exists, but was near General Villegas). He told us an anecdote about another sighting of a similar object that took place in his town, and also of his encounter with "la luz mala" (The E-il Light).

"We reached a field by a gate. I was 16 years old. The light moved and jumped from one side to another. It fell upon us, lighting everything up. We were scared...these were lights...

What color was it?

White. If you're scared of them, it gets worse. There are mysteries worthy of respect.

Did you associate this thing you saw with that light?

No, nothing to do with it at all.

Continuing with his story, and making reference to the various types of humanoids discussed in the UFO symposium held in Rosario, to which Fabio Zerpa was a guest, he said:

...It isn't that, the fact is that there is someone who comes to look at us and our comings and goings, just like someone went to the Moon. But they're terrestrial... what do you think?

Did you have the impression that they were from here?

I'm convinced.

And what were they doing there?

Who knows? Looking at something, investigating something...

He also says that after this case, and without specifying a date, both his father and a neighbor saw some strange objects passing through the area.

Remarks

There isn't much else to add to the lengthy and detailed report on the experience that befell this humble man. During our long chat, he repeated time and again that "the ones I saw are from here". And they certainly appear to be so, judging by their physical appearance, although we understand that no one had such technology in the 1960s. If so, we would all be flying around in such devices, which seem to be a fine means of air transportation.

And if they are not from here, what could someone from beyond our world or culture be doing, wandering through a forest in the outskirts of Buenos Aires. Evidently, this is absurd, as is commonplace with hitherto unexplained phenomena.

The fact is that Pe-eyra saw them. Or at least he thought he saw them. Or better yet, something showed itself on that rainy morning, something that we don't understand and perhaps conceals itself behind that display of supposedly quasi-terrestrial technology: too advanced for the times, but too human to be true reflection of some distant visitors. What lies behind what was shown to Per-yra? Perhaps we'll find out someday.

1968: A Nurse Burned by an Alleged UFO (CE-2)

Source: Diario Los Andes
Date: 16 August 1968 (Mendoza, Argentina)

New details have emerged regarding the strange case involving Adela Casavieri de P-nassiti, 46, a nurse at the Provincial Neuropsychiatry Hospital, who claims having been paralyzed by a "flying saucer" that landed on one of the facility's yards in the early morning hours of last Monday.

According to official sources, the SIA (Servicio de Inteligencia de Aeronautica), the Forensic Police and a physicist from the National Atomic Energy Committee have played a role in the strange episode in order to analyze a unique stain found on the pavement "where the UFO landed". It was leaden in color, and smelled strongly of sulfur.

Mrs. Pan-sitti was interviewed by a writer for LOS ANDES at her home, and said the following: "The time was 1:30 a.m. on Monday and I was tending to patients. Suddenly, a loud buzzing sound made my ears hurt. Then I saw a powerful glow emanating from the yard. I opened a door, thinking that gas from the heater had made me feel sick, but it was then I noticed, with surprise, that the glow was becoming brighter and that the noise had ended. I ran out to the courtyard in shock, and I felt paralyzed the moment I stepped over the threshold: there was the light, in the middle of the pavement, beside a pimiento tree. The device emitted a red color with intermittent blue. I felt my face burning and covered my face with my hands to avoid burning my eyes (she suffered facial burns). A few moments later, the noise returned and I saw the object rising into the air until it lost itself in the sky, all the while flashing a bright light."

Mrs. Pana-sitti says that she was immediately able to overcome the state of paralysis she found herself in, calling the other nurses for help, as these were in a more remote pavilion." I didn't make it to the door, because my legs gave out and I felt to the ground." The woman explained that the UFO was of normal size (sic) and that "several passengers could fit inside it with ease."

At the spot where the nurse claims having seen the UFO, there was a small stain (certified by several doctors and employees, as well as scientists) that was leaden grey in color and left a strong smell of sulfur. The phenomenon vanished within days, but even today (as was observed), whenever the courtyard is hosed down, the spot where the odd spot is located dries immediately.

A thoroughly reliable source confided to this journalist that a physicist with the National Atomic Energy Commission and an electronics engineer reported to the hospital with a Geiger counter to see if there was radioactivity or not: indeed there was. The unusual event may only be explained through the investigation being performed by Aeronautics and the police. The report on the findings should be in the government's hands already.

It was also reported that the nurse underwent several tests and was found completely normal in all of them.

It was also confirmed that the daughters of a government official witnessed a light similar to the one described by Mrs. Panass-ti at the same time and in another part of the city.

UFOs: "A Real and Serious Threat"

UFOs Represent "A Real and Serious Threat"

By Luis Jaspert again we come across the subject of UFOs (Unidentified Flying Objects) and cannot find an explanation for the majority of the cases that suggest the existence - day after day - of something beyond.

We cannot grasp how some authorities endeavor to conceal the subject when increasingly greater numbers of people are interested in really knowing what is going on. However, there are always those who spend their lives deceiving those who are truly interested in the subject, which we consider to be an actual problem.

Fortunately, there are people who have indeed involved themselves in UFO research, such as Chilean captain Rodrigo Bravo, who is also a consultant for "UFO" magazine and who has said on more than one occasion that we are facing a real problem, even though the majority may not believe in subjects of this nature.

Cronicaviva.com.pe published Captain Rodrigo Bravo's thoughts in this regard: "We can no longer deny or ignore the UFO situation. They represent a real and serious threat. Today we are faced by a complex phenomenon whose characteristics cannot be explained within normal terrestrial circumstances."

All of this after reporting and advising about series of recordings in which various Chilean pilots have stated having contact with one or more UFOs.
